JUNIOR CUP WILL STAY IN EAST ELEVEN GOAL LEAD FOR U.T.S.

Varsity Schools Outclass Regina Patricias in Every Department of the Game—Pretty Combination by Toronto Boys.

Toronto has one world's hockey championship salted away. Regina Patricias, champions of western Canada, came east with a great reputation, and looked like a real club in their work-outs at the Arena. It was a different story when they trotted out against U.T.S., the Ontario title-holders, in the first game for the junior championship of the world, last night. The westerners were outclassed in every department, and went down to defeat, 14 to 3. This gives the Toronto team 11 goals to carry into the second game on Saturday.

It was the story of Tuesday night repeated. Like Siskie, two seniors from the west, the Pats had no system of attack. They were willing workers, but it was wasted effort. A slam from outside the defence, and nothing worth noting. It was not until the Pats had scored their first goal, the smallest boy on the team, that the U.T.S. boys began to show their class.

U.T.S. had the combination down to a science. They worked a pretty three-man passing game, that fooled the western defence every time. The puck-carrier drew over the pair and then passed to the wing, with a man left free to shoot. Nothing like this at the other end. Munro and Rowell smothered all attempts, and it was not until the Pats had scored their first goal, the smallest boy on the team, that the U.T.S. boys began to show their class.

Aggett had a great night for U.T.S. He was in his glory and took a great delight in worrying the Regina defence with his winging tactics. He buzzed in and out of the works all night. Aggett grabbed six goals and tied with Jeffreys for the scoring honors of the night. Jeffreys also scored twice. He rushed the net after pass for a clear shot. Munro also had a large evening. He rushed the net after time, and his passing when inside was a treat.

The whole U.T.S. team paid strict attention to the combination, and it was the kind of game that simply dazzled the Regina defence. U.T.S. scored the only goal in the opening period. They tallied two to Regina's two in the second, and ran in seven while the Pats were getting on in the last twenty minutes.

It was the same old story, a western team with plenty of speed, but without that team play that is necessary in close. Patricia had size and speed, but then fell down badly in the period. U.T.S. rushed the net after time, and his passing when inside was a treat.

On the other hand U.T.S. worked down nicely, the puck carrier waiting until he had the defence pulled over before passing. Then over went the pass and it was a clear shot, nearly every time. Aggett had the western defence dizzy with his tricky stick handling, and Munro rushed right through the works time after time. The popular play was to give Jeffreys the puck for the shot.

Dutkowski, a big, strong boy, was the chief rusher for the visitors. He tried, and his check roamed away. Munro raced again, and the defence over and gave Jeffreys a pass to let him score the first.

Aggett gave the second and last corner of the period by winging in thru the whole Patricia team, showing the puck, and then the Pats had a chance to score with little from outside. U.T.S. checked back in the first period. The Toronto team rightly earned the only two goals scored.

Opened the third period. The margin was even bigger in the second period. U.T.S. ran down the attack two and three at a time, and it went well in every time. The Ontario champions made the game sure by running in five goals. Patricia gathered up.

The margin was even bigger in the second period. U.T.S. ran down the attack two and three at a time, and it went well in every time. The Ontario champions made the game sure by running in five goals. Patricia gathered up.

Munro, Aggett and Jeffreys made the defence look foolish, and the goalies were left with three men in on top of him time after time.

No matter how hard Patricia tried, they couldn't get a scoring system working. Sullivan treated the crowd to some real goal tending by coming out to save.

Three times, when the Pats had a clear shot. Conrad was the best for the losers in this period, but couldn't do all the work. The Regina team were outclassed in every department, and went down to defeat, 14 to 3. This gives the Toronto team 11 goals to carry into the second game on Saturday.

At the city hall complimentary speeches were made by the mayor and others on the second best junior team in the O.H.A. By W. H. Gocher.

Maine was the first state in which a successful effort was made to breed the trotter. In other sections where they appeared they were considered accidents of what fanatics termed sports and those who wanted them were forced to pick them out instead of selecting them on account of their breeding. In Maine, however, this was so well known that the famous Standardbred of Boston, said that "Maine has until within a few years, brought about the trotting horse."

David Guy Has Great
Grand Circuit Record

It does not take a trotter very long to attract attention, writes W. H. Gocher, if he has enough speed and racing manners to win a few events in the Grand Circuit. This was amply demonstrated last season by David Guy, who pulled up lame at the Columbus September meeting, but who returned in 1918, and was in the line-up of the future season. This colt, turned defeated by Peter June, this colt made his first start in a three-year-old race in a class race, which he won, and in which he was second, and was in the line-up of the future season. He was given this race to stay him up for the Matron Stakes following week at Philadelphia, where he finished in front of Nella Dillon, Peter Vonia, Hollywood Bob, Selka and Peter June, winning one of the heats in 2:05 1/4, his mark.

David Guy also won his engagements at Fountains and Hartford, and finished second to Hollywood Bob at Syracuse before going to Columbus, his card for the season showing seven starts, of which he won five and was second of two. In these races he trotted twenty heats, of which he won fourteen, thirteen of them being below 2:10 and four below 2:05.

In the matter of inheritance, David Guy is an inbred Wilkes, the lines thru his sire, Guy's worthy, tracing to the brothers William and Guy Wilkes, while the blood of Alcornoque and Onward was also united in him. Belle Zombro, who was won by Zombro, the son of McKinney, that sired San Francisco, out of Belle Gibson (2:14 1/4), a daughter of Lottie Wall, the dam of Eula G. (2:24). She was by Strathmore, out of Clara G. by racing Abadiah, a son of Alexander Abdallah, the sire of Goldsmith Maid (2:14). David Guy is a trotting-bred trotter, and his showy mane and tail, which made him all that the term implies in class, speed and deportment.

The boys of the Ontario Y.M.C.A. are taking a great interest in basketball. The business boys of the Y. formed a four-team league, and the first series of games have been brought to a close. The public school boys have a six-team league, and the high school boys have a four-team league.
