News From Soccer Satisfaction With

Referee Lost Head. A friendly match between the Duffs and S. O. E. on Saturday was a good game till the referee lost his head. I don't see why the league should have a man like that, as he was manager of the club last year. It was the time when they went to Paris. My word and I got disgusted with game and left the field. There are good Scotchmen and Irishmen around that know more about football than the referees they've got. Why not give them a chance. I'll bet half a million and ten times over, I love the league will look at this as there was two off side and the referee said it's alright and to the centre of the field. If it was the Englishmen, I would prosecute that sort of sport, as I myself am a sportsman. I go to the game. I saw Mr. VanLanre at the game and I think he will agree with me in my note.

GOOD SPORTSMEN.

Appetite is commonly gradual. The first indications that the system is going wrong, therefore, are nothing to be alarmed for as How's Sarsaparilla is good for all tones.

While longer before I sign up, I'm no real hurry. The story was given out to-day from a source that is very close to Brooklyn Federal League Club, from which Johnson was to have been signed in 1915 had he signed up. The club officials are said to have signed contract in their office.

In North Grey. OWEN SOUND, June 10.—After the nomination at the Liberal convention here yesterday had been refused by no less than five Liberal stalwarts, it was finally accepted, after much persuasion, by Rev. T. A. Roger, pastor of Knox Presbyterian Church, who first refused it and made a little speech in which he withdrew his name from the convention, but who a few minutes later reconsidered his resolution and announced that he would be a candidate, running on the Liberal-temperance policy. The convention was probably the smallest in point of numbers that has ever been held by the Liberals in the past 15 years, and when the nomination was made, there were more than 50 present. On the first call for nominees Mayor McQuaker, Dr. Hershey, Messrs. C. A. Fleming, E. Creper and J. C. McDonald were nominated, but all hastened to withdraw, none apparently being desirous of filling the part of the lamb at the slaughter.

Redistribution Is Agreed Upon. (By Special Wire to The Courier) OTTAWA, Ont., June 10.—The redistribution bill has been agreed upon by both sides of the House and will be passed before parliament adjourns on Friday. Russell County will remain on the political map, but in its stead Stormont will be wiped out and added to Dundas and Glangary; Richmond, N. S., the other difficult point in the negotiations, will be added to South Cape Breton. Under the bill east and west Kent will be united, but the Elgins will remain as they are now. Other Ontario seats wiped out are North Lanark, Brockville and West Northumberland. The Greys, Hurons and Middlesex will have two instead of three seats. Nipissing will have two seats and so will Thunder Bay and Rainy River. The city of Hull will be made a separate seat.

Police Made Arrest. Numerous complaints of the conduct of the occupants of 187 Darling street resulted in a police visit yesterday, and the scene presented to the constables justified an arrest, and the police sergeant returned heavier than it had left the station. P.C.'s Blanchard and Golden effected the capture, but one man who was in the house managed to escape. On Monday the case will be up before the bench, when Wm. Howe, Mrs. Howe, Mrs. Peacock and Josie McKenzie will be charged with being concerned in a disorderly house.

BRANDON'S NOMINEE. BRANDON, Man., June 10.—Hon. R. Caldwell, minister of education, has been unanimously re-nominated by Brandon Conservatives as their candidate for the legislature.

NO CANDIDATE FOR LIBERALS IN NORTH WATERLOO

Pres. Sims Unable to Agree With Mr. N. W. Rowell's Policy.

(By Special Wire to The Courier) WATERLOO, June 10.—The Liberals of North Waterloo, at the convention held here yesterday afternoon, failed to nominate a candidate to contest the riding against C. H. Sims, the Conservative nominee, who at the last election, was elected by a majority of 1,385 votes over the independent and Socialist candidates. The convention was of the opinion that with Dr. E. D. Heist also in the field there could be no hope of making a good showing against the popular Conservative candidate. It was deemed, therefore, more advisable not to nominate a Liberal candidate, but to give the Liberal support to the temperance nominee, Dr. E. D. Heist, who is a Liberal.

