

Is It the Holy Grail?

London, July 27.—The Express prints a story of the discovery, near Glendhurst Abbey, of a glass vessel of beautiful workmanship, and apparently of great antiquity, which the discoverers believe is the Holy Grail of the Arthurian Legend.

The Holy Grail is the cup which Christ is reported to have drunk at the last supper, and, according to ancient British tradition, that was brought to England by Joseph of Arimathea after the crucifixion.

The vessel is of bluish green glass of some kind, cunningly inlaid with silver leaf.

ANOTHER GREAT DISCOVERY.

A well known gentleman in Black Bay, Ont., Mr. John Cowan, has discovered an absolute specific for Rheumatism, and writes: "I was affected with Sciatica and chronic Rheumatism, which I contracted years ago. The disease has a great hold in my blood, and it was hard to make any impression on it. Reading of Ferrone's I was convinced of its merit and it is certainly the best I have ever tried. Why, it just drove away the Rheumatism. Even stiffened old sufferers will experience quick results. The reason is that Ferrone's acts through the blood and thereby destroys the cause of the disease. Price 50c. per box, at all dealers."

Panic On a Steamer.

Peterboro, July 27.—As the excursion steamer Otonabee was leaving the wharf at Idyl Wyld, Rice Lake, a two-inch globe valve on the water feed pipe blew out, flooding that part of the boat with steam and scalding several persons, some very severely.

The whole steamer was thrown into a commotion, and a serious panic was with difficulty averted.

About 200 excursionists on board were brought to the city by another

I will mail you free, to prove merit, samples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative, and my Book on either Dyspepsia, The Heart or The Kidneys. Troubles of the Stomach, Heart or Kidneys, are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Do not make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak Stomach nerves—the inside nerves—mean Stomach weakness, always. And the Heart, and Kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. When these nerves and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves." Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or constipation, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write me today for sample and free Book. Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. The Restorative is sold by all dealers.

NINE WERE DROWNED

Ten Young Men Upset From Launch in Humber Bay.

The Sole Survivor Dazed By His Experience—Homes of Toronto Junction in Mourning—Gasoline Engine Ceased to Work and the Boat Was At the Mercy of Turbulent Sea.

Toronto, July 27.—The hand of Death stretched out across the Humber Bay in the early hours of yesterday morning. The cold fingers closed about nine young men in the black darkness and sorrow entered into eight homes in Toronto Junction.

The drowned are: Joseph Irwin, aged 20; John Irvine, aged 20; Walter Dundas, aged 20; Frank Kyle, aged 19; George Daily, aged 20; Frank Daily, aged 20; Dawson McEgan, aged 20; Gordon Leroc, aged 20; Reginald Miller, aged 19. All were residents of Toronto Junction.

Saved: George Shields, aged 19, Toronto Junction.

The bodies recovered yesterday were those of Walter Dundas, John Irvine, and Joseph Irwin.

Just as the 18-foot gasoline launch Dalvine, bearing its human freight of ten young men entered the Humber Bay the blinding storm struck her and her engine, which had been repaired but a week before, gave out.

The night, which had been dark, became darker; the wind rose to a gale and the little boat, heavily overpowered and with her engine stopped, drifted into the trough of the waves.

When the half-drowned lads, clambered back upon the overturned boat, they numbered but six.

The boat was tossed about. From time to time one or that was dashed from his hold by the waves.

Again a greater wave rolled the boat over and this time but three returned. These were George Shields, J. C. Irvine and Walter Dundas.

From this on the battle for life was desperate indeed.

The exhausted men clung to the trembling craft, dashed this way and that by the fury of the storm.

At last the battered boat was cast upon the wind-whipped shore opposite the Sunnyside Bath Works, but only two of the men were with her, and one lay buried in the sand inert and lifeless. This was Walter Dundas. The other was George Shields, the sole survivor.

Dazed and weary he reached his home at 4 o'clock in the morning, and explained the situation as best he could, and, staggering to his bed, fell into a deep sleep.

Meanwhile the news spread about the town from lip to lip, passed on by frightened men and women in the street from door to door until a pall of gloom spread over all the place.

Send Off to Friend.

The evening had opened with joy and laughter. The ten, with Collin Campbell, of Quebec avenue in the Junction, gathered to give their friend, George Carson, of McEgan street, a "send-off" on his departure.

