THE GREAT SHOW OF DOGS

CROWDS OF VISITORS AT THE PA-

completion of the Prize List—Award of Special Prizes—Notes and Incidents. Old Sol has very generously come to the assistance of the association by providing splendid weather for the show. Yesterday he poured his genial rays down over the city, which had the effect of drawing farge crowds of visitors to the pavilion, there being fully six thousand paid admissions during the day and night. The Hamilton paper the's pronounced the exhibition a financial failure was a little too previous. The prospects of a balance on the right side of the ledger are favorable. This, the closing day, will be the best day of the lot to see the dogs.

. The prize winners will be paraded on the stage this afternoon and to-night. No one should miss the opportunity of visiting the finest bench show that Canada has yet pro-

The judging was completed yesterday by W. Hendrie, Hamilton, James Watson, New York, and John Davidson, Munroe, Mich. The remainder of the way of the pro-W. Hendrie, Hamilton, James Watson, New York, and John Davidson, Munroe, Mich. The remainder of the prize list is appended, with the exception of a few sections in the special list, which are still under consideration. London occupies front place in the prize list, the kennels from the Forest city having captured most prizes in the general and special lists.

The aisles were crowded with visitors yesterday afternoon and last night. Most of the dogs. were on their good behavior, but a few were inclined to be vicious. A St. Bernard, entered by H. S. Alexander of Avenue street, bit a Jarvis street young lady on the hand, in flicting a painful wound. Its kennel was subsequently barried up, but this precaution should have been taken previously, as the dog was snarling more or less all fay. When the doors were opened early in the morning it was discovered that a fine St. Bernard, the property of Dr. James White of Hamilton, was missing. It was in its kennel near the outer door when the pavilion was closed Wednesday night. How it disappeared is a mystery, but it either escaped or was stolen. During the day a setter managed to gain its liberty, having slipped out of its collar and skedaddled for all it was worth. It has not yet been captured. With two exceptions the prize list published in The World yesterday was correct. T. J. Gormiey's Jack was decided with a "c' in the class of fox terrier dogs, whereas it was John Massey's Chico which carried off this honor. It was Mollie May and not Nellie May that took first in the Collector Patton has a few words to say members of the association that he unnecessarily delayed certain entries in the customs department. He was not the cause of any delay, but on the other hand assured the association's officers who had this matter in hand, that he would take extra pains to pass all dogs from the United States through as quickly as possible. This Mr. Patton claims to have done, and if there was any delay it was unknown to him. was any delay it was unknown to him. From all that can be learned it looks as if

MR. COSTIGAN AGAIN MAKES AN EXHIBITION OF HIMSELF.

Private Member Explains a Govern-mental Measure—The Cabinet's Land Policy.

Special Despatch to The World. OTTAWA, March 27 .- In the house of ommons to-day Mr. Somerville (Brant) lirected attention to the imperfect charac er of a certain return brought down by the minister of militia in reference to tents, charging that the information asked for had been purposely suppressed. Mr. Caron, who seemed angry and excited, answered that the opposition were bound to accept such information as he hose to give them. Sir Richard Cartwright said that Mr. omerville was quite within his right in calling attention to the partial character of the returns presented. He rebuked Mr. Caron for his insolent tone. The following bills were read a third ime and passed: An act respecting fortifications and miltary buildings.

An act respecting the sale of coal, as mended in committee of the whole. An act to amend the acts respecting the spection of gas and gas metres. An act to amend an act respecting certi ficates of masters and mates of ships and the seamen's act, 1873. An act to amend the weights and measures act of 1879. An act for giving effect to an agreement nerein mentioned between the government of the dominion and that of Nova Scotia. An act to amend the act respecting en uiries and investigations into shipwrecks and other matters as to the power of the inister of marine and fisheries in certain ases reported to him under it. When Mr. Costigan moved the second dulteration of food and drugs, Mr. Leage made a long speech in French explaining the proposed amendments and pointng out the necessity for such provisions. Mr. Blake enquired whether the minster was not going to explain his bill. Mr. Costigan thought the explanations given by Mr. Lesage were sufficient. Mr. Blake said it was not usual for private members to explain government measures, but if the minister would repeat Mr.

Mr. Blake-That sounds very like the bill itself. It is commentary or explanation that is asked for. Mr. Costigan then sat down. The Speaker-Shall the motion be adopted?

