

- c) concentration on selected areas in order to achieve and maintain international scientific/engineering credibility by contributing to the world pool of knowledge,
- d) intensive collaboration with other countries, particularly on major projects, and
- e) a strategy to ensure that adequate and properly trained manpower will be available for the needs of the Canadian program.