up for anybody. I will always remember the dear times we have had together. I will see you soon.

"With love, "Elsie."
The police pointed out to-day that this letter was considerably less fervent than some she had sent to Leung previously. It did not close, as others did with, "your own little Elsie sends you many kisses." They gather that Chu Gain had become decided No. 1 in the girl's affections.

the girl's affections RIVAL LOVERS MEET AGAIN. On the afternoon of June 8th, the day before Elsie disappeared, the sitday before Elsie disappeared, the situation was exactly reversed. Chu Gain travelled up to No. 209 Wadsworth avenue to call on his "little friend" and bumped into Leung Lim. They met outside the house and went in together, Leung giving Chu some very black looks, Chu nervous and scared. After Elsie had received them both, Chu made excuses to get away and Chu made excuses to get away and left inside of fifteen minutes. The next morning, the morning of the day Chung Sin saw Leung over the girl's body, Chu got this letter:

CHINESE STIRRED UP.

Chinatown is more deeply stirred by the Sigel murder than by any event of recent years. The Chinese feel, in a measure, that their sufferance in the land that harbors them is in the balance. Little groups can be seen standing on the street corners studying the speaking cartoons in English papers that they cannot read.

As a result, there were issued two that they cannot read.

As a result, there were issued two statements to-day from the rival societies in which Chu Gain and Leon Ling held membership. The Chinese Masons say that Leon was a member of the Chinese Empire Reform Association, and that they have no interest in him whatever, other than to aid in his capture.

On the other hand, the Chinese Em-pire Reform Association, which num-bers on 'ts rolls most of the wealth and brains of Chinatown, has sent a circular letter to its 170 branches throughout the United States, instruction United States, instructing all members to keep an eye open for Leung, who, it is said, had deserted the society for

Rev. Mr. Hardy came here from Aclanta, and in his sermons told the negroes not to work for white folks a tall. It was with great difficulty that farmers in that section could keep their hands at work when this preacher was around. A number of white men went to whip him and drive him off. He was at Caneker's house. Leonard remained to keep back the negroes while the other men drove off the preacher. Caneker saw Leonard and shot him dead. For this he was lynched.

The blind preacher managed to escape, but was captured some time last night and also was lynched.
