

upon the products, but, as a rule, in every kind of ground they give a less abundant yield than the mangels, both in weight and volume, and they demand more cultivation and more labor in the gathering than do the latter.

Turnips and swedes are greatly in use. The turnips are about the same shape as the wild turnips, and the swede is something like the kohlrabi. The white and yellow species of this plant are raised in this country, but the yellow is considered the better; it is firmer and easier to keep in winter. Turnips and swedes are far superior, as food, to mangels and carrots. Turnips are very easy to raise; often they are sown in June. Swedes take longer to develop; they keep better, require a good soil, but contain more nutritive matter and less water than turnips. They are greatly used for cattle food, but they are not suitable for milk, on account of a strong odor they have, and they contain certain essential oils that are often found in the milk, cream and butter. The leaves are especially dangerous for dairy-cows, because they rot quickly and give forth a fearful stench of rotten cabbage.

NOTES AND NOTICES.

Electricity and the bicycle are working a revolution in the transportation of the public. The smooth wire fence having the locked uprights is working a revolution in fencing which, without some such patented contrivance would have been a serious problem before this in countries such as our own, where timber is getting scarce and dear. The Canada Fence Co. London, Ont., manufacture a really good article, which will hold stock, will not rot down nor slash and carve animals if they come against it. It is also cheap and neat. Their exhibits at the coming Toronto, London, Ottawa and other leading fairs will be interesting and instructive to visitors who have or need fences.—Farmer's Advocate.

LEMIRE

Stone & Stump Lifter

Patented 1894.

Capacity of Lifting 18,000 lbs. (WITH NO EQUAL)

Lifting and carrying stones at will, so you can take with them fences from 4 to 5 feet high. When buying this strong and durable machine, you can make your fences with big stones instead of buying spike-wire for fences. You will clear your land for the mowers and reapers. To lift a stone you make the lever work and the hooks will hold it when lifting. You can lower it in the same manner or make it fall by touching a ring fixed in the wheel. The axles of this machine are made of wood and we sell it without the wheels to those who have some from 3 to 4 inches wide. Farmer if they like may join in club to buy it. Price moderate. Cheaper... Than Hay.

Farmers find that they can RAISE STOCK WITH STRAW and HERBAGEUM cheaper and better than with hay alone. The cost of Herbageum is one cent per day for grown animals and one third of a cent for colts, calves or sheep.

It can be given... With Grain, Meal, or Slops, or in Drinking Water

TEST IT!

Chopped Barley fed with Herbageum to Stock is worth 80 cts. a bushel, and proportionately for oats, peas and wheat EIGHT cents a bushel will pay for the Herbageum.
