

Poetry.

A FATHER'S PRAYER.

BY THE REV. DR. WHITTINGTON.

At this hushed hour, when all my children sleep, Here in thy presence, gracious God, I kneel...

I ask not for them eminence or wealth— For these, in wisdom's view, are trifling toys...

This world I know is but a narrow bridge, And treacherous waters rear and foam below...

If these soft feet, which now these foathers press, Are doomed the path of ruin soon to tread...

But if some useful path before them lie, Where they may walk obedient to the laws...

And teach me, Power Supreme, in their green days, With meekest skill thy lessons to impart...

How soft they sleep, what innocent repose Rests on their eyes, from older sorrows free!
