

If in reading this brief description of this ideal Canadian Town, this fact is kept in mind, it will assist the reader in forming a more correct idea of the picturesqueness and natural beauty of this locality, and the benefits that accompany and result from foresight and ingenuity in planning in a systematic and practical way, so as to make the most of the natural advantages that are such an important feature at this magnificent Lake port, which is located at the mouth of the historic Maitland River.

Goderich is a place of real beauty. A commercial section forms the centre, in the middle of which stands the County Court House, forming a real "hub." This is surrounded by a beautiful park of shade trees with a broad roadway on the outside; and from this centre streets radiate in every direction leading to the residential sections, which are dotted here and there with churches, schools, and parks. The streets are adorned on either side with beautiful trees that present a most pleasing appearance.

The manufacturing and shipping sections are situated so as to be convenient, and yet in no way disturbing the business centre, or interfering with
