R. Kohler on French Politics.

The Chambers Please says that Count Chambord has left Frohsdorf for Venice, where he will remain for a few days, and then proceed to Rome. He has had an interview with the Pope, which lasted an hour and a half. The Count de Chambord is said to be in excellent health, and to have expressed himself as very much pleased with his visit to Frohsdorf. The Count de Paris has left Paris for Cannes, where he will remain for a few days, and then proceed to Rome. He has had an interview with the Pope, which lasted an hour and a half. The Count de Chambord is said to be in excellent health, and to have expressed himself as very much pleased with his visit to Frohsdorf.
