Manchester, Eng., Dec. 25.—"When we speak of elim.nating secrecy we do not, of course, mean that reporters should attend the peace conference, but that, the the discussions are private, the results should be published, and that not at the close of the negoliations, but thruout them."

his view was expressed inday by C. P. Scott, editor of The Manchester Guardian, in a talk with the Associated Press on the question of secrecy

"Naturally, there are drawbacks," The Guardian's editor. "Delicate malters, involving special national interests and national pride, may in some ways be more difficult of adjustment when made the subject of public controversy, but on the other hand, the only means of Lr.ng.ng e_fec-tive pressure to bear in the gene.al interest against particular interests is by publicity.
