youthful to wish the weather were "just a little warmer."

Another Xmas has gone with the many already registered on the book of time. Our Xmas festival passed off very pleasantly. St. Nicholas did not forget us either, but had three trees beautifully decorated with many costly and handsome gifts for old and young. The genial old fellow even deigned to favor us with his company during part of the evening. By his cheerful expression and warm wrapping of fur we would suppose he would face keener frost and deeper snow to bring pleasure to so many hearts.

Our neighborhood has long been famed for its fine horses of which there was a grand display on the lake on Saturday, 24th ult, where a large number had gathered to witness the races, in which the beautiful chestnut horse, owned by Mr Nowlan Corbett, took the lead closely followed by a handsome grey mare, owned by Smith Brothers.

We are pleased to state that Mr A N Parks, one of our merchants who is so universally esteemed, has recovered from his recent illness and has again resumed his duties.

AN UNWORTHY CANVASS.

A candidate, in the heat of discussion in a sharp campaign, will make indiscreet statements, assume very unwise attitudes, and to carry a point, will often pass in assertion beyond the limits of truth. A generous public will as often overlook these things. It will find excuse for the candidate led or forced into them. But there is a limit to campaign misrepresentation, hedging, and the like, beyond which the public will not pass to pardon or to find excuse. Not unfrequently does a candidate step beyond this limit. In the present mayoralty campaign we have a very striking instance of unpardonable misrepresentation and contemptible conduct. A religious or race cry is an element which should invariably be kept out of local contests in harmonious and peaceful communities, and more particularly are they to be strictly avoided when the points which the discussion involve have not the most remote bearing on any one issue of the contest. Experience has proved such elements of political warfare to be insidious agencies of evil of about the worst character to a community. Yet we find that Mr. J. D. Hazen, in an article in the Farmer, endeavors to play upon the feelings of Irishmen; to inspire strife, to embitter feeling, and thus to arraign the Irish element against his opponent and friends because forsooth he, Mr. Fisher, in the capacity of editor of the Reporter, ventured some time since to express opposition to home rule for Ireland. Can any one imagine, under the circumstances, anything more contemptible or more deceitful?

We are not the champions of Mr. Fisher, nor yet have we advocated his election, although, in point of honor and ability, we give him our decided preference over Mr. Hazen. We feel it, however, to be our duty to protest against Mr. Hazen's deceitful conduct and low cunning in endeavoring to incite sectarian feeling for purposes of his own; and just here we wish, as a staunch friend of Irishmen, as a firm and persistent advocate of their cause, to remind our friends that through this home rule canvass many of them have frequently been made the dupes of a designing candidate. Is it not about time that men so selfish and ignoble as to play upon kin feelings should be, as an example, relegated to a sphere in which their designs and motives will have been beyond influence? Is it not about time that a cause far above the sphere of local issues, a cause in which every sincere Irishman has a daily interest, and is enrapped heart and soul, should cease to be made the boot-jack of the unworthy? We feel that we can advise with the true Irishmen. We have stood alone in this city in newspaper support of their cause, and as best we could, fought for them in discussion against the malignity of the Farmer, the prejudice of the Capital, and we will do the justice to say, the moderation of the Reporter.

It is not for us to discuss the position of either candidate on the question of Home Rule, but as Mr. Hazen has so improperly dragged his opponent's position into the canvass, it might not be out of place to state that of the two aspirants to the mayoralty Mr. Hazen is the more unworthy of the consideration of all true Irishmen. He has on every occasion that offered taken advantage of the columns of the Farmer to malign leading Irish advocates, and to prejudice our people against their cause. He has gone further than this. During the last campaign, in which he figured so conspicuously, he denounced, in three certain places in the county, in the broadest and most unbecoming terms, the general attitude of Irishmen on two important questions, and he has not since renounced his views. In short, he is the out and out opponent of anything for the Irish people. Mr. Fisher is an opponent of Home Rule, but he has the wisdom and good sense to discuss the question at all times in a serious and becoming manner. He is neither malignant nor violent in his opposition. He is what we term a fair opponent. Mr. Hazen, if he must through nature, practice deceit, had better direct his energies in some other quarter.