Mr. Mackenzie-What is the motion? The Speaker-That the bill be read a second time. After recess, on the motion that the ouse go into committee of supply,

Mr. Cameron (Huron) moved an amendment in reference to the government's Northwest land policy. He quoted from the memorial of the Manitoba government, the minutes of the Northwest council, and the resolutions of the farmers' conventions to show that the complaints of the people of the Northwest with respect to land, regulations, railway legislation and exorbitant customs duties were well founded. The discontent that had been produced by the government's policy must tend to re- of three days in jail for trespassing on tard emigration to the Northwest. After speaking for one hour and a half he moved that the house go into committee to consider means of remedying the grievances of the people of Manitoba and the Northwest, Sir Charles Tupper charged that if Mr. Cameron were sincere, he would have given notice of his resolution and not have made a question of want of confidence in the government. The object of the opposition was to excite discontent in the Northwest. Sir Richard Cartwright said the people of Manitoba and the Northwest had good reason to be dissatisfied. By the exercise of the veto power they had been deprived of the common rights of freemen, and by the government's land policy thousands of intelligent Canadians had been driven to seek homes in the United States.

Messrs. Watson, Mills and Mackenzie followed. Shortly before midnight the members were called in and Mr. Cameron's amendment was lost by 58 to 116. The house then went into committee or supply and passed some public works and militia

SIR JOHN AND THE BLEUS. Revival of the Report that Mr. Blake has Made an Alliance: Ottawa, March 26. — Parliamentary circles here are excited over rumors of a projected alliance between Mr. Blake and the Quebec bleus, or a section of that party. The thing is not altogether new, for there have been whispers of it ever since parliament opened. But since Mr. Blake's speech against the orange bill these rumors have been gaining coherence. and are now very positively repeated.

Where there is smoke there must be fire, so it is said, and it is pretty generally believed here that Mr. Blake has been striking a friendly attitude towards the Quebec bleus; nay, more, that this has been the principal cause of the troubles which Sir John has had recently with the bleus aforesaid. But no one, those in inside circles excepted, appears yet to have suspected where and what the hid-den hand in the whole business is. The Grand Trunk, so say the conservatives, is the "hidden hand." That corporation has made itself "solid" with a large number of Quebec members, and is using them to frighten Sir John into submission. Mr. Blake is credited with being a party consenting, if not himself the suggester and originator of the movement. But where Sir John has the pull on the Frenchman is that Mr. Blake can hardly expect to be sustained if he offers Quebec better terms than Sir John proposes. Sir John, it is said, has threatened to appeal to the people in a general election if the French Canadians do not moderate their demands. Mr. Girouard, M.P. for Jacques Cartier, was in Montreal on Tuesday, and was eagerly questioned as to the position of affairs at Ottawa. He made no secret of his opinion that a storm was brewing among the members of the house of commons. It appears to be regarded by his friends as almost inevitable that Mr. Chapleau will soon take his departure eading of the bill for the prevention of from the cabinet, where his ideas have been so overborne by those of Sir Hector Lan

In Monday's Le Canadien it is asserted that that journal never belonged to Sir Hector Langevin, but that Mr. Tarte acquired it from Mr. Blumhart ten years ago ; also, that Mr. Senecal never lent money to Mr. Tarte or the proprietors of Le Canadien and L'Evenement. It says Lesage's speech in English he would be of Lower Canada, and Mr. Blake, adding, "We believe in that union because our of January last to the present time. Mr. Costigan then proceeded to read the population is in sympathy with Mr. Blake Mr. Dwight was sworn. He said he there figures in the first rank provincial autonomy."

THE PARKDALE SUBWAY.

The Bill Legalizing the Village Agreemen With the Railways Thrown Out.

OTTAWA, March 27 .- In the railway com mittee this morning the bill to legalize the agreement between the village of Parkdale Mr. Mackenzie-It has only been partly and certain railway companies respecting the construction of the Queen street subthe construction of the Queen street sub-way was taken up. Mr. Mackenzie ob-jected to the passage of the bill on the ground that the subject matter came wholly within the jurisdiction of the pro-vincial legislature. It was simply a mat-ter of contract between municipalities of Parkdale, of the city of Toronto, and the Parkdale, of the city of Toronto, and the various railway companies concerned. Sir Charles Tupper said that Mr. Mackenzie's opinions were concurred in by the minister of justice. Mr. Sproule said that the members representing the city of Toronto favored the bill. Mr. Mackenzie remarked that two of the most important wards in Toronto were included in his constituency. The preamble of the bill was declared lost.