The 12 had boarded the launch at its moorings in the Humber River and proceeded to Toronto Bay, where Carson got out to catch his train at the Union Station. Campbell accompanied him, while the others put out for the island, which they reached at 9:30 o'clock. There they landed, and as a storm broke, sheltered until 12:30, when they put out for home.

They reached the Humber Bay about 1:45 o'clock, accompanied by the stopping of a watch, found upon C. Irvine, whose body was recovered yesterday afternoon, and from P. C. Lewis, who heard cries, as did Night-watcher C. C. Presby, who also heard the cries.

In explaining the cause of the accident, Geo. Shields, the sole survivor, stated that when about 300 yards from the shore at Sunnyside, just about opposite the west gate of High Park, the engine suddenly stopped, and before anyone had hardly time to think, a wave struck the craft head-on, overturning it, and pitching the ten of them out into the water.

Two Brothers Drowned.

St. Johns, Que., July 27.—Two brothers, Philip Meunier, aged 25, and Arthur Meunier, aged 20, from St. Alexander, near their deaths by drowning at Brabotte Creek, about a mile south of here, yesterday morning.

While out sailing one of them accidentally fell out of boat, and the other attempting to rescue him also fell overboard, and both were drowned.

Drowning at Hull.

Ottawa, July 27.—Two Hull men started to row across the Ottawa Thursday night. In midstream they changed places, and the boat toppled over.

Joseph Girard made for the shore, while his companion held to the boat. Girard rowed back to the spot, but the man, Louis Bouthotte, was gone. He was 30 years of age.

Heroic Girl Injured.

Peterboro, July 27.—In a brave effort to stop her father's runaway team, Miss Birdie Grey, daughter of James Grey of Otonabee, was yesterday knocked down and trampled upon. Her right ear was nearly severed from her head, and a bad gash cut over her eye. She also sustained other injuries and is in a precarious condition.

WHOSE SAY-ISO IS BEST?

With nearly all medicines put up for sale through druggists, one has to take the maker's say-so alone as to their curative value. Of course, such testimony is not that of a disinterested party and accordingly is not to be given the same credit as if written from disinterested motives. Dr. Pierce's medicines, however, form a striking exception to this rule. Their claims to the confidence of invalids do not rest solely upon their makers' say-so or praise. Their ingredients are matters of public knowledge, being printed on each separate bottle wrapper. Thus invalid sufferers are taken into Dr. Pierce's full confidence. Scores of leading medical men have written enough to fill volumes in praise of the curative value of these well-known medicines.

Amongst these writers we find such medical lights as Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Medical College, Chicago; Prof. Hale, of the same city; Prof. John M. Soudard, M. D., late of Cincinnati, Ohio; Prof. John King, M. D., late of Cincinnati, Ohio; Dr. Bartholow, of Jefferson Medical College, of Pa.; and scores of others equally eminent. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures the worst cases of female weakness, prostration, anorexia and retroversion and corrects irregularities, cures painful periods, dries up disagreeable and weakening humors, sometimes known as pelvic catarrh, and a multitude of other diseases peculiar to women.

A Waitress Too Optimistic.

"A mistake was made when I ate at this place five years ago," said a man to the waitress at the lunch counter in the Union depot.

"Suppose I gave you too much money in making change," said the young woman.

"No, that's not the trouble. I was short 20 cents."

"Well, I wasn't here five years ago," she snapped as she left to wait on another customer.

WIRE WOUNDS.

My mare, a very valuable one, was badly bruised and cut by being caught in a wire fence. Some of the wounds would not heal, although I tried many different medicines. Dr. Bell advised me to use MINARD'S LINIMENT. Dittied at first, and then stronger as the sores began to look better, until after three weeks the sores have healed and best of all, the hair is growing well, and is NOT WHITE as is most always the case in horse wounds.

LITERARY LOG ROLLING.

How Some Famous Authors Sought to Advertise Themselves.

