

The Temperance Cause.

If all men could be dissuaded from the use of intoxicating liquors, the office of judge would be a sine-cure.

DR. RICHARDSON says that the grand effort for us all to make is to stand firm, in precept and example, by what is right, and to proclaim the right without dismay or fear. Once, while the thunder of a great conqueror was playing on a doomed city, there stood in that city, in calm repose, a poor scholar speaking to a few earnest students words which, far mightier than the cannon of the conqueror, penetrated his nation, lifted it up, and helped to make it what it now is, the conqueror of the conqueror. Let every son of Temperance plant these words in his mind and heart, and he too, shall conquer the conqueror.

"To this am I called! to bear witness to the truth. My life, my fortunes, are of little moment. I am a priest of truth. I am in her pay. I have bound myself to do all things, to suffer all things for her. If I should be persecuted for her sake; if I should ever meet death in her service; what great thing shall I have done? What but that which I clearly ought to do?"

Goliath and Samson were pigmies besides old King Alcohol. We read of the mighty armies led by such renowned conquerors as Sesostrius, Cyrus, Cambysses, Tamerlane, and Napoleon; but where is there an army that, in such a land as ours, is able to lose annually in the great Republic by death sixty thousand men and have their places more than supplied with volunteers? King Alcohol adds each year thirty thousand names to the roll of American widows, and eighty thousand to the roll of American orphans. He keeps the jail full of prisoners, your newspaper columns supplied with awful paragraphs, your poorhouse of paupers, and the whole country sprinkled with inebriates. He has everywhere trebled public taxation, piled debt, and murdered legions of promising men. At his bidding cities and States share his blood-money in the silent partnership by the license system. When he lifts his hand in anger, aspirants for political office shiver, men in official places tremble, editors become silent on the subject as the lamps that burn in Persian tombs, and public representative men speak in whispers. Virtue, patriotism, social order, morality, and religion never have faced such a Herculean foe as that with which the Churches are in earnest combat.
