She leads us through this fearful And sorrow-stricken land, And speaks, resigned and cheerful, Of better days at hand; And when thou art despairing, She bids thee clear thy brow, Herself thy hurden sharing: Herself thy burden sharing; More hopefull far than thou

Thy grief's excessive smart,
And steeps in peace the madness
And tumult of the heart.
The darkest hour she maketh As bright as sun at noon, And heals each wound that acheth, Full surely, if not soon.

Thy falling tears she chides not, But pours in healing balm; Thy longing she derides not, But makes devout and calm; And when in stormy seasons Thou askest, murmuring, why? She giveth thee no reasons. But smiling, points on high.

To every doubt and question She cares not to reply; "Bear on," is her suggest "Thy resting-place is nigh."
Thus by thy side she walketh,
A true and constant friend;
Not overmuch she talketh, But thinks, "O happy end!"

The Zearl of Orr's Island:

A STORY OF THE COAST OF MAINE.

BY MRS. HARDIET BEECHER STOWE.

CHAPTER XVII.

But the thing, after all, that absorbed more of Moses's thoughts than all his lessons, was the building and rigging of a small schooner at which he worked assiduously in all his leisure moments. He had dozens of blocks of wood into which he had cut anchor-molds, and the melting of lead, the running and shaping of anchors, the whittling of masts and spars, took up many an hour. Mara entered into all these things readily.

and was too happy to make herself useful in hemming sails. When the schooner was finished, they built some ways down by the sea, and invited Sally

Kittridge over to see it launched. "There," said Moses, when the little thing skimmed down prosperously into the sea and floated gaily on the waters; "when I'm a man Il have a big ship. I'll build her, and launch her, and command her all myself, and I'll give you and Sally both a passage on it, and we'll go off to the East Indies. We'll sail round the world."

None of the three doubted the feasibility of this scheme-the little vessel they had just launched seemed the visible prophecy of such a future, and how pleasant it would be to sail off with the world all before them, and winds ready to blow them to any port they might The three children arranged some bread and cheese and dough-nuts on a rock on the shore to represent the collation that was usually spread in those parts at a ship-launch. and felt quite like grown people—acting life beforehand in that sort of shadowy pantomime which so delights the little people. Happy happy days, when ships can be made with a jack-knife, and anchors run in pine blocks. and three children together can launch them, and the voyage of the world can be all made in one sunny Saturday asternoon. Mother says you are going to College," said Sally to Moses.

"Not I, indeed," said Moses. "As soon as I get old enough, I'm going up to Umbagog among the lumberers, and I'm going to cut real splendid timber for my ship, and I'm going to get it on the stocks, and have it built "What will you call her?" said Sally.
"I haven't thought of that," said Moses.

"Call her the Ariel," said Mara. "What! after the spirit you were telling us about?" said Sally.

"Ariel is a pretty name," said Moses, "but what is that about a spirit?" "Why," said Sally, "Mara read us a story about a ship that was wrecked, and a spirit called Ariel that sung a song about the drowned mariners," Mara gave a shy, apprehensive glance at Moses to see if this allusion called up any painful recollections

No; instead of this he was following the motions of his little schooner on the water with the briskest and most unconcerned air in the world.

"Why didn't you ever show me that story, Mara?" said Moses. Mara colored and hesitated—the real reason she dared not say. "Why, she read it to father and me down by the cove," said Sally, "the afternoon that you came home from the Banks. I remember how we saw you coming in ;—don't you, Mara.

"What have you done with it?" said Moses.

