

The process of mutual recognition can no longer be delayed.

We must pray that the peoples of the land of miracles dare to dream of reconciliation; that their children will be freed from the nightmares of violence and destruction, and parents from the incubus of hatred and revenge. Let this troubled hour yield to a new dawn and may the 40th year of Israel be remembered as the year of peace.