THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., NOV. 13, 1895.

Tupper and Dickey at Kentville.

Scotia Hall, Kentville, was on Monday evening last crowded to its utmost capacity to hear two of Canada's talents of Cabinet ministers: Sir H. C. Tupper and Hon. A. R. Dickey. Owing to an accident, the D. A. R. exercise from Halifax was delayed, but a special wagon which conveyed a large contingent from Wolfville, Hon. Mr. Dickey was the first speaker. He confined himself chiefly to the Manitoba School question, of which he gave a masterly presentation, showing that the Government had only done what was consistent with duty in leaving the remedial order. The Privy Council, he said, as the wisest and most learned legal body to which they had recourse, had advised that such was their duty and they did it regardless of consequences. The Catholic minority of Manitoba he contended, had a constitutional grievance, and that the Dominion Government was bound in honor to redress that grievance. The Minister of Militia closed his most excellent address with an eloquent appeal to the electors of Kings to uphold the honor and dignity of Canada in this matter, and took his seat amid loud applause.

Sir C. H. Tupper was then announced, and as he came forward, received a grand ovation. His address was an able defense of the National Policy, which had, he said, created industries, and a good home market and proved satisfactorily that it had done what at the time of its inception, was claimed for it. It had proved beneficial to both consumer and producer. The national debt had been incurred for purposes which were an honor and credit to our country. We had built a railway such as a much larger country might well be proud of. We had been dispensing our waterways to such an extent that the jealousies of Uncle Sam had been aroused, and the poor old Monroe doctrine was being flouted with renewed vigor. The receipt for this "extravagant" expenditure is written on the face of our country. Did we at this time want to retract our steps? He thought not. Sir Hibbert paid an eloquent tribute to the departed leaders. Sir John A. MacDonald, Sir John Abbott, and Sir John Thompson, and while these chieftains were no longer at the helm, yet the good works incited by them would still live. As the talented Minister of Justice resumed his seat he was most enthusiastically applauded. Mayor Ryan presided. On the platform besides the speakers were Prof. Kinsland, C. E. Bill, Barclay Webster and others. The meeting was a grand success, and when Missis Dickey and Tupper again visit Kings we can ensure them a most cordial welcome.

Agricultural Society Dinner.

The 106th anniversary of Kings Co. Agricultural Society, was held in Evangeline Hall, Lower Horton, Tuesday evening, Dec. 10th, in the form of a "Basket Society." The ladies kindly took charge of the tables and provided a sumptuous feast for upwards of 50 members and guests. The presence of a large number of ladies was the pleasant feature of the evening. They were all invited to come again, and there is a standing invitation to members to bring their wives to the anniversary. We missed a large number of members who usually dine with us on these occasions. Edwin Johnson and wife, Rupert Wickwire and wife and Prof. Faville and Mr. Logan represented Wolfville very ably but not numerously. S. C. Parker Secy. F. G. A., came with the two former and the trio were cordially welcomed and contributed largely to the enjoyment of the evening by their eloquent and witty speeches. Revs. Wm. Brown and McQuarrie, Councillor F. G. Coggs and other members also made interesting addresses. There was a little music, a good deal of sociability and the evening was voted a pleasant and successful anniversary by one and all. You missed a treat, Mr. Editor, as did all the members who could not meet with us. We hope to have twice as many next year—especially the ladies.

[We regret very much our inability to partake of the pleasure of the occasion, Ed.]

Turkey.

Accounts of the wholesale and horrible massacres by the Turks of the unfortunate Armenians, which come to us nearly every day, do not seem to be on the decrease, rather the reverse. How long the civilized nations of the world are going to tolerate these atrocities does not at present seem to be apparent. It is evident that something should be done and that speedily. The Sultan is playing a most despicable double game. With one hand he directs correspondence to the effect that reforms are being enacted, and with the other signs mandates for continued butchery. He has shown himself to be utterly incapable of controlling the destinies of his country, and must, ere long, step down and out. The Russian bear is growling and the British lion roaring, but as yet neither have taken any decided steps in a castigatory direction. Developments of an original order are anxiously awaited.

Every economical buyer will take advantage of the BIG SALE now on at Carver's, Windsor, N. S., and stock up with Table-linen, Napkins, Towels, Towing, Sheetings, Grey and White Cotton, etc. All these staple articles are included in the sale.

We would advise Sewing Circles to take advantage of the BIG SALE at Carver's, Windsor, N. S.

Avonport.

Rev. H. MacQuarrie, who has been spending a short time in Colchester Co., has returned.

Capt. Hiram Dawson and wife, of Avonport, spent Sunday, Dec. 8th, the guests of Mr and Mrs Robt. Shaw. On Sunday afternoon, 8th inst., Rev. Wm. Brown's pulpit here was filled by the Rev. J. Grant, one of the Board of Governors of Acadia College.