The convention was presided over by the president, H. J. Sims, who, in addressing the 100 delegates, said that although he would not go so far as Mr. Rowell in the matter of temperance legislation, he thought the Liberal leader was sincere. Josiah Stauffer, ex-treasurer of Waterloo Township, was elected president, and J. C. Haight, re-elected secretary-treasurer of the North Waterloo Reform Association.

Death List May Reach 125

(By Special Wire to The Courier) CHATHAM, N.B., June 10.—Conflicting reports made it impossible to-day to determine definitely how many fishing smacks and lives have been lost in the storm which swept the Gulf of St. Lawrence, Chaleurs Bay and the Straits of Northumberland Friday. One report received this forenoon placed the number of dead at 125. Advances from Caraquez said that 19 lives were known to have been lost, one vessel was missing, and nothing was known of the fate of the crews of two vessels reported ashore on Pokesudie Island.

Captain Samuel Breau of the schooner Warren P., which arrived here last night, said that when he left Shipigan on Sunday he heard that more than 100 persons had perished, but he believed this was a great exaggeration.

ROYALTY HAS HELPED CAUSE OF MILITANTS

That is Said to Have Been Result of Police Raid on Headquarters.

(By Special Wire to The Courier) LONDON, June 10.—Police raids on the suffragette headquarters yesterday resulted in the discovery that several of the Royal Family, including the Prince of Wales, have been regular contributors to the militant funds, while the Queen tried to contribute, but her offer was refused. These contributions do not mean that Royalty favors the militants. On the contrary, the militants are paying for immunity for the persons and property of the Royal Family from militant attacks. When the raids were made and the list of subscribers found, the government hastily announced that it would immediately begin prosecution on the charge of supporting a criminal organization but the minute examination disclosed among the subscribers several royalities, including Duchess of Teck, Christian and Royal, and still further investigation showed immunity payments made in the name of the Prince of Wales. He so frequently argued with his father and mother in favor of suffrage, that there was uncertainty as to what category his contribution came under. It was also learned that the Queen offered a subscription of $5,000 if the militants would agree to stop annoying their majesties, but this subscription was refused, the militants being unwilling to lose their most valuable advertising privilege. Among the others in the list are the Duchess of Portland and Westminster, and the Duchess of Marlborough, the Countess of Essex and Lady Cunard. A certain class of hostesses in London have been left conspicuously alone by the militants. Detective agencies which since the season began, have had female detectives at every society function to guard against militant outrages, told the police that they were never called by American hostesses. When the Royal names were found on the list, the government had to give up the idea of prosecuting subscribers, but it is now considering prosecution of the militants for blackmail. The Royal and noble subscribers, however, seem unwilling to be complainants and witnesses, and without their aid nothing can be done. Of course many subscribers are strong supporters of militancy, but they also are safe, as the government cannot prosecute them and refrain from prosecuting the others. So the militants seemed to have scored on the government once again.

SPLENDID SESSIONS AT THE OPENING OF BIG CONVENTION

Women's Missionary Society at Colborne Street Church—Reports of the Work Shows Good Progress During the Year—Convention Notes.

Colborne street Methodist church was a busy circle yesterday morning when over two hundred ladies gathered from all quarters to celebrate the twentieth annual meeting of the Hamilton Branch of the Women's Missionary Society. It was a splendid rally in a noble cause and the members have reason to be proud of the magnificent representation of the society present. For three days this convention continues and it is an already assured success. The morning session was not heavy, being composed of the executive meeting at 9.30 and the Organizers' conference at 10.30, both of which were formally conducted. The afternoon session was very well attended and a good deal of business got through. Devotional exercises were conducted by the vice-president of the branch and twenty-three officers responded to the roll call and 125 members. Mrs. Terryberry and Mrs. Whiting, Mrs. Payne and Mrs. Coulson were appointed on the Courtesy committee, while Mrs. Hockey was delegated to the position of press reporter. Mrs. Riddolls gave a splendid address of welcome which was replied to by Mrs. Hardy of Hamilton. The reception of memorials followed. The pioneer Missionary, Miss N. J. Cartmell, Miss Mary T. Smith of China and Miss Staples of Princeton, Mrs. Clappan Hill and Mrs. Birse were given seats or honor on the platform.

