

*See
Ont. Assoc.*

The Position of the Reform Association.

D 3763

A final word. In the three years I have had the honour of occupying the presidency of this Association, I have been privileged to see something of its workings from within, and to hear something of criticism concerning it from without. The reflection most often expressed, if reflection it be, is that the affairs of the Liberal party in Ontario are altogether too much in the hands of a few men. To be precise—too much in the hands of two or three individuals who are either in parliament or the legislature at the present time, or have been fortunate in enjoying positions of confidence or prominence in the past. May I—either rightly

W.L. Mackenzie King Papers
Volume D 7

PUBLIC ARCHIVES PUBLIQUES
CANADA