

combined. Next in order of current importance is Europe, which is also as large as all the remaining areas of the world combined. The Caribbean, a popular sunspot destination, is third in importance, but Pacific traffic is gaining rapidly in size.

in part the fact that goods can be easily trucked to U.S. airways, or directly to destination.

Figure 2: International Traffic To and From Canada