HASZARD'S GAZETTE TUESDAY, AUGUST 10, 1852.

The Rose brought the English Mail on Friday last, the rincipal items of news are as follow :--

Latest from Europe. The Royal Mail Steamship Niagara arrived from Liverpool at four o'clock yesterday morning, bringing dates to the 24th inst. She brought 76 passengers. The elections were nearly all over in England, giving as the result, a decided majority to the Government. The Morning Post gives the following statement of the returns, placing all doubtful men on the side of the Liberals.

Other journals, and in the Liberal interest, give the present asjority for the Ministry, fifty-three. Below will be found all the other news of interest.

Below will be found all the other news of interest. Laverapoot, July 24.—Although business has not been fairly resembed, the markets are beginning to fiel the effect of the close of the parliamentary contests. Considerable anxiety, never-theless, still prevails as to the final result of the elections, and the effect which will be produced upon the commercial & fiscal-policy of the Government. There is evidently more confidence on the part of importers of Colonial Produce, and the markets have been less freely supplied with all articles during the last few days; at the same time consumption, both in this country and on the Continent, exceeds that of last sesson. The accounts are of the most favourable description as regards the grain erops, which, under the influence of the late forcing weather, have reached forward with amazing vigour, and afford every promise of an early and abundant harvest. The same descrip-tion of report comes from Ireland and the Continent, and as a consequence the various Grain markets have been during the week comparatively dull and inanimate. Monetary affairs, however, continue favourable, and with the large quantities of gold uniterruptedly flowing in from our Australian colonies, independently of the heavy receipts we are obtaining by the royal mail steam-ships from the United States weekly, there seeme every inducement to believe that the trade of the country must progress in prosperity. must progress in prosperity.

THE CROPS.

THE CROPS. ENGLAND.—The corn crops, under the influence of the pre-sent genial and much-desired heat, are rushing forward with amazing vigour, and afford every promise of an early and abundant harrest. The Sherbourne Mercury says:—"We are sorry to say the potatoe blight has made some sad ravages in the neighbourhood of Weymouth, the stalks in many parts being completely decayed, and emitting a most offensive edorur."

odorur." INELAND.—The crops are still healthy and abundani. No-thing can be finer than the potatoes, which are now generally brought into market large and well tasted, and without any appear-ance of disease. We have a favourable report to make of all the agricultural erops. In some distant connies of Connaught a partial ramour of potsto blight prevailed; but it was in isol-ated districts. The recent thunder storms have been attended with a few disastrous results in some parts of Ireland. They passed over Ulster without occasioning any very serious damage. THE NEW PARLIANENT.—The Parliament will consist of—

Residing in the country, and actively engaged in farm-ing, we shall speak of appearances for the next harvest, as they have fallen under our personal observation, which, we adre say, will be very generally applicable Har.—This important part of our erop has suffered from the tot much, under an average. MHAT.—This important part of our erop has suffered from the tot much, under an average. WHEAT.—This grain is, perhaps, less injured by drought, generally; than any of the other cereals, and we never saw a prospect of a heavier roturn. What the wheat-midge may leave us, is a question which cannot now be deter-mined. We regret to learn that it has again made its ap-pearance, as might be anticipated. Batary is fair, but not equal to wheat. It is to be re-gretted that the farmers raise any other sort than the Eng-lish two-rowed. It is a surer crop, and a better article than the four-rowed, and will bring a higher price in the United States markets. Brex-wHEAT.—We have never seen this valuable, but distate, grain, look better ; and if it escape early frosts, an abundant yield may be anticipated. Its value is not sufficiently understood in this Island. We understand it has come into very general use in some sections of New Furnswick ; and in the Western States, and in some parts of the the want of common wheat, but because they like it better. It is there invariably eaten in light, spongy pan-cakes, with homey or molasses. In this Island we have two varieties—a large, coarse grain, which does not flower, and shird flower when in blossom. The coarse variety yields a larger quantity of flour from an acre, but the fine, white function. The coarse variety yields a larger quantity of flour from an acre, but the fine, white function. of the grain. Porarous.—This standard looks well, but have, in some localities, been thinned by the grubs (which are unusually abundant this season, cutting the young sprouts. We re-gret to learn that symptoms of disease have been observed, not in the leaves, but in a second growth of tubers. TURNIFS.—The early Swedes have been so much injured by drought and grubs, as to be very much of a failure ; but what have survived are now doing well. Upon the whole, we have, at present, every reason to an-ticipate an abundant crop.
