

THE CANADIAN Poultry Chronicle.

Vol. II

TORONTO, OCTOBER, 1871.

No. 4.

CONTENTS.

	PAGE
Cross-Breeding in Poultry.....	49
The Goose.....	51
GAME BANTAMS—Breeding Black-Reds—Duck- wings—Piles—Brown-Reds—Color of Piles	52
CORRESPONDENCE—Hatching Results—New England Poultry Show—Poultry Judging..	54
Mr. David P. Gooding's "New Poultry Guide."	56
LITERARY NOTICES—New Census and Patent Laws—New Exchanges—Circulars received	56
Poultry Importations.....	57
POULTRY EXHIBITIONS—Toronto Electoral Divi- sion—Quebec Agricultural Exhibition— Picton Horticultural Society—New England State Fair—Vermont State Fair—Northern Ohio Fair.....	58
FORTHCOMING EXHIBITIONS—Northern Ohio Poultry Association—Massachusetts Poul- try Association—Western New York Poultry Association.....	59
PRACTICAL HINTS—Domestic Poultry—The Duck —The Goose—Packing Hatching Eggs— French mode of preserving eggs—How to trap Crows.....	60
DOGS—Pointer and Setter—Ranging.....	61
OUR LETTER BOX—Pouter Pigeons—Feeding— Lice.....	62
Advertisements.....	63

LETTER POSTAGE.

It takes six cents to pre-pay a letter mailed in the United States to Canada, and vice versa.

CLUBS! CLUBS!! CLUBS!!!

We now offer to persons willing to procure Clubs for this journal the following advantageous terms.

For a Club of 30 new subscribers, a pair of either White, Buff, or Partridge Cochins.

For a Club of 25, a pair of Dark Braumas or Houdans.

For a Club of 20, a pair of Silver Pencilled Hamburgs.

The fowls we offer are all imported English birds, and excellent specimens of their respective varieties, having been procured from the yards of well-known English breeders.

Address THOMAS McLEAN, Editor,
Box 25, P. O., Toronto, Canada.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

We would direct the special attention of poultry advertisers and others to the fact that this journal has now a circulation in the

DOMINION OF CANADA

In the provinces of Ontario, Quebec, and Nova Scotia; and in the

UNITED STATES

In the following States, Cities, and Territories:—New York State and New York City, New Jersey, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Illinois and Chicago City, Connecticut, Ohio, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania and Philadelphia City, Maine, Michigan, Kentucky, Iowa, Vermont, Minnesota, Kansas, Missouri, Louisiana, Georgia, Virginia, Maryland and Baltimore City, Tennessee, Indiana, Delaware, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and City of Charleston, California and San Francisco, Oregon, Texas, Washington, D. C., Arkansas, Nebraska, Utah and Salt Lake City, Colorado, Wyoming, and Montana;—in all, Forty States and Territories!

The benefit to be derived by advertising in the columns of this journal is therefore obvious to all: it reaches the hands of all poultry fanciers.

All communications addressed

THOMAS McLEAN, Editor,

Box 25, P. O., Toronto, Canada.

CROSS-BREEDING IN POULTRY.

PURE-BRED POULTRY is always preferable to cross-breeds; the former has many advantages over the latter; yet cross-breeds have their merits too. The farmer who raises poultry for the market or the table only, views his stock from a different stand-point to that of the fancier. The production of large fowls, easily fattened and made ready for