Mr J. M. Pettes wishes the party who took the tub of butter to oblige by returning the empty tub so that he can refill it.

We think there is a little too much loss of property under the above circumstances in our neighborhood and we are thinking of inviting Mr. Boisvert to spend a few days with us to try and put a stop to it.

One of our village neighbors was heard to remark that he would look up a revolver he had, and load it to be in readiness for the light fingered callers when they came his way.

SUTTON NEWS

THE OBSERVER would like an additional energetic lady correspondent in Sutton. Write in for particulars.

Mr C. A. Tucker of the E. T. Bank Montreal, and Miss Lillian A. Tucker, Stanbridge East, were guests of Miss Louise E. Shepard, Sutton, over Sunday.

About sixty-five friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Tryhorn assembled at their home in the Olmstead neighborhood on the evening of October 6th, to help them celebrate the 17th anniversary of their wedding. It was totally a surprise to them, but they were not wanting in their hospitality. After refreshments were served a programme of readings, recitations and singing was enjoyed, then the chairman, Mr. John Harris of Sutton, in a well worded speech presented Mr. and Mrs. Tryhorn with a beautiful dinner set, water set, and four piece set, as a token of good-will and respect from their friends in this vicinity. Mr. Tryhorn very feelingly thanked those present for their kindness and he said he would ever be willing in the future as in the past to hold out the helping hand to those around him. His good wife also expressed her thanks for the remembrances of love and good cheer to one and all. The National Anthem was sung and all went home after wishing their host and hostess health, prosperity and many years yet to come of wedded bliss.

Portuguese Slavery

The report by Joseph Burt, British consul in Angola, has just been published in London, Eng., and shows that the conditions of labor in Portuguese West Africa prove that slavery exists there. The writer also tells in detail of the terrible treatment of the blacks, which is no different from that meted out in the past by previous generations of Portuguese slave owners.

Just as France was the first of the colonizing nations to abandon the slave trade, so Portugal was the last. Had it not been that Great Britain, France, and Germany continually made efforts to stop slavery in Africa altogether, the Portuguese decree of freedom would now be a dead letter. But it has been known nevertheless that slave traffic has been carried on underground. Since Portugal's decline in power its colonies have had to look to the slave trade for a livelihood in the last three centuries. It seems, according to Mr. Burt's report, that the colonies are content with the appearance of freedom without its actuality.

Wireless Telephony Successful

Perfect telephone communication without wires has been obtained for a distance of over 50 miles in Germany, across the whole city of Berlin, which lies between the two stations. This was accomplished by using the undamped or continuous waves generated by the aid of an "arc" instead of a spark, as employed in other systems. A feature of the German process, is a photographic recording ribbon on which the signals received are printed even when the current is not strong enough to make sound audible in the receiver.

Beira, a little town in Africa, is built almost entirely of galvanized sheet metal.

According to statistics 1,250,000 men are engaged in digging coal for the world.

The Montreal Witness says: Accepting all the charges the people preferred Sir Frederick Borden. They also deliberately chose Mr. Emmerson and Mr. Foster and Mr. Turfitt and Dr. Pugsley. The Liberals have not even got the scare they should have had. The election seems to say, like the angel in the Revelation: "He said that was unjust, let him be unjust still, and he that was filthy let him be filthy still." Is there any prospect of better things? Let us hope that though the party as such has not received the scare that would have been good for it, some individuals have not passed through the purgatory of public rebuke in vain.

Not exactly what price, but what kind of influence will the furniture exert should be the standard. Hingston, Cowansville.

Dunham is in very much need of a barber. Mr. Larocque's departure has left an itching void. Here is a chance for some enterprising hustler to sell safety razors.

We understand that Mr Harlow Teel is boring a well on his new property at Selby Lake and also intends building a summer boarding house in the spring. Mr Teel is a hustler, and will probably do well with the undertaking.

The Park House has changed hands, and as Mr. and Miss Duchesneau are leaving Dunham, several friends gathered at the Park House on Saturday evening to bid them farewell. A splendid oyster supper was served after which an appropriate address was read by Mr. McGuire, and a very nice gold filled watch presented to Host Duchesneau. It is needless to say that a very pleasant time was spent by all. As Miss Duchesneau was to be married on Monday morning, the ladies gathered on Saturday evening with their wedding presents and read an address regretting her departure and wishing her every happiness in her new home. All spent a very enjoyable evening.

Your correspondent had the pleasure of attending the wedding of Miss Duchesneau on Monday morning at 6.30 at the R. C. Church. A third lecture will be shortly given at the same place. The subject being "Certain English poets," and the lecturer, Rev. Allan P. Shattford, who gave great pleasure at his recent visit for a similar purpose.

All Saints' Church

A historical document of special interest to older Parishioners, was brought into notice and used in the pulpit of this church last Sunday morning in connection with the Centenary services. It was the original manuscript sermon preached at the opening of the present stone church on September 26th, 1840, by the Rector of Frelighsburg, Rev. James Reid. The subject was the psalmist's love for the House of God and the reason why he felt, and Christians should feel, a like affection.

Sunday next, All Saints' Day, will be marked with special devotions appropriate to the memorial of "All the saints who from their labor rest," and on Monday, November 2nd, the old custom will be kept up of parishioners and friends dining together in the church basement and talking together of times and friends of the past. All concerned are invited to bear this week in mind.

Our train left here Friday evening at 8.15 p.m. loaded with eager spectators going to Farnham to attend the joint meeting which was to be held there that evening. The Conservative party speakers were present, but their opponents failed to appear, other business calling them away. "Ahem," so it proved to be just an ordinary meeting.