An interesting address by Miss J. T. Baker, the president of the Women's Missionary Society who expressed her great pleasure at being able to welcome such a large delegation to the twentieth annual meeting of the Hamilton conference branch of the Women's Missionary Society. She expressed her hope that everyone would feel at home with one another, saying that no formal introduction was necessary, that the badge each one wore was sufficient introduction. The president desired that each delegate might carry back to her auxiliary not a report of the routine proceedings merely, but the spiritual atmosphere of the gathering and that the responsibility of the womanhood and girlhood of the church to the work might be realized. Especially did she urge that the young life of the church be captured by the Christ ideal. Among them are to be found recruits for the field; among them must be found the future leaders of the home base. Mrs. Baker traced the Woman's missionary work back to the very beginning of the Christian church, even to the time when Mary poured the alabaster box of precious ointment on the Saviour's head and all down the centuries the roll of honor has been growing until it encircles the globe. HAM THROWS SNEER AT ABILITY OF THE LABOR MEN ON PUBLIC PLATFORM--ATTACKS BREWSTER

In Effort to Create Sympathy--Personal Onslaught On Conservative Candidate Who Has Made Good—Mr. Brewster Received K. C. From Liberal Government on Merit.

"Are you going to accept Mr. Brewster's challenge for a debate on the public platform?" Mr. Ham was asked by the Expositor. "It struck me," said Mr. Ham, laughing, "as a very brave act for a King's Counsel, with a college education and years of practice as a public speaker, to issue a challenge to a workman who has never had an opportunity to get anything more than a public school education, to a debate on the public platform, but my hands are clean and my record an open book, and I have nothing to fear from such a meeting. Most assuredly I will be glad to meet Mr. Brewster on the platform at a time and place to be mutually agreed on, and discuss with him the issues of the day. I am the son of a workman, and a workman myself, and have never had the opportunity of the educational advantages Mr. Brewster has had, and there is no doubt but that he is a more finished speaker than I am, but I believe that it is facts rather than flowery language that the people are interested in in the present campaign, and I am prepared to give facts to them. All that is necessary is to arrange a time and place for the debate which is suitable to both of us, and I will be there to tell the people just where I stand, and to answer any charges Mr. Brewster has to make."—Expositor.

Mr. Ham's insinuation that workmen as such do not make effective platform speakers is totally unwarranted, so also is his sneer at his opponent because he had ability enough in his profession to become a K.C.—an honor, by the bye, bestowed upon him by a Liberal Government when Hon. A. S. Hardy was the Provincial Premier.

Would Mr. Ham regard it as a decent thing for a yone to jibe at him because he has become wealthy? If not, why should he attempt to throw a slur upon Mr. Brewster because his intellectual equipment in his calling rightly earned for him the recognition of a Cabinet and a Premier to whom he had always been actively opposed. But to return to the slap at the oratorical equipment of those who labor. Many instances could be given of men going from the workshop to the platform and acquitting themselves with the best, but two will suffice:

The Right Hon. John Burns, President of the Local Government Board in the Asquith Cabinet—a post, by the way, for which he gets $25,000 a year, and earns it—started life when a young boy as an engine wiper; and Mr. Stodholme, M.P.P. for East Hamilton, during many years, was working at his trade as a moulder when he first accepted a nomination. There is no better speaker in the Ontario House than he. Mr. Ham makes the plea that he has never had "anything more than a public school education." Well, most of us can say that.

If Mr. Ham voluntarily considers that he is not the equal of Mr. Brewster in debate, and that allowance must be made for his ineffectiveness by comparison, how on earth does he expect, if elected (which he won't be), that he could begin to cut the figure, or have the power, of Mr. Brewster in the Ontario Legislature? Where would he have been, for instance, in the matter of framing and securing legislation to abate the gas nuisance, or in helping to frame the Workmen's Compensation Act—two among many other measures with which Mr. Brewster was prominently identified.

