An Evening Out

with Roger Doris

This chap had been wishing everyone well—and was into the spirit of things, as a matter of fact so far into the spirit that his many friends convinced him that the only reasonable and safe thing to do was to leave his car at the hotel and take a taxi home. He wasn't really in favour of doing that, but they finally convinced him. A short while later his friends learned that the taxi, that they had so safely tucked him into, had run off of the road and that the police had charged the driver with impaired driving. The poor chap ended up being driven home in a police car, even though he had taken the taxi to avoid coming home in a cruiser.

Patrons of the Cockney Pride Pub that have been coming out in droves to visit with Ray Sonin, the amiable host of Calling All Britons Night every Tuesday, might be interested to note the change in schedule this week.
Since Tuesday is Christmas Day, Ray will be hosting the evening on Wednesday the 26th of December instead.
The Ken Stanley Trio, along with singer-dancer Doreen Hayes, will also be on hand that night as well as each other evening of the week.

The Lou Snider Trio has been held over for another few months in Bishop's Landing at the Cara Inn. Patrons of this popular lounge are most happy that they are, as the trio comprised of (left to right) Bob Reinhart, Joe Niosi and Lou Snider play excellent music for dancers or listeners.
