LITTLE RIVER LAD MEETS A TERRIBLE DEATH IN SAWMILL
William L. Ingram, fifteen-year-old son of W. L. Ingram of Little River, was instantly killed in the saw mill of John L. Coleman, two miles above Hampton station on Saturday afternoon. He was caught in the carriage which conveyed logs against the rotary saw and was pulled against the saw. The boy was hit in the chest and the saw passed completely through his body. Dr. F. H. Wetmore of Hampton, coroner, decided that an inquest was unnecessary. The boy's father was employed as cook in the same camp.
The boy is survived by his father and mother and three brothers, Arthur, Ronald and Leonard, of St. John, and two sisters, Mrs. V. Tony, of St. John, and Miss Violet Ingram, at home. The late Rev. W. L. Ingram, who was a well known Baptist minister, was the boy's grandfather. The victim of the accident had been a member of the Community Sunday school at Little River and was Chief Trail Ranger of the Trail Rangers' Camp.
The funeral will take place Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from his parents' residence, Georgia avenue. The service will be conducted by Rev. William Lawson. Trail Rangers will be pall bearers. Interment will be in Fernhill cemetery.

THE WOMEN IN LONDON GREATLY OUTNUMBER MEN
London, Nov. 8.—(A. P. by mail.)—A record increase in the number of females, as compared with males, in the City of London during the last year is shown in the census figures. In the interval between the census of 1911 and that of 1921 the female excess in London rose from 1,127 to 1,165 as compared with 1,000 males.
In actual figures the females excess of 72,962 in ten years. The effect of the war on the female population is shown by the fact that nearly 36,000 of this increase, or about thirty-six per cent, is accounted for by widows. While the enumerated population of London fell nearly one per cent during this period, widows increased in number to twelve per cent.
Although there was a considerable increase in the number of persons between the ages of ninety-five and one hundred in this period, the centenarians fell from twenty-five males and fifteen females, to sixteen, six males and ten females.

MILL STREET FIRE
Fire which broke out about 12:30 on Sunday morning did considerable damage to the men's furnishings store of Louis Goldberg, 62 Mill street. An alarm was rung in from Box 8 and the firemen made a quick response. The fire was burning briskly in the rear of the store when they arrived. Sergeant Scott and Policeman Orr rushed upstairs through the thick smoke to the apartment in which the family of Mr. Goldberg resides and aided several children to escape. Mr. Goldberg said last night that he could not explain the origin of the fire as everything had been all right when his clerk had left the store at 11:30 on Saturday night. He himself had been absent when the fire broke out and had not arrived on the scene until some time after the firemen had forced an entrance into the store. He said his stock was valued at $16,000 and that he carried only $6,000 insurance. Most of the goods, he said, would be a total loss.