On Sunday evening, 8th inst., the B. Y. P. U. held their monthly concert meeting. It was one of the most interesting meetings the Society has ever held. The subject was "Post Apostolic Missions in Europe." The president, Mr. W. A. Reid, read a very interesting paper on the same; this was followed by a most enthusiastic address, from Mr. L. Fenwick, of Acadia College.

He concluded his subject in such an interesting manner, and showed so much earnestness and sincerity, that the most careless listened and the more thoughtful learned.

The children furnished most of the music and deserve credit for the manner in which it was rendered. Opening and closing prayers were made by Mr. G. V. Davis, Acadia College and Mr. C. A. Reid, respectively.

On the evening of the 28th inst., a school exhibition will be held in the hall.

The programme will consist of matches in History, Spelling and Useful Knowledge, interspersed with music, recitations and dialogues. Proceeds to go towards purchasing school apparatus.

The Ladies' Home Journal for 1896.

In a dainty booklet printed in light blue, salmon-pink and grey tones—a splendid illustration of the beauties of art applied to printing—The Ladies' Home Journal announces some of its leading literary and artistic features for 1896. There will be a series of papers upon the domestic and social side of London by General A. W. Greely, H. S. A., another by ex-President Harrison, telling of "This Country Of Ours"; a third by Mary Anderson de Navarro, who writes of her stage experiences, her struggles for recognition and artistic triumphs, with a supplemental article telling of her life and surroundings today. In a lighter vein, Mrs. Wilkins will present a series of "Neighborhood" papers, pen pictures of quaint and familiar personages—New Englanders, and Jerome K. Jerome will reflect old England life in a number of "Stories of the Town"—stories of London—in his inimitable, crisp style. "William the Conqueror," Rudyard Kipling's most fascinating romance, is also among the features for 1896, and William MacRae's delightful serial, "Mabel Violets," will be through considerably portion of the year. Besides these regular authors there will be short stories by Bret Harte, Lilian Bell, Ian Maclaren, Sophie Sweet, Frank R. Stockton, Sarah Orne Jewett, R. C. V. Meyers, Will N. Harben, Caroline Leslie Field, Jane Austin (posthumous) and other prominent writers. Dr. Parkhurst will write a series of forcible articles for young men, appropriate to their age, while others will be written by Mr. D. T. Whitney, and Edith N. Thomas, the gifted poetess, will be represented by her finest verse and prose.

James Whitcomb Riley will contribute a number of poems, varied in theme and treatment. In its musical offerings the Journal will be unusually replete. Among the best promises is a minuet by Padlewski, the famous pianist; a waltz by John Philip Sousa, a March King; a piano piece by Sir Arthur Sullivan, composer of "Pinocchio," "Mikado," etc.; Reginald De Koven, composer of "Robin Hood," "Boy Roy," etc.; Edward Jakobowski, Bruno Oscar Klein and others. There will be instructive musical treatises by Mme. Melba, Mme. Blauvelt, Mme. Cremmell de Ver-Sapo, M. Hamiltone Mott, Miss Mayd Powell, Benjamin Davis, Charles Adams, Thomas C. Wentworth, George Pease, George Chadwick and others.

Artistically the Journal gives rich promise, and during the next year will present several groups of Kate Greenaway's bonnie little people; Charles David Gibson's head work on his nines and tens; and some of Albert Lynch's newest creations. W. L. Taylor, W. T. Smedley, W. Hamilton Gibson, Alice Barber Stephens, William Marquis Johnson, Eric W. A. Ross, G. R. Ford, Frank O. B. Williams, G. C. T. Thelstrup, A. B. Frost, E. W. Kemble, Livingston Wiles, Abby E. Underwood and other artists of such commanding prominence will contribute their finest drawings. In its departments the Journal promises to be stronger than ever, and more comprehensive in its scope of practical information. In this direction it will bring up-to-date news of all kinds, giving plans and details for the construction of medium-size houses. The Ladies' Home Journal for 1896, in fact, will be complete, and uniquely so.

Matrimonial.

At Harborville, Kings Co., Dec. 4th, Rev. D. H. Simpson, Perry Moody and Florence Vaughan. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Nathan Vaughan. Beside those living in the neighborhood, a goodly number of relatives and friends were present from Watford, Berwick, Weston and Aylesford to participate in the joyousness of the occasion. The bride was presented with a nice selection of remembrances.

These young folk have the best wishes of a large number of friends at home and abroad, for a prosperous life's journey.

A somewhat remarkable phenomenon, according to an exchange, took place "last Thursday night about 8 o'clock in the evening." Several distinct flashes of lightning were observed in the Western sky, and in less than two hours the ground was covered with snow! The journal in question has a somewhat graphic narrative of resounding small events. By saying "at night about 8 o'clock in the evening," the reader is sure to clearly grasp the exact time the event transpired. Their attention is to be directed to the following:

"It is a matter of some wonder as to how the scurries could have observed the flashes of lightning had they not been distinct."