The examples cited by Francis Gribble in his article on "The Comedy of Literary Log Rolling" in the Strand Magazine arouse some suspicion as to their absolute authenticity, but are amusing enough whether true or not. Sainte-Beuve increased the circulation of his books by insisting upon fighting a duel in the rain with an umbrella over his head. Gerard de Nerval used to be seen in the streets of Paris leading a lobster by a string. Maecius Krudener, the author of "Valerie" and the friend of Alexander I. of Russia, made the fortune of her novel by calling at all the Paris shops and asking for various articles of dress "a la Valerie." Of Victor Hugo and of Alexandre Dumas the elder the following stories are told:

Nor was the great poet ashamed to roll his log even at a funeral. He seized the opportunity at the obsequies of one of his own sons. It happened that on the way to the cemetery the procession passed a traveling menagerie, and the lions, for whatever reason, stopped roaring just as Victor Hugo was in front of their cage. His companion, a minor poet named Pelletier, drew his attention to the fact. "Pelletier," he whispered, "the lions recognize you and hush their voices. The king of beasts is silent in the presence of the king of men." Victor Hugo bowed and turned the matter over in his mind. Then, after meditation, he said: "Pelletier, that was a happy thought of yours. Couldn't you write something about it?" And Pelletier wrote a sonnet about it, and the fame of the master stood on a higher plane than that of the king of beasts.

And finally there was the case of Dumas, of whom it may almost be said that his whole life was an advertisement. Some one once said of him that his vanity was such that he was capable of getting up behind his own carriage in order to demonstrate that he had a negro footman in his service. He certainly did many things almost as absurd as that in his restless pursuit of fame. One of his delights was to clothe his noble proportions in a uniform and to embellish the uniform with decorations to which he was himself entitled. He even went so far as himself to design the uniform in which he fought—or, rather, did not fight, for he arrived after the fighting was all over—in Garibaldi's army, and he achieved a tremendous advertisement by conducting a well known actress to a court ball to which she had not been invited.

He was utterly in the wrong, and he lost his case, but he kept the court in roars of laughter while he explained his literary methods and the nature of the distractions which had interfered with the fulfillment of his contract. But the best of all his advertisements was attained when the announcement appeared that M. Alexandre Dumas would write the last chapter of a forthcoming romance sitting in a shop window, for all the world to see how it was done. One can understand that the authors who are also interested in the sale of their restoratives. They are most aware of it to the public to exhibit themselves in this way, killing two birds with a single stone. But for the author of "Monte Cristo" to do it was surely the plus ultra of the comedy of log rolling.

The Hanging of Pictures.

A woman bought three pictures in a Fifth Avenue art store.

"Shall I send some one up to hang them?" asked the dealer.

"I don't know," hesitated the woman, who had already exceeded her allowance in buying the pictures. "How much extra will it cost?"

"Not a cent," the dealer assured her, "in the case of any important sale we prefer that one of our men superintend the hanging of the pictures. That insures justice for the painting. Without meaning any disrespect for our customers, I must say that not one person in a hundred who has had no special instruction in art can take a picture home and place it in an advantageous position. A man who has been trained to that business, on the other hand, can tell at a glance where to hang it and all the others in the room so that each will bring out the best points of all the rest."

His Luggage.

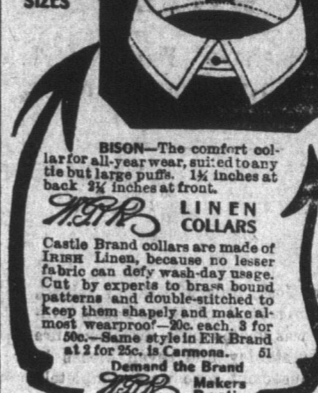

"Ticket," said the collector as he opened the door of a carriage in which sat a man who looked as if he was anchored to his seat. The man handed over the required "ticket," looking around, the collector said, "Is there another gentleman in the carriage?"

"No," "Is that other portmanteau yours, then, too?" "Other portmanteau?" "Yes, on the floor there by the other." "Those," said the traveler, with dignity, are my feet.—London Globe.

JAPANESE FOR CANADA.

Ottawa Declines to Prevent 1,200 From Landing.

Vancouver, B.C., July 27.—Ottawa has declined to prevent the landing here of 1,200 Japanese, including twenty-five women and children on the British trading steamer Kunitake, which arrived yesterday.

All but nineteen have passed the medical examination. Others will be permitted to land. All are from Honolulu, where hotelkeepers union in opposition to planters' association are engaged in shipping Japanese to this country.

They will continue to come until there is a law or head tax against them, says the agent in charge of the shipload yesterday. He denies that either the G.T.P. or C.P.R. are bringing them. He says they are drawn here by higher wages, and estimates that there are 75,000 Japanese in Hawaiian Islands.

Each Jap paid $20 passage and made a deposit of $25 with Hotelkeepers' Union Agent Chillingworth, a Honolulu Senator, this amount being required before entering the Dominion.
