Last Sunday being Temperance Sunday it was observed by the holding of a mass meeting of the different Sunday schools in town in the Baptist church, under the direction of the W. C. T. U. Principal Ford, superintendent of the Baptist school, presided, and an excellent program contributed to by members of the several schools was given. Rev. Mr. Webber gave a short but very earnest and practical address on the evils of the cigarette habit.

The annual banquet of the Junior Class of the College was held on Tuesday evening at the Royal Hotel, and was a successful and brilliant function. Rev. H. F. Waring, pastor of the First baptist church, Halifax, has tendered his resignation to take effect at the end of next May. The Chapter was held at twelve, the Rural Dean presiding and a paper was read by Rev. Canon Vroom on "Loyalty to the Prayer Book." On Thursday the clergy dined at the rectory. They were entertained during the sessions of the Deanery by various members of the congregation. The addresses at last evening services were given by Rev. I. Fraser, of Rawlon, and the Rural Dean.

Are You Going to Halifax?

No matter whether you visit Halifax for one day only, or stay there permanently, you will enjoy the home comforts—the rare excellence of fine cooking—the luxury of handsome furnishing—the refinement of select service, which "Elmwood" offers you. "Elmwood" is situated in a select residential section of the city (corner of Pleasant and South Streets), and can be easily reached from the station by car or cab. It is a select private hotel, yet the rates are reasonable, service considered. An ideal home for ladies. Ask for booklet 'A'—its free.

Horse Notes.

The sleighing being very fine just now, our best steppers are out whenever time permits.

Rosemont, 2.19¼, the great pacing beauty owned by Mr. George Wood, is probably the fastest sleigh horse in eastern Canada. He can step a half in one minute quite handy, and is a perfect actor.

Mr. 'Ted' Bowles drives a two-year old chestnut pacer, by Border, 2.11¼, that is said to be promising by those who ought to know.

Mr. Harvey Collins and Avery Bowser have two bay pacing flyers upon the snow path these fine afternoons, evidently looking for someone with a chip on their shoulder.

A very wild stepper comes into town now and then of an evening. He is black as coal, 16 hands high, high headed, and a beauty. He is driven by some stranger, who has a lady with a big hat in evidence. The gentleman is evidently looking for Rosemont or his brave owner.

Deanery Meeting.

The Rural Deanery of Avon was in session Wednesday and Thursday of this week (23rd and 24th.) There was a service on Wednesday at 8 p.m. when interesting addresses were delivered by Revs. T. C. Mellor and H. T. Parlee, of Aylesford. On Thursday morning a 'Quiet Hour' was conducted by Rev. Canon Vroom, of Kings College, for the clergy. A celebration of the Holy Communion was held at 10.30, when Rural Dean Wade, of Newport, officiated. A very able and impressive sermon was preached by Rev. G. R. Martell, of Windsor.

King's County Temperance Alliance.

It was the writer's privilege for the first time to attend a meeting of the above, held at Berwick, the 18th inst. With permission of THE ACADIAN he would like to give some impressions received on that occasion respecting the Alliance and its work.

ITS PERSONNEL.

From this gathering the impression was given that all the professions are represented in the Alliance—physicians, teachers, publishers, merchants, clergymen and farmers, the latter being in the majority. It was not a company of weaklings but of strong men whose appearance suggested virility and a lofty purpose. It evidently was an organization 'to be reckoned with.' They seemed to be men calculated to bring things to pass.

ITS OBJECT.

Its name indicates its object. Its purpose, however, is not along lines adopted by the ordinary temperance society. It has rather a political complexion. This was apparent during the discussion of a communication from the Conservative Association of the county, asking what would be the position of the Alliance in case their party should place men in the field pledged to prohibition. Perhaps I do not have it just right, but the inquiry was somewhat after that fashion. The reply given was to this effect: The Alliance has already chosen its candidates and they have accepted. Of course this was to be couched in respectful language. This incident went to show that the organization is seeking to promote the temperance reform by selecting men to Parliament who will cast their votes for prohibition.

ITS INDEPENDENCE OF PARTY.

