MAD DOG AT BELMONT SHOT WHILE SPRINGING AT MAN

Animal Attacked Many Dogs and It Is Feared Cattle Were Also Bitten and Will Have To Be Killed—Narrow Escape of Mr. Barons and His Son.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Belmont, June 17.—Belmont is in a state of the greatest excitement as a result of a mad dog running amuck here on Sunday and biting a number of dogs and attempting to snap at people before it could be killed. Government inspectors have been notified, and two special men are on the way here from Toronto. They will be in charge of the dog, which was shot by Mr. Elmer Barons.

The animal was first noticed running down the road by Mr. Barons, senior, about 10 o'clock on Sunday morning. A few minutes later he heard a noise in his yard, and on going out saw a wild-eyed looking dog, with foam all over its face, chasing his dog around. As soon as Mr. Barons went out the dog made for him and snapped at his legs, but he kicked it so hard that it ran away and out of the yard down the road.

Dashing into the yard of Walter McKellar it bit his dog several times and then rushed on through the village. It is known that the dogs of Walter McKellar, Charles Linton and Alvin Jones were bitten. It is feared that many other dogs but as very few people were out, owing to the early hour, it is not known definitely just how many animals suffered.

It was not until nearly 5 o'clock that the animal was seen again, and the people gathered to chase the mad dog. The animal was located near the outskirts of the village and was surrounded. Elmer Barons, who had been watching the dog, fired and the animal fell dead.

It is apparently a mongrel, rather undersized and its face and mouth were covered with foam. Soon after the dog of Mr. McKellar was shot, and the other canines which it was known were bitten were tied up securely. The authorities were communicated with and notified the department. In the meantime the greatest fear prevails, as it is very likely that man animals came in contact with the rabid dog and may develop it later.

The reduction of duty on a number of articles, and its total abolition on others, just announced by the Dominion Government, amounts to very little, according to manufacturers and dealers in the city. They are interested in a number of the articles, but will not profit greatly.

"The reduction in the duty on rattan and reed work will not affect us very much," said Mr. Norman Keene, of the Ontario Furniture Company. "There will be little difference so far as I can see at this time."

"We cannot touch that material at all," said the manager of the Hosiery Company, when asked about the reduction of duties on materials to be used for imitation silk hose. "Some manufacturers use it, but the reduction in the duty will not amount to much."

Kodaks and their parts are practically all manufactured in Canada at the present time," said Mr. J. H. Back. "The reduction in the duty will make any appreciable difference, except possibly on a few English lines, and not even these to any great degree."

"The reduction of duty on hard rubber strips must be to assist some particular manufacturer," said Mr. Philip Pocock, of the Canada Rubber Company, of Merrilton, Ont. "It certainly does not help the general rubber trade."

"The reduction of the duty on paper matting will help us some," said Mr. A. E. Reason, of H. T. Reason & Co., of London. "The duty on paper matting is very high, and we will receive some benefit from the cut."

Mr. Perley's Appointment Makes Unique Incident in Canadian History.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ottawa, Ont., June 17.—The appointment of Hon. George Perley as acting prime minister during the absence of Hon. R. L. Borden, who is now in Nova Scotia, and is shortly going to England, provides Canada with its first millionaire head and its first American-born prime minister.

Mr. Perley has been taken out of British naturalization papers. He had taken out naturalization papers in Canada, but he would be regarded as a British subject only in Canada. If he went to England, his Canadian naturalization would be void.

The incident is unique in Canadian history. The only other time a Canadian-born man has been appointed prime minister was when Sir John A. Macdonald was appointed in 1867.

Mr. Perley is a man of great ability and has been a member of the cabinet for many years. He is a native of Nova Scotia and has been a member of the cabinet since 1906.

His appointment as prime minister is a great honor and a great responsibility. He will be expected to lead the government through the coming year.

[Canadian Press.] Chicago, June 17.—Roosevelt and Taft leaders, after a practically sleepless night, today staked final hands in their bitter struggle, with less than 24 hours before the gavel falls at the Coliseum for the final evening of the Republican national convention tomorrow.

Prominent men from many states were subjected to conference-room interviews of a type known in political circles as the "third degree" under order of the day and cold as the granite blocks that pave Chicago's streets.

Leaders whose lives have been spent in the "game" brought into play very little known to modern politics in their almost frantic efforts to swing the balance to Col. Roosevelt or to President Taft. Men who were doggedly standing their ground were told what might happen to them, not only this year or next, but four years from now, unless they agreed to the programmes mapped out by the leaders.

No Place For Weak. It was no place for the weak. Keen eyes and trained ears searched for the first signs of panic or a break at any point, and as the lines were tightened to the last notch, those who appeared to waver even in slight degree were subjected to a merciless fire.