" I've got it at home," said Mara, in a faint "I'll show it to you, if you want to see it. There are such beautiful things in it.' That evening, as Moses sat busy making some alterations in his darling schooner, Mara parts, and explained to him the story. He roduced her treasure, and read her favorite listened with interest, though without any of the extreme feeling which Mara had thought possible, and even interrupted her once in the niddle of the celebrated— "Full fathoms five thy father lies,"

by asking her to hold up the mast a minute while he drove in a wedge to make it rake a little more,

He was evidently thinking of no drowned father, and dreaming of no possible sea-caves, but acutely busy in fashioning a present reali-ty, and yet he liked to hear Mara read; and when she had done told her that he thought it was pretty—quite a pretty story—with such a total absence of any recognition that the story had any affinities with his own history, that Mara was quite astonished. She lay and thought about him hours that night after she had gone to bed, and he lay and thought about a new way of disposing a pulley for raising a sail, of which he determined to try the effect early in the morning. What was the absolute truth in regard to the boy? Had he forgotten the scenes of his early life-the strange catastrophe that cast him into his present circumstances? To these we answer, that all the efforts of Nature, during the early years of a healthy childhood, are bent on effacing and obliterating painful impressions, wiping out from each day the sorrows of the last, as the tide effaces the furrows on the sea-

DEAR MR. TILTON: With this number ends Part First of the "Pearl of Orr's Island." Part Second will be ready to appear in the autumn, and will extend through the year.

La order to give the story the finish and completeness I wish, it will be necessary for me to revisit chose scenes once more; and see them in their summer glory. Time has somewhat dimmed my recollection.

I hope to be able to write the second part amid the very scenes, under the shadow of the very pinetrees which first suggested the idea.

PATENT SAW MILL MACHINERY. WE are now prepared to manufacture and in-troduce Improved and very Valuable MA-CHINERY for GANG SAWS and EDGING TABLES recently Patented.

The improvements in Gang Saws consists in a new method of feeding the log, by which the spurrolls are superceded, and the consequent waste and damage done to lumber, amounting to from one to The log is also more firmly and securely held and fed forward with more certainty and uniformity, thereby improving the manufacture, increasing the quantity sawn, and reducing the risk of break-age of Machinery.

The improvements in Edging Tables consists in aving the entire travel of the men averaging about one nile to every thousand feet of lumber sawn. In addition to relieving the men from excessive labour, the more rapid movement of the table enables them to edge a much larger quantity of lumber and with much greater economy, literally doing away with the "haste that makes waste."

Brooms, Pails, Wash Boards, &c, &c.—

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS

Are you sick, feeble, and complaining? Are you out of order, with your system deranged, and your feelings uncomfortable? These symptoms are often the prelude to serious illness. Some fit of sickness is creeping upon you, and should be averted by a timely use of the right remedy. Take Ayer's Fills, and cleanse out the disordered humors-purity the blood, and let the fluids move on whobrify the blood, and let the fluids move on unobstructed in health again. They stimulate the functions of the body into vigorous activity, purify the system from the obstructions which make disease. A cold settles somewhere in the body, and obstructs its natural functions. These, if not religious control to the conventions of the conventions. lieved, react upon themselves and the surrounding organs, producing general aggravation, suffering, and disease. While in this condition, oppressed by the derangements, take Ayer's Pills, and see how directly they restore the natural action of the system. and with it the buoyant feeling of health again. and with it the buoyant feeling of health again, What is true and so apparent in this trivial and common complaint, is also true in many of the deep seated and dangerous distempers. The same purgative effect expels them. Caused by similar obstructions and derangements of the natural functions of the body, they are rapidly, and many of them surely, cured by the same means. None who know the virtues of these Pills, will neglect to employ them when suffering from the disorders they

Dear Bro, Ayer: I cannot answer you what complaints I have cured with your Pills better than to say all that we evertreat with a puryative medicine.

I place great dependence on an enectual cathartic in my daily contest with disease, and believing as I do that your Pills afford us the best we have, I of course value them highly.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 1, 1855.

Pittsburg, have repeated DR. J. C. AYER. Sir: I have been repeatedly cured of the worst headache any body can have, by a dose or two of your Pills. It seems to arise from a foul stomach, which they cleanse at once.

I find one or two large de ses of your Pills, taken at the proper time, are excellent promotives of the natural secretion when w noily or partially suppressed, and also very effortual to cleanse the stomuch and expel worms. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients.

From the Rev. Dr. Hawkes, of the Methodist Epis Church.

Pulaski House, Savannah, Ga., Jan. 6 1856.
Honored Str.: I should be ungrateful for the relief your skill has brought me if I did not report my case to you.