Hamilton, March 27 .- William H. Dunan, aged 12, son of Mr. James A. Duncan of Glanford, farmer, merchant and postmaster at Tyneside, started to school in master at Tyneside, started to school in good health about 8 o'clock yesterday morning. After lying about three hours on the road a quarter of a mile from his home he was found by Arthur W. Ashbaugh, an old schoolmate, who with help had him taken home. The lad was the only son and eldest in the family. Dr. Dingwall was of opinion that death might have resulted through the bursting of a blood vessel or rupture in the brain, as the symptoms about the eye indicated.

OTTAWA, March 27 .- An instance of the nisery caused by untruthful immigration agents is given in the Free Press, where a reporter found an Irishwoman half starved and frozen, who stated that her husband and family were living in comfort in Ire-land, and were induced by Capt. Collins, land, and were induced by Capt. Collins, an immigration agent, to come to Canada, and told they could make $1.50 a day from the time they landed. The husband has only had two months' work since last July, and is not a drinking man. The family have been living in the most missable ondition, on charity.

Every One His Own Landlord. LONDON, March 27 .- At a meeting at Stepney last night Earl Carnarvon pointed out the advantages of emigration to Canada. In the dominion, he said, nearly every one is his own landlord; hence there awery one is his own faintford, hence there is general prosperity and contentedness among the inhabitants. There is an admirable chance for farmers of small capital who, hewever, must be stout-hearted, courageous and persevering. The agriculturist succeeds best in Canada.

AGAINST THE STREET RAILWAY. Sergeant Heakes Gets $3000 and Captai

The case of Quarter-master Sergeant Heakes and Capt. Delamere to recover damages for injuries received on account of the negligence of the Toronto street railway company was continued before Chief Justice Hagarty and a jury yesterday. Capt. Delamere's horse was struck by a street car while the Queen's Own were returning home from Garrison common Nov. 8. He was thrown with violence to the ground and sustained injuries which kept him in the house eighteen days and incapacitated him from work all winter. Sergeant Heakes was struck by Capt. Delamere's horse and knocked down. He was injured internally and has been unable to continue his occupation since that affair. About a dozen other witnesses gave evidence as to the rate the car was that affair. About a dozen other witnesses gave evidence as to the rate the car was going, and the situation of the plaintiffs.

Most of the witnesses stated that the car horse was going at a rate faster than a walk, while some said it was going at a galop part of the time. All agreed that the horses ridden by Dr. Strange and Capt.

Delamere were struck by the street car horse or the car.

Delamere were struck by the street car horse or the car.

The chief evidence for the defence was that of Taylor, the driver of the street car. He said that he had passed through the Royal Grenadiers, and came up to a crowd of citizens between this corps and the Queen's Own. He got the car through this crowd all right. There were some carriages on both sides of the track before he reached the grenadiers. Witness asked some members of the Queen's Own to divide and let the car pass. They refused, and said they had the right of way and were going to keep it. The car was beand said they had the right of way and were going to keep it. The car was behind time, and he wanted to lose as little time as possible. Witness saw captain Delamere's horse rearing, before he came near the horses. The car remained behind the regiment all the way down. The horse ridden by Delamere backed up against the street car after witness had stopped the car. The car never struck the horse. Dr. Strange's horse was knocked against the car by Captain Delamere's horse, which was very fractious.

The judge charged in favor of plaintiffs. At 7 o'clock the jury brought in a verdict of $3000 for Sergt. Heakes and $1000 for Capt. Delamere.

The magistrate—I am not sure that I can. You will show me that I have authority. Then a long discussion followed, Mr. Irving contending that his worship had the necessary power. He instructed Mr. Fenton to serve the witness with a subpœna from the crown officer, calling upon him to produce the desired messages. The summons was signed by Wm. B. Heward, and was returnable this afternoon.

Under this subpœna Mr. Dwight will have to produce the telegrams this morning at 11 or be committed. He will probably come down off the high pedestal.

A SIX CENT FINE.