We trust we have heard the last of these sectarian canvasses in local elections.

SIR CHARLES AND MANITOBA.

Sir Charles Tupper has left for Washington via Winnipeg. The object of this second visit to the Manitoba capital within a few weeks is very transparent. The ... of the Manitoba government which has greatly the reconstructed cabinet may start out on the lines laid down by the arch chief, Sir Charles has gone on to direct them how they shall proceed. The suspicion also prevails that Norquay and Lairviere, for the service they have rendered Sir John, are to be provided with Dominion offices, and that the Red River Valley railway project is not further to be proceeded with. The people of Manitoba may expect that they will be used by the new premier as Norquay has used them, and that they cannot expect their wishes to be carried out, and their rights recognized, until they turn out of office the men who are so hostile to their interests. If Norquay and Lairviere are granted positions by Sir John, the Manitoba people must be blind indeed if they do not see the game which is being played upon them, and must be most submissive if they permit themselves longer to be ruled by the men who now control them.

POLITICAL CORRUPTION.

The Montreal Star continues to comment upon the corruption which is practised in dominion elections, and to show the influence for evil which such practices have upon the people. We had wished, as we stated in a recent issue, that the Star had earlier sought to expose corruption, and to use its influence in suppressing it. Here is its most recent utterance: "The veil should be lifted from this dangerous and degrading system of corruption, and it should be shown to the people in all its deformity and repulsiveness. We should not hide from ourselves or from each other that electoral corruption is alarmingly prevalent in this dominion, that corruption is a disease rapidly becoming deep-seated, which is weakening the body politic and perverting and prostituting its powers. A thorough conviction of this and of the danger that the country is in if the disease is much longer permitted to do its deteriorating and deadening work is necessary before the people will resort to the means necessary to effect a permanent cure. There is, we trust and believe, a remnant in the country who have not bowed down to the boodler's Baal, and it is high time that those composing it were up and doing."

THE POPE ADDRESSES THE PILGRIMS.

Italy and the Catholic Church—To Deal With Socialism, the License of the Press and Universal Suffrage.

ROME, Jan. 3.—The Pope addressed the pilgrims to-day in the presence of the whole court. After expressing joy at the evidence of cohesion among Catholics the Pope said: "You have not given faith to those who, with the voice of calumny, try to persuade you the Pope is the enemy to Italy. Popes have always been the greatest friends and benefactors of Italy. You, like ourselves, are convinced that the church, by her holy mission, ought to be made whatsoever terrestrial authority (cries of "yes," "yes,"); that the church is a divine institution; that trying to reduce its interests to the question of the laws of Italy can only be the result of the most deplorable blindness."

The addresses were greeted with enthusiastic applause, which continued several minutes. At the conclusions, all present filed past the Pope and received his blessing.

The Pope, to-day, in interview with Eugene Feuillot; the distinguished French writer, said he was confident France would rise again to her old place in Christendom and exercise unbounded influence in the world. He lamented the revolutionary spirit fomenting in many states. He was preparing two encyclicals dealing with socialism, the license of the press and the great power of universal suffrage, which he considers terribly menancing. He also defined certain points upon which good Catholics have confused and dangerous ideas. The land and Irish questions are believed to be the subjects alluded to.

The Pope gives a jubilee gift of money to St. Peter's treasury, to be expended in propagandism of artistic articles to be placed in the museum of the Vatican and objects of worship in the vestry of St. Peter's. All the rest will be given to hospitals.

Churches That Have Tried It.

