The Maiden's Choice

OR, THE LAIRD OF BIRKENLEUCH
A Tale of the Covenanters.

The landlord's countenance fell at this information. He had counted on them remaining over night, and he confidently calculated that the storm, expected before morning, would secure their presence for an indefinite period. But the Baronet's words caused this hope to vanish.

"Abins, ye are gaun on tae Dollar," he remarked.
"Atweel are we no," responded Sir Gilbert, who was now diligently applying himself to the venison pasty. "We are gaun through the Pass tae Glenorchy."

"My gracious! ye dinna say that?" said the landlord, with an air of astonished concern.

"Puddin's and painches, and what for no?" "Because the fiddle will be on afore ye are half-way through, and there's neither build nor biggin' within miles o' ye. Ye maun never think o' that, sir."

"We maun think o' it, though," returned Sir Gilbert. "Dor, there's na body kens us, an' winna thole delay. That the snaw is comin' is plain enouch, but no afore the gloamin', I'm thinkin', an' by that time we'll be clear o' the Pass, an' safe in shelter at Glenorchy."

"Boniface shook his head dubiously. 'I'm sair cheated,' he said, 'if in an oor's time the hills are no cleidin' themselfs in white, an' the blindin' flakes feelin' through the air, thick an' three-fold. It's doonricht madness tae chance it, for I tell ye Ansel's no a hoose or a sheelin' within reach—naething but the cave o' the Canny Man o' Fairyhaugh, an' there's a thousand chances tae ane o' ye findin' that, forby the unchancein' o' stoppin' at it if ye did.'"

"Hoots, man, I dinna expect we'll hae any occasion tae stop anywhere, but if we should, the cave o' the Canny Man wad be a canny place tae shelter in."

"This Sir Gilbert said in a jocosse style, and with a smile to Helen, who had sat in silent anxiety lest the landlord should prevail on the Baronet to stop.

"Who is this Canny Man?" she inquired.
"Deed, Miss, there's na body kens us, an' winna thole delay. That the snaw is comin' is plain enouch, but no afore the gloamin', I'm thinkin', an' by that time we'll be clear o' the Pass, an' safe in shelter at Glenorchy."

JOHN HOGG
AT IT AGAIN.

From unforeseen circumstances, I am obliged to once more plunge into the torrents of active business life. It affords me no small degree of pleasure and satisfaction to know that I am still to continue to serve and be a means of profit to the great mass of the inhabitants of the County of Wellington and its vicinity. I shall in the time to come, as in the past, make it a study and one of the leading features in my business affairs at all times to be in a position to secure Goods in the very best markets, and to the best possible advantage. My purchases will all be made for Ready Money—and money will command Bargains such as credit cannot. This advantage will be given to my customers. It is needless to remind my numerous friends and supporters that the immense variety of every description of Goods presented to select from is a very great advantage, together with the undeniable fact that my Goods are all imported from the manufacturers direct, ensures to my patrons a saving of a fair profit over that of any other establishment in the trade. I possess great advantages this season for offering extra inducements to my customers.
COTTON GOODS have all advanced very rapidly within the last month. During the period of panic prices I bought heavily, indeed sufficient to do my business requirements during the summer. Since an advance of fully forty per cent. has taken place.
My stock now in every branch is full, and an early call from my old friends will be well repaid both as regards variety to select from and the great saving to be effected in price.
Thanking you for past favors,
I remain yours,
JOHN HOGG.
