

IMPORTANT CROP FACTS

Farmers generally in almost every section are very "blue" over the unfavorable grain crop outlook at this time, but there is one crop that they need not feel doubtful about and which becomes of more than usual importance to them by reason of the uncertain outlook as to other crops, and this is the MILK CROP, which continues month in and month out and of which it has well been said "the harvest never ends."

There is nothing doubtful about the outlook for the MILK CROP. Dairy product prices have been high and promise to continue so. The uncertainty about other crops makes it all the more important to make the most of the one that is sure. There is only one way to make the most of it, to be certain of recovering all the butter-fat with the least effort and under the most favorable conditions, and that is with the help of

ROBSON THE CREAM OF THE

KOOTENAY

Messrs. McDermid & McHardy,
Nelson, B. C.

Robson, B. C., 22-4-07

Dear Sirs:—

I bought a lot from you 1st Jan. 1907, not seeing it until I moved on it 27th March. I wish to state the quality of soil, and the location of the property far surpasses my greatest expectations. I have lived on the prairie for twenty years, in southeastern Saskatchewan. I travelled over a considerable portion of B. C. before locating here. People on the prairie imagine living in the Pockies means obtaining a very short glimpse of the sun during the daytime. In fact, according to their ideas, the length of time it takes the sun to traverse the space from behind one mountain until it hides itself in obscurity behind the next, is all the sunshine we are entitled to. I was agreeably surprised myself to find we have just as bright sunny days here at Robson as we had on the Prairie.

People in the East, who are intending moving to some other part of the country, where they can enjoy a more favorable climate, and surroundings, would save themselves a great deal of expense and travel, if they would come to Robson. After they had thoroughly examined the property and the location, they would undoubtedly conclude, "They could not possibly wish a better place to live."

I find all prices for produce and the general description of the property exactly as stated in advertising matter, and not in the least exaggerated.

Yours sincerely,

(Signed) H. Hedley.

PROTECTION

Those who have the most to protect—wealthy men—are always the most persistent in protecting themselves against the least possibility of loss. They leave nothing to chance.

Yet many a man, whose family depends solely on his earnings, takes chances with the highest of all forms of protection—Life Insurance. He hesitates to make the only provision in his power against the uncertainties of life.

If YOU need Insurance, take the matter in hand at once. The Great-West Life Assurance Company issues Policies to meet all needs. Not only may protection for others be obtained, but sure provision for one's own future at the same time—and this at low cost, and on most liberal conditions.
