Whitman the All-Round Strong Player and His Com panions.

Schedule of Matches Arranged for the Tournament in Victoria.

The schedule of matches in the twoday tennis tourney on the Belcher street courts of the V. L. T. C. next Monday and Tuesday was completed yesterday, and shows a care in preparation that is highly creditable to the hard-working committee. It is as below:

MONDAY. 10:30 a.m.—J. F. Foulkes vs. Davis.

11:15 a.m.—Johnston and Pooley vs. Whitman and Wright.

12 noon.—A. T. Goward vs. Ward.

12:40 p.m.—A. D. Severs vs. Wright.

2 p.m.—Mailcolm and Talbot (Vancouver) vs.

Davis and Ward.

3 p.m.—Powell vs. Wright.

4 p.m.—Whitman vs. Davis.

5 p.m.—Foulkes vs. Ward. TUESDAY.

10:30 a.m.—Talbot vs. Wright. 11:15 a.m.—A. T. Goward vs. Whitman. 12 noon.—Severs and Powell vs. Davis and 12:45 p.m.—Johnston vs. Wright. 2:15 p.m.—Foulkes and Goward vs. Ward

4 p.m.—Whitman vs. Foulkes.

p.m.—Ward vs. Davis.

The Eastern team, it may be noted, have just completed a very interesting round-robin tournament at Hotel Del Monte, California, against the four strongest players of the state, the Hardy and the Whitney brothers, and it is now a settled fact that the Easterners entirely outclass the Californians, as they won fourteen out of sixteen matches.

Whitman and Davis, the two best men in the country, bowled over the Cali-fornians one after another, each winning his four games, and Ward and Wright followed suit with three of the Westerners, but found that they had run up against a stone wall in the person of Sumner Hardy. This brilliant young Californian distinguished himself not only by beating Ward and Wright in three straight sets, but by giving Davis the hardest kind of a five-set match, and also playing the champion Whitman four close and exciting sets, each of which was in doubt until the end.

place; in 1898 and this year he will rank second. While the progress of the other two members of the team, Ward and Beales Wright, has been rapid, they have not kept pace with Davis, whom they equalled in 1897. In 1898 Ward reached twelfth place, and Wright sixteenth, and their play this year will put them much higher.

Beales Wright must be about the age of Young Russel, of Seattle, as they of Young Russel, of Seattle, as they

Now, the association may be only composed of miners, but it has not the less a right to be treated courteously by one who is, after all, only a public servant. The language used was a direct insult to the miners and shows an almost brutal indifference to their sufferings, which have almost entirely been caused by the wrong-doing of government officials.

Mr. Graham may rest assured that the B. M. P. It will also make it its special business to know everything about the appropriations.

Already the government has done its best in the Atlin district to alienate almost the entire body of its supporters, in which Mr. Graham has also aided materially. Probably this warning may be unheeded, under the idea that the writer belongs to "our friend the enemy." Had I been a Conservative my attitude would be looked upon as correct, but it is only from a strong sense of duty that a staunch Liberal could write as I have done. I have nothing to gain by it, but I could never condone the faults of either party, no matter which may be in power. The interests of the province are more than the interests of party.

Grand Forks, Sept. 10.-(Special)-From a full account of the games it Charles Mullen was to-day committed conaries Mullen was to-day committed for trial on a charge of arson in connectively different styles of play. Whitman seems to have no special stroke, but plays all strokes equally well. He is tall, and of big, athletic frame, and his great reach, and all-round proficiency, combined with steadiness, accuracy and power, make it impossible to beat him.

Ward's style is entirely different from that of either of these. He combined accuracy in placing, with moderate speed, and his lobbing is perfect. Beales C. Wright, the gamiest of the team, is like Whitman, good, all-round, and plays a brilliant but steady game.

He was afraid that a mistake had been made with respect to the hack stand on Government street, north of Johnson. However, it would be well to give the law a fair trial.

Ald. Humphrey's motion was then read, rescinding a former grant of the council of $150 towards the cost of publishing a pamphlet descriptive of the southern portion of Vancouver Island, and which was intended for advertising purposes in Great Britain.

The reason given was that the pamphlet will not be issued this year. The motion carried.

The latest London reports of the grain crop the world over are not specially encouraging. There is not likely to be a shortage, but the margin to go and come will be small. Russian crops are looking better than was expected, but nothing appears to be available for export as yet. On the whole, the outlook seems to be that breadstuffs will command a fair price during the coming winter. This will be due in part to the amount of the crop, and in part to the increased consumption, owing to the greater ability of people to buy, for not in a long time have so many people been working at good wages as now.
