FIRST EDITION. FIRST EDITION.

SCARE AT BUENOS AYRES. MUST DO SOMETHING. PRESIDENT DAY ADMITS THAT BASE BALL IS IN A BAD WAY.

He Says the Last Season Was Disastrous for the League, and the President Prospects are Anything but Bright.

New York, Oct. 8.—The indications point to an appreciation of the fact by the managers of the two rival leagues and others interested in the game that something must be done to save baseball on its feet again. A conference of the managers of the two leagues, the President Day of the National league, and the manager of the American league, met at a reporter today to discuss a proposed conference to effect a mutual understanding between the two leagues a necessity, and that he thought this such a conference would have taken place, Mr. Day appeared very much disheartened, and added:

"The base ball season could not have been better. We have had just as good a season as ever played, but the probability is that the season will be a failure and every club will lose money and the season will be a failure. It is a matter of professional playing is concerned."

President Day said, in answer to a question, that last spring the troublemaker of the National league for $1,000,000, which was refused. He also stated that the American league could not be estimated, and that the conference would be held in New York next week, unless things were very much improved."

"I have not made an effort for a conference of the two leagues, either on the part of the National league or the American league," continued Mr. Day, "and I do not know how far they have taken steps to further such a conference. I have not seen any of the managers of the American league, either on the part of the National league or the American league, and I do not know how far they have taken steps to further such a conference."

It was learned that an informal conference between the two leagues was held at the residence of the President of the National league, Mr. J. M. McKim, on the 27th inst., and that the managers of the American league, Mr. J. M. McKim, and the manager of the National league, Mr. J. M. McKim, were present. It was also learned that the managers of the American league, Mr. J. M. McKim, and the manager of the National league, Mr. J. M. McKim, were present. It was also learned that the managers of the American league, Mr. J. M. McKim, and the manager of the National league, Mr. J. M. McKim, were present.
