Dundas Picnic

Dundas, July 2 - The 23rd annual pience of the House of Providence took place yesterday and was, as is always the case, a decided success. This annual gathering has always been an event of particular interest to the people of Dundas, Hamilton and adjacent country, who are interested in the good word done by the institu-tion in caring for the old and infum as well as for a large number of homeless little ones Added interest was given to the present annual gathering, owing to the premises having been destroyed by fire since the last pienie. But, disastrous as was the conflagration on October 4th last, it was not an unmixed evil, for to the hundreds of people who witnessed the destructive work of the flames, the sight of the many inmates, as they were safely carried from the burning building, gave an idea of the work of the institution that many of them had never before realized. And furthermore, in place of the former structure, built patch upon patch, at dif-ferent times, and for different purposes, and in many respects not well auited for the purpose for which ic was being used, there is now nearing completion a much larger, more modern, safer, more convenient and entirely up-to-date building.

The day's programme consisted of a number of games, conducted by a committee, composed of J. P. Trant, E. J. Mahony, P. J. Fleming and S. R. Wardell. The games were all spiritedly contested.

Besides the games the Dundas High School Cadets, under charge of Drill Instructor Hill, gave an exhibition which elicited high praise from all who witnessed it. The first number on the platform programme consisted of an acrobatic performance and the singing of an Irish song, by two members of the Leo Literary Society of Hamilton, both of hom acquitted themselves exceedingly well. Then 26 little girls of St. Mary's orphanage, Hamilton, under charge of Sister Aurelia, gave first, an exhibition flag drill, ending with the singing of patriotic flag song, then a fan drill, ending with singing a chorus, referring to the making and using of fans by the Japanese. The performances of these little girls attracted much attention, and were much admired. Their happy faces, neat appearance and precise movements reflect great credit on their benefactors and teach-

An address by E. D. Smith, M. P., followed, in which the speaker expressed his great pleasure at being present, and referred to the good work being done by the Dundas House of Providence, and congratulating the promoters and friends of the institution on the splendid new premises now being erected in place of the one destroyed by fire. D. W. Nelson acted as chairman.

At the conclusion of the programme the drawings for the many articles donated for the purpose took place. It was an interesting part of the day's proceedings and resulted as fol.

The dining hall consisted of a spacious tent loaned for the occasion by the Massey-Harris Co., and did a good business during the afternoon. Donations for the dining hall were this year more liberal than ever before, for which the collectors, Mrs. A. S. Cain, Miss M. J. Smith, Mrs. Geo. Turnbull and Mrs. McLellan desire to heartily thank a generous

The ladies in charge of the dining hall were, Mrs. Dunkin, Mrs. Tillman, Mrs James Reynolds, Miss Annie Howrigan, Miss Annie McLennon, Mrs. James Trant, Mrs. Mc-Lennan, Miss Tessic Rev Mrs. Emerick Martin.

The booths for the sale of refreshments were presided over by ladies as follows:

St, Mary's, Owen Sound

The Owen Sound Advertiser describes the fine new bell which is being installed in the spire of St. Mary's Church, which will be a notable feature of the town from the day of its setting up It will ring at morning, noon and night, and from its great elevation and large size will peal forth with great distinctness. It is quite possible that it may be Leaid this evening, as Messrs. James Kenary and Thomas Armour, who have the contract of placing it in position, expect to have it boisted into place to-day. It will be about sixty feet up in the tower and just opposite the latticed windows.

The bell is the gift of the late John Murray, was cast at the McShane Bell Foundry, of Baltimore, and weighs without its mountings 2600 pounds, and with the mountings 3760 pounds It measures four feet seven inches in diameter across the mouth, stand five feet high and cost $750. It was dedicated by the Right Rev. T. J. Dowling, Bishop of Hamilton, at the dedicatory services on Sunday, June 9th, on which occasion the new chancel and alter were also dedicated. The sponsors for the bell, whose names were moulded into one side when it was cast, are the following: Robert Hatton, Mra. Robert Hatton, W. J. Hatton, M. J. Scully, T. Hussey, Mrs, W. Schwan, Rosetta Kirk-wood, Sarah Carten, H. LePan, C. E Barnhart, M.D., T. I. Thomson, D. M. Butchart, A. M Amderson, P. J. Malone, Jos McLindaen and Leon Julien. On the opposite side of the bell is inscribed its name, St. Mary of the Assumption," by whom dedicated, the date of the dedication; also the names of the pastoral priest, F. X. Grannotier, and his assistants, Rev. T. J. Heydon, P.I. Buckley and M. V. Kelly, the statements as to name and dedication being worded as though made by the bell itself.

