From the Mitchell Resorder, Sept 8. From the Mitchell Resorder, Sept 8. We assume full responsibility for the article under the above heading which ap-peared last week in our colums, refering to the Toronto World, and which seems so much to have disturbed our contemporary's equanimity. The article in question was written in this office, without any prompt-ing from Toronto er elsewhere. We sent proof copies of the article early in the week to four or fire of our friends, including the papers mentioned by the World in its issue of Monday last. The latter, it seems, though fit to publish it. We have no ob-scion. As to the article, we are prepared to defaul the statements made in it. We believe them to be true. If there be any liasehood in them, let the World ahow it. Up to this writing it has not done so. From the Milten Champion, Sept. 7. when the people at large prosper.

The equinimity of the Toronto World was greatly disturbed by an editorial which ap-peared under the above title in our col-umns last week, which editorial it calls a disreputable slander and which, it says, it is well able to refute, and, by so deing, to vindicate its position. Well ! Although a full week has since passed away, it has made mo such attempt which conduct, con-sidering peruliar. If The World is able to vindi-ent its moeilion, let it do so. From the Statesman Bowmenville, Sept. 7, Befere leaving on our trip to Mamitoba we made arrangements with an experienced jeurnalist for the supply of editorial matter for the Statesman during our absence, believing that nothing would be written that we could not endorse. To our askon-ishment and regret, however, we learned before reaching home that a vicious attack had been made in the solitorial colume of the Statesman of the 1st inst., on the Tore Statesman of the 1st mate, ou our readers to World. We beg to say to our readers id to the enterprising publishers of the Yorld that we do not endorse the senti-cold expressed in the article in question. e exceedingly regret that the States hould have been the medium through man should have been the medium three which such an unjust and uncalled attack gained publicity.

The Toronto World has got some of our The Toronto World has got some of our local journals "on the hip," and it serves them right. The World thinks it rather singular that an article condemnatory of the dominion elections should appear simulta-neously, word for word, in papers published as far apart as Mitchell is from Milton and Bowmanville. "The only one-cent morn-ing" cannot see through the mystery, and can only look upon it as "an attempt to stab the World" by means of some combined or

New es will be built in all directions. New set and villages will spring up in the demess, and the poor will have plenty work at fair wages, and will be able to y plenty of food with their wages. The perioan farmer will not gets so good a mpetus to every branch of business. New ities and villages will spring up in the wilderness, and the poor will have plenty of work at fair wages, and will be able to buy plenty of food with their wages. The States are no longer able to argue as convincingly as they did one hundred year rican farmer will not get so good a price for his products, and will have to pay a round price to the railroad to get them to market, but he cannot fail to prosper

The Spectator is again breaking its neck with jealousy over Toronto. It says " the local fair now in progress at Toronto is a failure as an exhibition." The only possible answer is to stigmatize this statement as a lie pure and simple. The fair is not local one, but has exhibits from every section of the dominion, except the far away provinces of British Columbia and Prince Edward Island, and quite a number from the States. With the live stock and agricultural products on exhibition this week, it will hold its own with any exhibition that may follow it in Canada this year. Even the Hamilton Central fair people thought it good enough to send down a deputation to get a few points for their show, which we hope will be as big a success as ours is bound to be, although it will not be half the size. We are sorry for the Spec. that its view of Toronto and anything connected with this city is obstructed by the green eyed monster, but so it is and nothing can direct its sight to the point of justice and truth, when we are concerned, militia officer under arrest at Ottawa last week has given rise to much comment in military circles and no less severe criticism The whole thing turns on the question a to whether the major-general had author-ity to do what he did. He was in mufti and merely a spectator of the proceedings and the prevailing opinion is that he exceeded his duty. This is not the first time that Major-General Luard has insulted officers in public, and if he is allowed to continue it there will surely be a large defection from the service of men who have given much time and considerable money for the benefit of our Canadian volunteers. The case has given rise to no small amount of unpleasantness and discontent in the But as long as Canadians are subservient enough to have their major-generals and other functionaries sent out to them from England so long may they expect the said functionaries to treat them as the colonists that there are.

COLONIZATION BOADS. The Hamilton Spectator thinks it is unfair to the people of this province that their money should be expended on colonization roads where it can benefit only the few residents of that special locality. The Bobcaygeon Independent makes a sufficient answer. It says that the principle involved in this contention is sound but pared with the everlasting ding that aven sick people

In many points we differ in opinion from the World bat are always willing to pay tribute to real merit, and The World is by a long odds the spiciest and liveliest daily publication in this province. It is independent in the true sense of the word, and that is more than can be said for the other so-called in-dependent parers published in the domin-ion, while on its staff of contributors are the names of some of the best thinkers of our country. After the admission of the editor of the Recorder and of his echo, the Champion, an answer to their charges is unnecessary Besides we do not consider that it is the duty of anyone to answer charges that are merely fung out and not supported. When the two worthies, or the one worthy, makes out a case we will give consideration to it ; but if any man is to be expected to prove he did not steal sheep because some one said he did there would be little time left for the business of life. When the editor that The World is "run by Yankee ing from the Globe headings one event is fenians" and that "it is conducted on of as much importance as the other.

The London Times, reviewing M. Estienne's report, congratu-lates the country on the cheap abundance in store for all, and remarks that never before since these reports began was there a season in which the intelligence was so unifermly favorable all over the northern hemisphere. While man-kind generally have reason to rejoice at the prospect of cheap food, there are those who are so peculiarly situated as to look won are so peculiarly situated as to look mon this abundance as a calamity. The English farmer will groan at the beggarly price he will get for his hard-earned crops when rivaled by this plethora of food from every country on the globe. The wretched Trish cottier, who has wrung a few pota-toes from the rocks of Kerry or Sligo, and starved himself to feed a pig into a mar-betele e condition, will curse this foreign starved himself to feed a pig into a marketable condition, will curse this foreign abundance when he finds that the pig will not bring enough to pay the rent.
