For the Standard.

Mr. Editors,

We feel much obliged to the worthy, distinterested people of Saint Andrews, for the sympathy expressed by them, through the modium of your valuable paper, towards us the poor, bringhted, folk of Saint Stephen, and the out-parishes of Saint David, and Saint James; in regard to the suicidal act (as they think) we contemplated committing in the attempt we are making, through a legitimate source, that of petition, to separate ourselves from the usurped thraidom under which they have held us in subjection for years pest; and to erect ourselves into a separate and discovery and discovered and to erect ourselves into a separate and discovery and discovered and to erect ourselves into a separate and discovery and discovered and answered the objections of the opposers of the neasure we have pathizers on the Canadian frontier; and just in proportion as our unfortunate Canadian brethren there feel obliged to them, do we, the James, Saint Stephen, and St. David, would sure in the petition before alluded to Interest there feel obliged to them, do we, the unfortunate, deluded, yet independent inhabitants of Saint Stephen, Saint David, and Saint James, Seel obliged to our sympathising neighbours of Saint Andrews.

Their commisseration and sympathy on this inclancholy occasion is certainly a new way of showing their opposition to a measure way of showing their opposition to a measure of the saint David, would have to supply out of their pockets, the expense of building a Jail, a Court Honse, a Register's office, and other public buildings, a further enumeration on my part would appear to be almost a work of supererogation, but as perhaps many have not had an opportunity of seeing the petition I will briefly state rives of Sheriff, Jailar, Clerk of the Peace, and other public officers?"

We number nearly seven thousand inhabitions of the proposition to a measure of the public officers?

such great indifference as he professes !

That he is an inhabitant of the Gounty, is as easily removed as the others. It is true in and counthbuse, are but the minor expension and must necessarily incur some expense in the County of Chalotte, praying that the great out of debt for the Bay duiding the hardly set out of debt for the Bay duiding the saction of the supposed to the south as, as stamper to the subject upon which he as attempted to write!

He never experienced the hardship and informed, actually done so, and more than half the sum necessary for such purpose has more expensed as a Juror, already been subscribed. But even suppose Lances; in regard to the suicidal act (as they think) we contemplate committing in the attempt we are making, through a legitimate source, that of petition, to separate ourselves from the usurped thraidom under which they have held as in subjection for years past; and to recet ourselves into a separate and distinct County.

In this their, benefolent design, we think they are only equalled by the American sympathizers on the Canadian frontier; and just in proportion as our enfortunate Canadian brethren there feel obliged to them, do we, the way of showing their opposition to a measure against which they have not as yet, nor cannot show any valid reasons; and in which, notwithstanding the load of "misery," as is so kindly intimated will be entailed upon us, we hope, and shall endeavour to succeed.

It is verily wise policy in them to adopt such a course as this, as they well know, no other world have availed them. They think is an axis of the County were lection may be added to the reaction of the reace, and the reace, and the reace, and the public officers!"

As to the first objection, the last election cannot show any valid reasons; and in which, is an answer to it. There were no "confusion, jealousies, and hearthurnings" attended that, and why should it necessarily follow another election? But even supposing it did? What then? Is that a solid reason to urge shall be the shire-town. Its nearness to the out-parish, so it Saint David and Saint James should make it to be preferred to Saint Andby suggesting imaginary evils and difficulties, and appealing to the passions and feelings of the imbabitants of Saint David and St. James, now occurs: But it does not necessarily for the translation of those Parishes, towards us the imabitants of Saint Stephen; but their states of those Parishes, towards us the translation would occurs are already from the states of Saint Stephen; but their states of those Parishes, towards us the translation would occurs are stated as the states of the states of those Parishes, towards us the states of the imagination of Saint Stephen; but their at the three Parishes that are intended to be set the country, and the Country, of recording Wills and Deeds, and sain but of a have salved and sain but of a have salved. apart, and erected into a new County, and these as one not only of an absurd and can, but of a base nature.

What! dissolve our family connections—the domestic and political link that brinds us, and insten to, and adopt the proposals or suggestions of interested strongers—inhabitants of a Parish who only regard their own self-aggrandizement, and in heart despise their country neighbors, as well as envy them their inhiertog great success?

Now, what are the reasons urged by the writer of the article in gran paper of the 22d instant, and those comprised under the editorial boad of the paper of that date, against our forming ourselves into a distinct and self-agric formation of the gentleman who wrote that article, and the base falsehood with which he commences it, and the base falsehood with which he deed, are apparent throughout the intermedding dispositions and the intermedding disposition are mended, so increasist while is already to the shire-town, and one circuit court held at Saint Andrews, could attend the circuit court, held at Saint Andrews, could attend the circuit court, held at Saint Andrews, could attend the circuit court, held at Saint Andrews, could attend the circuit court, held at Saint Andrews, could attend the circuit court, held at Saint Andrews, could attend the circuit court, held at Saint Andrews, could attend the circuit court, held at Saint Andrews, could attend the circuit court, held at Saint Andrews, could attend the circuit court, held at Saint Andrews, could attend the circuit court, held at Saint Andrews, could attend the circuit court, held at Saint Andrews, could attend the circuit court, held at Saint Andrews, could attend the circuit court, held at Saint Andrews, could attend the circuit court, held at Saint Andrews, could be analysised and hore house of many products of many products.