Time For City To Stake Out Bathing Spot For Its Boys

Yesterday's Fatality Brings Up Same Old Question Re Swimming in the Grand River--Protection is Not Afforded.

The death of John Howarth, son of Fireman Fred Howarth, by drowning yesterday afternoon, has once again aroused the city officials and many of the business men to a need of a swimming ground staked out in the river where protected by a slab fence net, and possibly with a supervisor in charge, the boys of the city could swim and learn to swim, which is much more important. Fire Chief Lewis, who directed the life saving crew from the Central fire hall yesterday in their efforts to rescue young Howarth, when seen this morning was strongly of the opinion that a swimming ground should be cleared off in the river just below the G. T. R. bridge perhaps as a good location, and a palisade fence sunk in the river at a safe depth, beyond which no one could go, and within which, provided there was a man in charge, all would be safe. The chief did not think that a lifeboat stationed permanently on Kerby Island and another one below the dam would be of much use, as when one was put there before it had not been there two weeks before some one broke it to pieces for firewood. It is certain some action should be taken, and that right soon before the city homes are in mourning for the loss of dear ones. Boys will swim in the river so long as the river is there, and four or five companions went down to Jubilee Terrace and waded across to Kerby Island, where they undressed and went in swimming. John could only take a few strokes at swimming, and the boys kept at first to shallow water, but unnoticed by his companions, Jack slipped down into deep water and disappeared. One of the boys immediately ran over to the Terrace, where he warned some men who telephoned an alarm into the fire station, but the boys name was not mentioned and when Captain Kingswell, with four men on the truck, the boys father one of them, arrived, they were told it was Mr. Howarth's boy. By this time a large crowd had gathered and many, including Engineer Kellett of the L. E. and N. Railway had set out in canoes. So sooner had the firemen arrived and were preparing to launch the lifeboat than a boy ran up and said to Mr. Howarth, "It's John." The poor father was frantic, but was persuaded to remain on shore while the men under Captain Kingswell set out in the lifeboat. Chief Lewis arrived almost at the same moment and was paddled up to the scene of the accident by Harry Bloomer. For almost an hour the men assisted by many others in canoes, searched with tackle for the body, but no trace of him could be found. Harry Bloomer left in his canoe to return and get over half an hour the men worked the body floating down stream, fully quarter of a mile from where he went in. Calling to the party on the Island, the firemen went to his assistance and the body was lifted out and carried onto the island, where for over half an hour the men worked with the lungmotor, but it was of no use, the lad had been in the water too long. Dr. Fissette was called and ordered the body removed to H. S. Pierce's undertaking establishment. Besides a sorrowing father and mother, the young lad is survived by one younger brother and two sisters. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon from the parental home, 133 Charlotte street. The coroner Dr. Fissette decided after hearing the circumstances of the case, that an inquest was unnecessary.

THE RAILWAY BOARD RESERVES DECISION IN BRANTFORD CASES

HAMILTON, June 10.—The Dominion Railway board in session here this morning reserved its decision in two applications made by the Lake Erie and Northern Railway, in regard to the railway's station and right of way in Brantford. The city, through its solicitor W. T. Henderson, Mayor Spence, City Engineer Jones, and G. S. Matthews of the Board of Park Commissioners, put up a stiff fight against the company's proposals. Mr. W. S. Brewster appeared for the Lake Erie and Northern Railway. The first application of the railway was for approval of the plans to locate its terminal station in the Holmedale and approval of the station plans. The decision of the commissioners was reserved in this connection. The second application was for a change in the order of the board whereby part of the land now filled in above Jubilee Terrace was to have been conveyed to the city in exchange for land taken at Jubilee Terrace. In this connection the city asked that the railway be forced to widen the street through Jubilee Terrace to 50 feet and make a real thoroughfare out of it as Jubilee Terrace had been greatly injured. The session was a brief one and Chairman Drayton insisted in his usual way upon expediting business. It was not announced when the board's decision will be given out. (Continued on Page Six)

Twenty Places Lost In Fire At Hearst, Ont.

