

you are sure enough to undertake to make Jones a reality in the life of the nation and ^{they} make our great Dominion great in the highest sense. I know you are interested in literature, may I take the liberty of sending you a copy of the kinsman containing selections from my own and other Canadian writers ^{was}? This little sketch from the kinsman was written for the Star and should be the occasion of his visit here and was copied from it. The one I have written off was in the Star on the day he was in Toronto. The other is just written for you. With kind wishes for your welfare and hoping soon to see you premier in spite of the H. F. C. I remain your sincere friend

 Dear Mr King:

As I was going down Main St the other day I met Mr James Killoran, the lawyer from Sudbuck, who is secretary of the Liberal association, I think, and he stopped me and said "Did you ever congratulate Mr King".
 I replied "No there was no one more delighted than I and I felt at the time that I would like to give expression in that way but I knew Mr King would be so much obliged
