Drawing Your Attention Particularly to Sets of Mahogany and Walnut, in William and Mary, Queen Anne and Adam Effects

In these days of limited production such an extensive and varied assemblage of new furniture is something to be vastly appreciated by anyone intent on the furnishing of dwelling place, club or hotel. Our buyers have put their numerous resources to the extreme test--with the result that a splen-

Triangle Club and the Royal Alexandra against being assessed for $676,625 on land and $936,000 on

The furniture our artist shows in the dining-room sketched above-developed in mahogany with the straight lines, classic medallions and "tooth" grooving characterstic of the famous brothers Adam. Notice the shield back chairs-they have blue leather seats-and the long, low lines of the sideboard. Consisting of beautiful oblong table-with two reserve leaves-sideboard, serving table, china cabinet, and set of five chairs and one arm chair, the set is priced at $633.00. It may also be had at the same price in walnut. A delightful set of walnut furniture is a faithful copy of the cabinet-making of Queen Anne's day, boasting the graceful cabriole leg, with ball foot, serpentine of Queen Anne and William and Mary periods play a prominent part. Following are a few examples;

front, with "antique" handles on the drawers and cupboards, the latter being inset with panels of burl walnut. The china cabinet is delightfully quaint with its walnut doors, and the dinner wagon rejoices in a capacious cupboard beneath its wide serving top. The seats of the six chairs are covered in green leather, and the table is oblong, with two extra leaves. Price for 10 pieces $612.00.

A good example of the design associated with William and Mary is found in a walnut set with long, low sideboard, the cup-shaped leg and curved under-base, typical of the period. The table is round--with usual extra leaves -- the serving table boasts the same useful cupboard described above, the china cabinet has wooden doors and the six chairs are covered with tapestry. Price for 10*pieces $406.00.

And to be seen in the dining-room of the Furnished Home-another walnut set in the massive, handsomely carved style of the Italian Renaissance, so eminently suited to some spacious, ceremoniously decorated rooms. The chairs are upholstered on both seats and backs, and covered with tapestry, and in addition to china cabinet, table, dinner wagon and sideboard, is a chest for linen or silver. Price for 11 pieces $1,400.00.

OVERSEAS CHRISTMAS PARCELS. Christmas parcels for the Canadian Expeditionary Force in France and elsewhere should be mailed in time to be despatched from Canadian ports not later than the middle of Novem-ber, and as much earlier as possible. Transportation is congested during Tuesday afternoon for that purpose. A letter was received from the Ca-nadian National Exhibition com-mending the men for their excellent work at the fair. "As the police are getting so much thouse heaped on them it is refreshing to get a letter like that." remarked the colonel. Puliceman Sharp was granted a merit mark for saving the life of a woman who was overcome with gas fumes.