Politics has come to have a bad name. There is an evil odor associated with it. It has been degraded through the conduct of unworthy men. The true politician is not a partisan. In this respect the Alliance holds the place of honor. Every man of them must place principle before self interest; temperance before party. We have all been treated with statements to the contrary of this. The writer was a careful listener during the discussions at the meeting to which reference has been made, and is prepared to give the most unqualified denial to certain statements which he has both seen and heard respecting the work proposed by the Alliance. It is as much Liberal as it is Tory. In fact it is neither. He draws this conclusion from what he heard. Before him one rises and speaks of his long devotion to the Liberal party; immediately another in the rear of the audience, tells of the earnest support he has given the Conservatives, and each declares that he has no confidence in either party in respect to its attitude towards prohibition legislation, and to these sentiments others cheerfully respond. Indeed this is the attitude of all.

ITS OPTIMISM.

The spirit of hopefulness was apparent. The instrument has no minor chords. These men believe that the cause for which they are enlisted cannot suffer defeat; that even reverse means final victory. This would be only an incident in the course of the stream, that notwithstanding its eddies is always flowing onwards towards its home in the sea; it would be only the opposing breeze that fills the sails, or feeds the fires to hasten the good ship towards its desired haven.

ITS CONVICTIONS.

An observer could not but be impressed with the belief that the members of this organization have strong convictions respecting the righteousness of the cause they have espoused. Of course there may be differences of opinion on some things but in respect to the main thing they are a unit. Each man like the old Spartan is 'a brick,' but all are from the same mould. There is in the thought of each one object to achieve. Without reference to persons or parties, they are seeking the overthrow of the rum traffic by such legislation as shall remove from the State all complicity with what is blighting our social life, and ruining the bodies and souls of men. When this shall have been accomplished, 'the work of the Alliance, as such, may be no longer needed.' The old pities may resume their proper sphere, but on a higher plane than is possible under present conditions.

Pianoforte Recital.

The pianoforte recital by the advanced pupils of Acadia Seminary, under the direction of Prof. Ringwald, which took place in College Hall on Tuesday evening, was a very successful affair, in spite of the fact that the audience was considerably diminished by numerous other attractions in town. (While the rendition of the whole program was much enjoyed the solos by Miss Helen Knowles and Mr. Roy added greatly to the pleasure of the audience.)

T. H. FITCH, AGED 79 YEARS, UNDERWENT A SERIOUS OPERATION.

Mr. T. H. Fitch, of Niagara Falls South, formerly of King's county, Nova Scotia, had his left foot amputated on Friday, Feb. 4, at the General Hospital, the operation being performed by Dr. Starr. Mr. Fitch, though 79 years of age, sat up in bed the next morning and shaved himself, and wrote several letters to his relatives and friends. About 38 years ago Mr. Fitch had the misfortune to cut his heel off with a mowing machine and the injured foot has given him more or less trouble since that time. At the time of the accident Mr. Fitch's eldest son Wilber and a hired man were working some distance away, and, seeing something was the matter, ran to his assistance. When they reached him he was walking around looking for the heel which had been cut off. He was assisted on the sulky rake and drawn to his home, a distance of three quarters of a mile. By the time the doctor arrived to dress the wound he had made all arrangements for the balance of the haying season. Mr. Fitch is getting along remarkably well, having left the hospital on Wednesday afternoon, and will leave for his home, Niagara Falls South, on Saturday, accompanied by his grandson, Harry M. Fitch, at present residing in Toronto. [The above is taken from The News, of Toronto. It refers to T. Harding Fitch, well known in this county, formerly of Lower Canard. He is uncle to C. S. Fitch, Esq., of this town.]

Mrs. Edwin Martin, Ayer's Cliff, Que., writes:—"Before I began using Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food I was in a terrible condition. Dizzy spells would come over me and I would fall to the floor in a faint. I could not even sweep the floor without fainting and my nervous system seemed to be entirely exhausted.

"The use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food has built up my system wonderfully so that I can do my housework and washing without any trouble, and I want others to know about it."
