A.17 It was some time around the Twenty-Seventh of February that Corporal De Bartok came to me in the Tech Stores and asked me to come to B Squadron Orderly Room as Captain Jessop wanted to see me.
- Q.18 You mentioned Corporal De Bartok.
A.18 Yes sir.
- Q.19 Is - what squadron does Corporal De Bartok belong to, or did belong to at the time?
A.19 B squadron.
- Q.20 What was Corporal De Bartok's employment with B squadron?
A.20 That I don't know, sir.
- Q.21 Will you please continue?
A.21 I went to B squadron orderly room and seen Captain Jessop and he asked me to go along with De Bartok to Gronigen. He told me that he wished us to take four tires to Gronigen and sell them for him. He said that our work tickets and passes would be made out for Gronigen. I was a little afraid at the time so I asked him about the border. He told me that everything at the border had been fixed up and I had nothing to worry about. So I went out from B squadron orderly room, looked up the four tires and went to my quarters - my room. I put on my clean clothes and Corporal De Bartok went and had the work ticket signed.
- Q.22 Now, may I interrupt you a moment. You say you went to the squadron orderly room and saw Captain Jessop?
A.22 Yes sir.
- Q.23 Did Corporal De Bartok hear Captain Jessop's request concerning the tires?
A.23 Yes sir.
- Q.24 All right, continue, please.
A.24 We went to Gronigen, crossed the Dutch border, presented our passes. When we got to Gronigen we went to this civilian's house whom it is now believed was Jan Hoffstie. We sat around there for approximately two hours.
- Q.25 I'm sorry to interrupt you again. Will you tell us who this Jan Hoffstie is?