(By Special Wire to The Courier) NORTH BAY, Ont., June 10.—Hearst, on the National Transcontinental Railway, west of Cochrane, had a serious fire last night. Ten stores and nine residences were destroyed. A light rain which started during the progress of the fire, helped materially to check the spread of the flames. Details are not so hand, as there is no telegraphic communication and only an indifferent contractor's telephone service. Hearst is one of the new towns springing up along the G. T. P., and is the most northern outpost of organized civilization in Ontario.

Registration Is Proceeding Very Briskly

At the six registration booths in the city this morning, the names of 113 voters were added to the list. The number includes those who registered up until 1 o'clock, and it is considered exceedingly good for the start. At the Conservative headquarters to-day at noon, the report was given out that the registration was proving excellent, and the organization never was in better fighting trim. The registration is as follows: At 20 Colborne street, 26. At Court House, Registrar, Judgeistrate Livingston, 12. At Court House, Registrar, Judge Hardy, 24. At 223 Murray street, 17. At 417 Colborne street, Registrar Graham, 16. At Port and Superior streets, Registrar, McArthur, 18. Total, 113.

Farmers Bank Bill Not Dead

TORONTO, June 10.—That the bill for the recouping of the Farmers Bank depositors, whereby the Depositors would pay them some $1,120,000 and thus banish the double liability bogey for the shareholders, is not dead, but that it will be brought up again and again till it is passed, is alleged by a Toronto man who was discussing the matter this morning. "There has been a meeting of the members at Ottawa at which Premier Borden was present, and it is expected he will make some announcement in the House. I understand that he will go so far as to say that he will introduce the bill every year he is premier till it is passed."

Supply of Natural Gas Promised to Several Cities

OIL SPRINGS, June 10.—Representatives of three cities were here yesterday looking over the property of the Oil Springs Oil and Gas Company with a view to ascertaining the chance of being supplied with natural gas from the mammoth gusher recently struck here. From Three Cities. A delegation composed of Mayor Severson of Stratford, Ald. McLaughlin, of Stratford, W. D. Henderson and Mayor Spence, of Brantford; Mayor Kaufmann and the publicity commissioner of Waterloo looked over the ground and were surprised at the enormous flow of the gusher, which is estimated can supply 40 million feet of gas a day. The Oil Springs Oil and Gas Company informed the visitors that they were prepared to supply all the gas that would be required. W. H. Aiken, of Brantford, is the head of the syndicate. Several attempts have been made to confine the immense flow of gas, but the terrific pressure has made it impossible and the escaping gas amounts to about 15 million feet a day. Efforts to Hold It. To-morrow an endeavor will be made to complete the job by putting in a packing of four-inch pipe, then cement the casing, so that if the casing doesn't hold, the gas will be confined anyway. The union gas well on the Donnelly farm is good for about a million and a half feet a day. It is situated about 150 rods from the big pressure, but is not at nearly the same depth.

JOHN HOWARTH AGED FOURTEEN WAS DROWNED

Stepped Into Hole in Grand River Yesterday Afternoon Above the Terrace.

One of the saddest drowning accidents that has occurred in Brantford in many a day and one that had thrown a happy home into sorrow and mourning, happened yesterday afternoon shortly after 4.30 when John, the 14 year old son of Fred Howarth of the Central Fire Station staff was drowned while learning to swim in the Grand River just off the west bank of Slater Island. The lad had attended his class at the Central school all day and after 4 o'clock he and four or five companions went down to Jubilee Terrace and waded across to Kerby Island, where they undressed and went in swimming. John could only take a few strokes at swimming, and the boys kept at first to shallow water, but unnoticed by his companions, Jack slipped down into deep water and disappeared.