Running through it all was the constantly recurring fact of the presence of Col. Roosevelt, himself leading his own fight.

It was a question, in final analysis, as the day wore on, of whether the Republican party is bigger than its temporary body, the national committee, or whether it is bigger than any individual candidate.

The Situation. Summarized tersely, the situation is whether the Republican "elephant" will respond to the vigorous digs of either of two drivers, one ordering it to the left and the other commanding it to the right, or whether it will twist its trunk about each of the drivers in turn and hurt them aside to go its own way.

There were indications today that the last contingency is not at all impossible. In this connection it became apparent that the division of delegates between Col. Roosevelt and President Taft on the question of the nomination for chief of state on Tuesday was shown plainly by the attitude of the Virginia delegation. Although practically all for the renomination of President Taft, nine of the Virginia delegates declared they would vote to overturn the action of the national committee in seating Taft delegates over Roosevelt delegates from California, Texas and Washington.

Roosevelt's Plan. This sentiment among arriving delegates was seized upon by Col. Roosevelt and his advisers, who have been determined to break down Taft's strength in the convention through the medium of preliminary ballots.

The Roosevelt managers purpose to focus the fight on the immediate convention. He has been called to order, by precipitating a roll call, in which only those delegates whose seats are undebated by Col. Roosevelt shall vote.

The Roosevelt men expect to achieve their end by demanding a roll call on the temporary chairmanship on the very first question that comes up before the convention. Then it is planned to have Governor Johnson, of California, cast the twenty-five votes secured by the temporary chairmanship, action by Governor Johnson, it is expected, will be objected to by the two Taft delegates from the fourth California district.

This juncture will be grasped by the Roosevelt floor leader as the one upon which to get the "expurgated" vote of delegates. The floor leader will move at once that the national committee be re-elected, and that a substitute, including the seventy or eighty delegates claimed by Col. Roosevelt, be adopted.

In this submitting the matter of the delegates to the convention on the question of the delegates affected by the contests could vote on the question, and the Roosevelt men believe that such a roll would give them the upper hand in the organization of the convention.

The Storm Centre. Victor Rosewater, of Nebraska, chairman of the national committee, became the storm centre of this phase of the fight as soon as the plans of the Roosevelt leaders were perfected last night. In his capacity as chairman, Mr. Rosewater will call the convention to order and will decide whether to entertain or refuse the motion of the Roosevelt men to consider a second list of delegates.

The Roosevelt plan is revolutionary, and Mr. Rosewater may be subjected to a severe test. He will be asked to entertain the motion, which, usually, would not come up for consideration before Wednesday.

Mr. Rosewater conferred with Col. Roosevelt in person regarding this question, and others late last night, but is said to have declined to give an answer until he had further time in which to consider the matter.

The chairman held a conference with other members of the national committee today, and it is said that the Roosevelt plan met with stubborn opposition. Members of the committee were reported to have insisted that the committee in relation to temporary organization.

Unless the Roosevelt leaders get this vote passed at once it is said they plan to force the issue further by immediately moving the nomination of Col. Roosevelt, and attempting to hold a convention of their own within the convention hall.

Fear a Riot. Fully aware of the gravity of these developments, the Taft managers and members of the national committee favored to the President held a conference in efforts to evolve methods of blocking the scheme summarily. Fears for the order of the convention were freely expressed, and predictions of serious trouble were made frequently during the day. Officers in charge of the convention management extended the police arm.

SUNDAY SCHOOL HELD ITS ANNIVERSARY

Celebration Held in the Hyatt Avenue Church on Sunday.

The Sunday school of Hyatt Avenue Methodist Church celebrated its anniversary on Sunday with appropriate services. Rev. F. L. Farewell, B.A., of Toronto, field secretary of Sunday schools and young people's societies was in the pulpit, and preached in the morning and evening, and addressed an open session of the school in the afternoon. In his morning sermon Mr. Farewell spoke of the four agencies that today ought to stand for the conservation of the youth of our land, viz.: The home, the public school, the church or Sunday school, and the state. Of these the home is fundamental, but owing to the tendency of the home to throw off its God-given responsibility in the religious training of childhood, the work of the Sunday school was thereby made pre-eminent. It is important, convincing evidence was produced to show that the adolescent period was the crisis period, the period of habit-forming and character-building, the time when boys and girls choose their life vocation, when the forces of evil are strongest to destroy them. Youth is also the natural period for conversion.

The retiring pastor, Rev. J. W. Baird, will preach his farewell sermon next Sunday, before removing to his new charge in Mitchell.