Salvationists Go to Jail Rather Than Pay It.
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., March 27.—The salvation army, arrested on complaint of C. S. Morey, for creating a nuisance by marching through the streets with drum-and tamborines and frightening horses, were fined 6 cents and costs in the police court this morning. A friend paid for three young men, but Capt. Martin and two women refused the proposed aid, and went to jail for eight days. It is con-trary to their principles to pay a fine.

OUR FIRE PROTECTION

ALFRED PERRY'S REPORT ON ITS WEAK POINTS.

The Police Slow in Giving Alarms—Not More Pressure, But Larger Mains—A Salvage Corps Recommended—Unne-

Alfred Perry of Montreal has made his report to the board of fire underwriters in the water supply and fire appliances of Toronto. The following are some of the sa-ient points contained in it. The city depends for protection police, the electric alarm, the fire appliances and firemen, and the water supply. As to the police: Of two tests made, ought to be as active in preventing fires as they are in preventing orime.

The police of a district ought to repair at once to a fire and take ropes with them to bar the crowd. They should be active te save property, prevent robbery, protect the hose. But their great function is to discover fires at the earliest possible moment and give the alarm.

Mr. Perry denounces the absurdity of maintaining two heads of the fire department. The head of the department ought to be in the city hall, from which he should have telephone communication with the

to be in the city hall, from which he should have telephone communication with the fire stations, the pumping house, the police, etc. He should have a water guage in his office showing the pressure, and it should be his duty to report whenever he observes the pressure to be insufficient.

The electric alarm is old-fashioned and

The electric alarm is old-fashioned and ought to be reconstructed. The circuits ought to be increased.

The present hook and ladder ought to be substituted with a Skinner or Hayes truck, which are lighter and much more efficient. Of the Maltese Cross subber hose now in use there is no occasion for fear. The quantity in stock and ordered will be sufficient for the requirements of the city.

The hose ought to be better protected from wheels and horses passing over it.

The hose reels are too large and too clumsy. Lighter ones ought to be substituted. Three hundred and fifty feet ought to be enough on each reel.

Leather branches are preferable to the metal ones now used.

The three steam engines owned by the metal ones now used.

The three steam engines owned by the city are of little use. Of steam fire engines Mr. Perry says: "I attach little importance to this branch of the service of a fire organization, when you have, as in Toronto, the hydrants and water supply at your command instantaneously, and in the immediate vieinity of any fire."

There ought to be a salvage corps. The equipment would cost $1698 and the annual maintenance $3250.

Chemical engines do not count for much.

The central station ought to be reconstructed and have four distinct sections; a reel, a ladder truck, a steam fire engine a reel, a ladder truck, a steam fire engine and a salvage corps.

As to the water supply; one serious cause of trouble is the presence of six inch pipes where there should be 12 inch pipes.

The pumping power is ample, but unless larger supply pipes are used the pumping power is unavailable.

There should be a 12 inch pipe on the bay side of the esplanade with suitable hydrants to protect elevators, wharfs, etc.

Toronto is better supplied with hydrants than any other city Mr. Perry has seen. But they ought to be better inspected.

There is a great waste of water in the service pipes in houses being left open. It ought to be stopped.

The Amount Required This Year for The board of works yesterday confirmed the city engineer's estimates for the year as follows:

This eminent tragedian appears at the Grand Thursday, Friday and Saturday ext in Richard III, Hamlet, Lady of Lyons, and Julius Cæsar. Mr. Hayden has surrounded Mr. Keene this year with a very strong company, including Miss Anna Story, Miss Constance Hambly and Mr. Newton Gotthold, names of themselves almost sufficient to charm with. Mr. Townsend, agent for Mr. Keene, is now here and says the star has been doing a great business this season. At Niblo's, New York, he created a sensation.

THE POODLE'S ADDRESS.

An interesting incident occurred at the dog general report of proceedings. After the awarding of prizes was completed the favorite poodle advanced to the front of the stage and elivered the following poetic and soul-stiring stanzas, the orchestra giving selections during the recital:

I am a little poodle dog, I come from first-prize parents-An ancient family, too.

I sleep on downy pillows I dine on tit-bits fine. And o'er all other poodle

I'm inclined to think I shine I am petted by the ladies, Who on my shape go mad And rave about my soulful eyes

In fact I'm such a favorise I'm raising quite a feud;
For ladies far prefer me
To the puppy called the dude.