The dedicatory services in connec ion with the new chancel and altar were conducted by Bishop Dowling, who spoke in his usual eloquent man ner at the service. He afterwards wards confirmed a class of eightythree members, many of whom were adults. In the evening His Lordship assisted at vespers, after which Rev. T. J. Heydon addressed the congregation with reference to the new bell, explaining the part it took in the worship of God. The speaker also referred to the manner in which inanimate objects and all created things are called upon in the Psalms to utter the praises of the Lord This the bell would do, proclaiming by its joyful notes when gladness is abroad, and by its solemn tolling when there is cause for sorrow, but above all indicating that the work of redemption is going on from day to day Reference was also made to the good work of the donor in thus leaving a cagacy for such a purpose. After blessing the belt the Bishop congratulated the congregation on the new chancel and altar. The latter is a very handsome piece of workmanship built by Mr. Rosenblatt of St. Clements, Ont., and cost $500. The chancel was built by Mr. Pf S. McLellan. This addition to the editice has made an addition of 18 new pews to the seating accommodation. Bishop Dowling lett on Thursday last after a visit of a week, during which he held confirmation services at the neighboring churches of his diocese. The other clergy who were present at the dedicatory services were: Very Rev. Noel Durand, General Supervisor of the Basilians, France; his brother, Rev. Eugene Durand, who is acting as the General Supervisor's secretary on his visitation of the Basilion churches in Canada, Very Rev. V. Marijon, Provincial Supervisor of the dasilians, and the resident priests.

"IT IS A GREAT PUBLIC BENE-FIT"—These significant words were used in relation to Dr. Thomas' Ec-lectric Oil, by a gentleman who had thoroughly tested its merits in his own case—having been cured by it of lameness of the knee, of three or four years' standing. It never fails to re-move soreness as well as lameness, and is an meomparable pulmonic and corrective.

C.M.B.A. PICNIC AT AYTON.

(Dedicated to my cousin, Kate A. Maxwell, great-granddaughter of Theobald Wolfe Tone, in affectionate

Land of Erm! Land of Erm!
On this lonely toreign strand
Stands a broken-hearted exile
Longing for a far-off land—
Tell me, Southern Cross, now burning
Golden in a cloudless sky,
Shall Lautisty my yearning

Shall I satisfy my yearning Once again before I die? Shall I see the summer glory Tinge her fields at dying day?

Land of Erin! Land of Erin! Some six thousand miles away!

Land of Erin! Land of Erin! Land of Erin! Land of Erin!

Just for one brief hour to stand
Where the Golden Spears are lifting
One by one their summus grand.
Where sweet Latagh's emerald blaze
Stretches in its violet sheen
To Glendalough of accient days
Whence Saints reclaimed the world from sin.
Let me hear the sweet Ovoca
Murmur softly, bubbling by,

Land of Erint Land of Erin! Once again before I die!

Land of Erin! Land of Erin! Haven of my heart's desire, When shall freedom crest your hill-

when shall freedom clear your tops
With her wave of living fire?
When shall fields and heathery slopes
Take up and pass the glorious song
That bursts from graves of buried

nopes—
When Right re-conquers Wrong?
So these eyes your sorrow weeping
Ever turn in fancy home,

Land of Erin! Land of Erin! Far beyond the darkening foam!

Land of Erin! Land of Erin!
Ever towards the future yearning;
Listening for the measured footsteps
Of your exiled sons returning.
And as in your ancient story,
After centuries of tears,
Breaks the immortal spark in glory,
Smouldering down the hopeless
years—

years—
Laying down your Crown of Sorrow,
For the Crown of your desire.
Land of Erin! Land of Erin! Burns, with Freedom's quenchless

SUNSHINE AFTER RAIN.

I heard a voice in the moorlands brown, when the days grew fair and long. Methought no voice in the crowded town could sing so sweet a Twas the voice of a herd-boy, all alone, alone on the showery

Who sang with a silver trumpet tone, "The sunshine follows the rain."

Dominicans in Paris Some of the Anti-Clericals are gre-

viously offended because the Dominicans in Paris are about to establish themselves as large owners of property. For years past the Friars have had their largest Paris residence in the Rue du Bac, but there they were only tenants at will. Now they have purchased the magnificent mansion in the Rue de la Chaise, formerly occu-pied by the Duchess d'Uzes, who was succeeded in the house by nuns. The monsion is in the Faubourg St Denis, and in it the Duchess known as the "champion matchmaker," once had her salon, which was an exceedingly respectable institution, and not at all dull, as some of the upper class drawingrooms are supposed to be, at least by young people of giddy ten-dincies. It is said that the Domini-cans have paid £80,000, or two million francs, for the house and grounds. Owing to the Association Bill and to the rabid outery against religious Orders and Congregations, the Friars wisely formed themse'ves into a pure ly secular company in order to be able to lay legal claim now and hereafter to the new property. The fact, however, that they have been able to acquire additional property in spite of the anti-clerical campaign now being carried on in France is a mystery to many besides their enemies. The mystery may be explained partially by the friendly attitude of some highlyplaced Republicans towards the followers of St. Dominic. The widow and the unmarried daughter of the late President Faure took a deep interest in the Orders, and notably in the Dominicaus, whom they had known at Havre, where M. Faure had that business house which brought him in sufficient money to enable him to enter the political arena. It is quite possible that in view of the agitation against the religious bodies the Faures used their influence in a strenuous manner to avert danger from the Order of St. Dominic, to which so many illustrious Frenchmen have belonged.

It may be only a trilling cold, but neglect it and it will fasten its fangs C.M.B.A. PICNIC AT AYTON.

The C. M. B. A. picnic at Ayton on Thursday of last week was an alround success. There was a very large crowd present and everyore seemed hent on having a good time.

There were quite a few present from outside places. Prominent among the outsiders we noticed Rev Dean O'Connell, of Mt Forest, Rev Father Cornen, of Tecswater, Mr. George Binnie, of Bunessan, and the Rural Plain scribe to The Review.