The Rev. Warren Randolph, D. D., writing in the Boston Watchman concerning the effort which is now being made by the Baptists to induce their churches to raise money for all expenses by weekly offerings, gives the following examples of the way the system works:—

The case has been mentioned of a church in Illinois, "composed largely of of farmers, dependent on crops gathered in the fall. They were in the habit of borrowing money, at certain seasons of the year, to pay the pastor's salary. For this borrowed money they had to pay eight per cent interest. The pastor urged them to collect the salary in weekly sums. They objected, putting forward the old objection about crops. Yielding at length to much entreaty, they agreed to try the weekly plan for three months, but notice was given that at the end of three months the plan was to be dropped. At the end of the time, the outlook was so good that they agreed to try it three months longer. When the second three months were up the pastor's salary had all been paid, and no money had been borrowed at eight per cent. One young woman in this church, who earned $3.25 a week, was asked if she could give five dollars a year to the pastor's salary. She said she could not, for she did not have five dollars at a time in a year. She was then asked how much she could give a week. After thinking it over she said she could give fifteen cents a week, which she paid joyfully and easily, though it amounted in a year to more than half as much again as the sum which she thought she could not give."

There is a reliable authority, also for this statement concerning a church in Missouri, composed of only thirty members. Twelve of these are non-resident, leaving only eighteen to do the work of the church. All told, they are not worth more than $4,000. Yet this little body actually become security for a whole Association. The association had pledged itself to support a particular native preacher in the foreign field, and had failed to do so. The "underwriters," that is, the little church referred to, come forward and, after an earnest effort sent the first instalment of forty six dollars. After that they had to wait awhile, till they could pay a college subscription they had made. This done, they resumed their missionary collections, and by the time the year was up they had sent to the missionary treasury more than thirteen dollars above the hundred for which they had become security.

These are illustrations of how the system may be worked on the frontier. It is adapted, also, to churches differently situated. Striking illustrations of the feasibility and excellence of the system have been given by the Congregational churches of Providence, R I. To some extent the system of weekly offerings for missionary purposes has been in use among them for nearly fifteen years. By the annual collection method one of the feebler of these churches raised for benevolent purposes $479 in 1874. The next year, by the weekly offering plan, the same church raised about three and a half times as much; and the second year after five times as much, or, to make it plainer, the published figures are: $479 by the annual collection plan, in 1874; by the weekly offering plan, $1,686 in 1875; and $2,397 in 1876. Their largest contributing church in Providence raised $3,600 for missions, by the annual collection plan, in 1875. The next year, by weekly offering, that church raised $7,522, and four years later the amount was increased to $8,160. The largest contributing Baptist church in Boston gave to benevolent objects, by the annual collection plan, about $3,000. By the system of weekly offerings, it is said, that church now gives $10,000 a year. Well, as Dr. Ashmore said: "We come back to the question, Is not Paul's plan the best one for us all?" And may we not unhesitatingly say, facts prove that the apostolic plan is still practicable?

BELVIDERE, N. J., Jan. 3.—Hackettstown's defaulter, ex-Mayor Cramer, swindled business men and was engaged to three women in this borough and 12 in the country. Many Sussex county farmers lose heavily. A letter from Cramer says he has left the country never to return. He is in Bermuda.

Steadfastly for forty-two years the WEEKLY WITNESS has held to principles which have stood the tests of time, ridicule, and of opposition, fair and unfair, and the WITNESS to-day speaks to sixty where in 1846 it spoke to one. Its growth has been both rapid and steady. Its publishers, desirous of still further increasing its circulation have this year made an extensive effort to secure a reproduction of THE LATEST MASTERPIECE of Davidson Knowles (who was selected by Queen Victoria to paint the scene at the Princess Beatrice's wedding), entitled:

SUFFER THE LITTLE CHILDREN TO COME UNTO ME

It depicts the memorable scene with startling realism, reproducing in oils all the richness of ORIENTAL COLORING. The picture executed by the greatest firm in England, would bring $1.50 if sold, but is reserved EXCLUSIVELY FOR SUBSCRIBERS to the WITNESS.

The price of the WEEKLY WITNESS and picture is $1.25, the paper alone $1.00.

In 1860 the DAILY WITNESS was launched, and like the WEEKLY, to advocate the same principles regardless of cost. The picture "Suffer Little Children to Come Unto Me," and the DAILY WITNESS, $3.25 a year; the paper alone $3.00.
