NEGLECT HOME MISSIONS FOR THE FARTHER FIELDS

Periodical Change of Clergymen in Missions is Advocated as a Benefit.

"We have men in Ontario who are willing to forego all the privileges of British citizenship for a paltry sum; who are prepared to sell their vote for $10," declared Dr. Tucker, organizing secretary of the Missionary Society of the church in Canada at the synod missionary meeting last night.

The speaker, "to teach men the worth and dignity of citizenship, and in doing this to truly moulding national life," he reviewed the tremendous progress of the far west, referred to the efforts of the church to meet growing needs, and appealed for large support for the work.

Ernest, the 4-year-old son of Mr. Kirk of Eskridge-avenue, near Yonge-street, while riding on a grocery wagon, attempted to get off in front of Oulcott's Hotel, while the rig was in motion. His foot became caught in the wheel, with the result that the leg was broken at the ankle. He was removed to his home, where the injured member was set.

AURORA, June 12.—(Special.)—The second and concluding day of the Toronto Baptist expression was brought to a close this afternoon. The convention has been a great success, and the interest throughout well sustained.

Rev. T. Ratcliffe of East Toronto spoke of "The Spiritual Growth and Condition of the Church."

A resolution asking for the abolition of the first clause with respect to local option, and for the government to rescind the present measure, was unanimously adopted.

Principal McNeill of Woodstock College, Rev. Raymond of St. Paul's, Mr. P. Engley were among the speakers.

Miss Belle Crawford, missionary to the Athabasca Indians, and Mrs. C. J. Holman of Toronto addressed the Women's Association.

York County's "All Right."

The members of the York County council, now in session in the city, the majority of whom are interested in agriculture, are not disconcerted, over the outlook for the spring crops.

The town council met in committee of the whole, at the waterworks to-night, with the view of devising ways and means for increasing the supply in case of emergency.

Rev. E. J. Peck spoke of his experiences during his thirty years' sojourn amongst the Esquimaux in the far north. Six years after he took up his residence at Cumberland Sound, Barren Land, he was struck by a body which embraced Christianity. There his efforts the whole of the New Testament has been translated into the native language as have also the prayer book and portions of the hymnal.

Speaking of diocesan missions, Rev. E. A. Langford of Ashburnham adverted to the danger of overlooking the needs of the home field in missionary zeal. The best way to help others was by being true to ourselves. He thought that the diocesan minister in a home district all the time with no chance of rest or prospect of promotion.

APPOINT ASSISTANT AND NOT COADJUTOR

Decision of Synod—Division of Rectory Surplus Funds Pointedly Discussed.

Yesterday morning saw the close of the animated discussion on the nature of the assistance to be granted the archbishop, which has marked the last three sessions of the Anglican Synod of Toronto.

At the morning session two visitors, Rev. A. G. Clark of Southwark, Eng., and Rev. H. M. Stocking, S.P.G., missionary from Rangoon, Burma, were introduced and invited to seats within the bar.

The whole discussion was as unrestrained as that of the previous day, and the speeches of some of the members called forth a rebuke from Hon. S. H. Blake, who characterized the proceedings as "mob-like" and better fitted for a baseball game.

"Are we going to consent to the request of the bishop?" asked Mr. Blake. "We are to help the archbishop, let it be in the way he requests." He was interrupted by Provost Macklem, who declared Mr. Blake out of order.

The decision of the session was embodied in a resolution "that a sum of $1000, with such further sums as are necessary for traveling expenses, be provided to enable his grace the archbishop to provide such episcopal assistance as he may require during the ensuing year, the sum to be chargeable to the general account of the synod, and be raised by special parish assessments or in such other ways as the executive may direct."

His grace heartily thanked the synod for the passage of this measure, which, he said, would enable him to more effectively to perform his arduous duties.

Rectory Surplus Funds. The remainder of the morning's session was spent in discussion of the distribution of the rectory surplus funds. About $12,000 is now on hand from this source, and the proposal was to alter the allotments and also to place the matter in the hands of a committee, with full powers to dispose of the money.

Canon Cody advocated the interests of the downtown churches, and "thought that that part of the surplus should be diverted in that direction. A strong opinion was made by Barlow Cumbers of the proposed committee would remove the matter from the floor of the house, and prevent much kicking and unpleasant discussion.

Much discussion centred round the desirability of providing the necessary legislative authority for the committee to exercise its powers. This empowered the committee to "apportion and divide the excess among all the Revs. T. J. Paterson, F. Wilkinson, Canon Cayley and other clergymen dependent on the clause limiting the amount of assistance to be given to any incumbent to the sum necessary to bring his stipend to $1500 and house rent.

Several speakers also advocated the granting of part, at least, of the surplus to outlying districts, where the growth of the city has entirely exhausted church accommodations, but no provision was made in this regard.

The discussion continued into the afternoon, and no decision had been arrived at when adjournment was made at 4.30. The archbishop held a reception at the See House, which was largely attended by members of the synod, with their wives.
