REFORMATION IN TRADE.

Reform, reform is the cry of the day.
While old fashloned hable are passing away
While caloric has unumpirel, so jesting twood se
O'er the old fashloned method of puthing by steam

Let us glarco at Toronto, which a less years ago, Was dark Muddy York, as you very well know; And see it to-day, midst our cities the best. And deservedly atylod, the Queen of the West.

Just look, if you please, at its elegant homes,— is beautifur churches, their spires and their domes While its fine public buildings, erected with taste, Adorn the site of some old marshy waste.

Its murales have fied by the aid of our drain, its forests are open'd by the speed of our trains; The past we have seen, the present we see, Well, well, we may ask, what the future will be.

Even now, where the waves of Ontario roat, And dash their white spray on the long beaten shore, That spot so long secred does science invade, And the billows give piace to a grand Esplanade

Bus reforms as important as these have been made, Which greatly have altered the aspect of trade, Old styles and old habits, old prices have past, And customs much better are practised at last.

The Boxxers for instance, which a few years ago Would cost you a dollar and a-quarter, or so; A much finer style you now may procure, For less than one fourth of that sum, I am sure.

Nor did you then think that the terms were hard, if you bought a good print for a shifling per yard, But new you may purchase for harf of that price, A cluth quite as good, and a style just as nice.

Will you call at McDONALD'8 ! if h is but to try, From his well-sorted Stock how cheap you can buy And we conturn to say, when you took through his Store, You will wonder you never have found it before.

This a three story house, with the front printed white. Which makes its appearance both graceful and light, With very sirge figures, which you glossly may see, Doscriming its number as One Hundred and Three
