English Turnip,
Yellow Aberdeen Turnip, &c, &c, &c,
Root culture enables the farmer to keep more stock, and keep it in better condition, than he could otherwise do, It gives the most food for animals with the least labour; it is, under good management, the most certain in its results; it gives the most manure, improves the soil by deep and thorough cultivation, and fits it for dry or white crops.
The average produce of the different kind of roots per acre in good husbandry, such as will produce 40 bushels of corn, is 6.00 bushels of cords.—With common cultivation that will produce 30 bushels of corn per acre, root crops will yield 400 bushels: making 12 bushels of roots to one of corn, and corn is the largest yield of any grain crop—The average cost of a root crop per nere is $40
According to the above estimate, the average cost of a hushel of roots would be 62-3 cents,
It is advisable to plant two or three kinds of roots every year, as some kinds may tail. The quantity of seed required per acre is, for Sugar Beet.
