LOCAL NEWS

LEFT LAST NIGHT

Rabbi Saltzman, who has been in St. John for some time, left last evening for Kansas City, to take his new pastorate. Many friends will wish him well in his new field of endeavor.

HEAVY STORM

The snow fall through the upper province last night and yesterday was much heavier than about St. John. In some places a foot fell. Freight trains on the I. C. R. were interfered with considerably, but the express trains were brought through with little delay.

DEATH OF MRS. DAVID TUFTS

The death of Mrs. David Tufts occurred early this morning at her residence, 14 Ludlow street, West End, at the age of sixty-four years. She had been ill for about six months, and endured her suffering with great fortitude and patience. All her children were able to visit her during her illness, and no mother had more tender care. Mrs. Tufts before marriage was Miss Margaret Louise Steen. She lived in St. John and was a member of the Holy Trinity Baptist church practically all her life. She is survived by four sons and four daughters—Morris, with the Pejepscot Paper Co.; Wilfred, European buyer for Jordan Marsh & Co., Boston; Ellisworth and Clifford, of St. John West; Mrs. M. W. Gillis, of Chicago; Mrs. C. Fleche, of Hartford, Conn.; and Edna and Florence, at home. The funeral will probably be held on Thursday.

TO THE PENITENTIARY FOR THREE YEAR TERM

Judge Borden Sentences Frederick Armstrong, Who Escaped From Jail

Dorchester, N. B., March 31.—At a special session of the county court today before Judge Borden, of Moncton, the case of the King vs. Fred Armstrong of Moncton, was taken up. Armstrong made a sensational escape from the county jail on October 20 with Fred Legere, who has already been captured and sentenced to the penitentiary. The chase after Armstrong and Legere was on for some months. He was finally captured by Chief of Police McLeod of Sussex on last Saturday. He pleaded "Guilty," and his honor sentenced him to three years in the Dorchester penitentiary.

RECALLS WALLACE ROSS IN THE DAYS WHEN ST. JOHN WAS FAMED IN AQUATICS

Many followers of old-time sport about St. John will be interested in an article printed in the Montreal Star of a few days ago concerning the late Wallace Ross who some thirty years ago was famous in aquatic and other sports. He was a brother of L. R. Ross, I. C. R. terminal agent, and still a resident here when this city was famed for its oarsmen. A picture of Mr. Ross is printed with the following notice from the issue of the "Star" of thirty years ago.

"London—The Daily News, speaking of the recent sculling match between Ross and Babear, says: 'The result is sadly disheartening to all who hoped that in Babear we had found a man who might possibly restore our lost supremacy in the art of sculling. Babear can make no sort of a fight with Ross, and Babear beats all other English scullers easily. What must our scullers be like?' From The Montreal Star, March 27, 1884. The late Wallace Ross was a clean professional Canadian, standing six feet two in height. His racing weight ranged from 170 to 185 pounds. He first came into notice in aquatics on St. John Harbor in 1872, when he defeated a local sculler named Hastings. The next year he won on the same waters the governor-general's silver medal and a money prize of $5, defeating Alex. Bready, considered an extra good man. He afterwards defeated Plasted on the Kennebec course, and in 1887 beat Warren Smith. The races between Ross and Hanlan were in many ways a disappointment. The backers of Ross for many reasons felt that he should have won.

FAIRVILLE JOYOUS OVER RESUMING OF WORK IN THE MILLS

Better Spring Note Than Even That of the Robin—Last Night's Storm

The robin is generally regarded as the real harbinger of spring, and many people refer to the winter as a thing of the past when they hear the "cheer up" song and watch the red breasts fill by.

But the average wage earner in Fairville, Milford, Randolph, Pleasant Point and the West End generally listens for a different spring note, and when they catch its full intent, things brighten up for their horizon and they say in truth and gladness the winter surely is past. And these particular words they have just heard for from month to year and on again the information has been passed round that the mills will start in the latter part of this week and to many this is a more tuneful spring song than the robin's lay.

True, last summer things went bad, but the winter just over has been even worse from a financial standpoint, and so the men return to the mill season for 1914 with something akin to zeal. Most have a considerable distance to walk from their homes to their cars or even direct to the winter port sheds in West St. John, and relief from that alone is better hours and no night work awakens desire in the millman for his regular employment.

And the merchants too, are talking of the commencing day when J. E. Moore's, Randall & Baker's, Murray & Gregory's, Miller's, Stetson Cutler's mills become hives of industry and the fortnight Saturday pay day follows in natural sequence.

The lumber mills are still the great stand by as the news that the start comes this week is of good cheer to many.

Then there is the matter of fuel, a good many householders using wood stoves. Because of the scarcity of wood consequent on the short cut last year, there was not enough to go around and now the demand has reached abnormal proportions altogether. This will be overcome in due course and the wood delivery man is anxious to begin on his list.

Reports from all over the province indicate an unusually heavy cut of logs and if fresh conditions prove satisfactory the coming season should be a long one with plenty of raw material available and willing hands to aid manufacture.

LOCAL DOG FANCIERS BRING IN GOOD ONES

Bench Show Should Be Better Than Ever Because of These Importations

An increased interest is being shown by local dog fanciers in well bred dogs, if one is to judge by the number of thoroughbred importations that have been received in the city during the last few days. At least six high class dogs of different kinds have been purchased by local outside dealers and are now either in the city or on their way here.

A recent arrival from Delavan, Wisconsin, was received by Robert Magee, of Waterloo street, in the shape of a beautiful Irish terrier bitch, named Vicky Queen, nine months old, by Champion Vicky Demon, ex-Champion Thorncroft Colleen.

An Irish setter bitch, aged one year, was brought here during the month from Blackstone, Virginia. The sire of this dog is the English champion, Morty Oge, which was recently brought to the United States from England, and the dam is Richmond's Roxie, a dog noted for her work in the sporting field. The new setter is called Glencho Green and will likely make her name prominent in the next bench show.

Mrs. LeBaron S. Driscoll, whose Boston terrier, Mike, carried off the non-sporting dog honors at the last N. B. Kennel Club show, but died soon afterwards, has a new Boston terrier which is said to be superior to the former champion. Mrs. Driscoll brought the dog with her on her return from the Eastern states about a week ago. His name is Spider and he is sired by Dailian's Champion Spider ex Corbett's Ruby Queen and is an excellent specimen of the breed.

William McDonald, of the city market, expects a champion bred Irish terrier from England by the next trip of the Royal Edward.

One of the local Pomeranian fanciers has also received recently an excellent bred dog, which will be seen at the next kennel show. Another importation into the toy dog circle of St. John is expected this week in the form of a King Charles English toy spaniel, weighing three and a half pounds, named Glencho Night. It is coming from New York to a local fancier. The sire is Earl of Carrington, which won three prizes at the recent New York show and the dam is Dotty Dimple.

There is a possibility of other high bred dogs being brought here in the near future.

Robert Magee has also imported from Swanton, Ohio, a smooth fox terrier bitch, three years old, named "Midge." She is a splendid dog and comes from high lineage, being by Melode Spendthrift ex Nola Banjo.

H. Mont Jones has just received a first class Boston terrier bitch from Amherst. It is being greatly admired by local fanciers.
