"Will Not Turn Bolshevik to Secure Favorable Terms"

Will Remain Decent Among Nations of the World—Has Learned Lesson From Her Neighbors, Esthonia, Latvia and Lithuania.

(Polish Publicity Bureau.)

"To secure more favorable terms Poland will not turn Bolshevik." Such was the resolution passed unanimously by the Polish diet, when all the factions, including the ultra radicals, had voted their confidence in the present government, thus excluding any idea of sovietizing Poland. This, then, is the reply of Poland to the overtures made to her by Bolshevik Russia. Insidious influences have been working ceaselessly in this newly formed republic to alienate her from her intention to take her place with the progressive nations of the west. All sorts of promises, all kinds of offers, all varieties of guile have been employed by the Bolshevik agents to induce Poland to throw in her lot with her powerful neighbor.

In the face of all the compelling influences which have been brought to bear on her, she has remained steadfast in her determination not to save herself by prostituting her national soul. Without arms and ammunition for a large part of her soldiers, Poland is fighting, that she may remain decent among the nations of the world. With the passing of Poland comes the complete destruction of the French policy of a group of barrier states between the Bolshevists and western Europe, the famous "cordon sanitaire" of Clemenceau. Already Esthonia, Latvia and Lithuania have passed into the Bolshevist orbit. The Ukraine has been almost completely reconquered and despite Bolshevist promises of autonomy, the result must be the substitution of Bolshevism for western influences in all of these border states and the application of soviet principles to further vast regions and more millions of men and women. At the present moment the Bolshevist government seems to be determined to crush Poland regardless of threats of allied intervention. That they will carry out their purpose unless they are themselves threatened with an internal revolution, or their economic relations with the west becomes so acute that it will at last compel them to obey the order of the Allies and make peace with Poland. Even if they do cease military operations they will not cease to employ propaganda and seek to overthrow Poland by those insidious means at which they are so adept, other than open warfare.

It is well for the people not only of Western Europe, but also of America, to consider what will be the eventual effect upon Poland of her catastrophic defeats and the destruction of all the hopes and inspirations of her patriots. It is well to consider, that the destruction of Poland means that Bolshevism is a country nearer North American soil. An eminent Pole has said: "The better one knows the Bolshevists the more one feels like fighting them." The Poles can look over the back fence and see plainly what Bolshevism has brought Russia—the promised Utopia has not materialized. This great country which was to be ruled by the qualities of the heart, is being driven by the sword. Misery in its worst form is the daily portion of its vast millions and liberty which was to come to each and all exists only for those who hold this mighty throne as in a spell.
