TO PENITENTIARY FOR TWO YEARS

Alex Howie Sentenced for Stealing of Case of Whiskey at Sand Point.

Two criminal cases in which a verdict of guilty was found at the last county court were brought up this morning. In sentencing Alexander Howie for stealing a case of whiskey from one of the warehouses at Sand Point on the west side, Judge Armstrong said that it was reported that losses had been sustained amounting in the aggregate to very large sums by the winter port steamer warehouses. In an endeavor to stop this the steamship companies were compelled to employ a large staff of detectives and police to watch the goods while being handled by men, earning large wages, engaged in the work of discouraging and forwarding the goods. For theft as charged in this instance the extreme penalty was seven years. The prisoner was a single man and therefore no one was dependent on him and in the hope of this being a warning to others, which was the object of punishment, the prisoner would be sentenced to serve two years in the Penitentiary with hard labor from this date.

Thomas Petrie, who had been found guilty of stealing on being brought up for sentence, asked that he be allowed time to secure fresh evidence, consequently sentence was deferred until the conclusion of another charge against him now pending.

HOME RICH IN WAR EXPERIENCE

Lieut.-Col. J. W. Worden, D. S. O., of Bayswater, Arrived Today on the Scandinavian.

Among the passengers returning to Canada today on the steamer Scandinavian and landing at this port, was Lieutenant-Colonel John W. Worden, D. S. O., well known to many in these parts, formerly of Bayswater but who for many years has been residing in Vancouver. He has had a unique record of service in the war, and has fought on many fronts with credit and distinction to himself and to the units in which he served or which he commanded. Colonel Worden, or as he was known to the boys of the C. E. F., "Honest John," joined in the first contingent and went across as a captain in the 7th Battalion, was wounded in the early stages of the war. On his return to Vancouver, he recruited the 102nd Battalion, which he took across as commanding officer, and which he remained in charge until about December, 1917. While his career up to that time was ever more fascinating and romantic afterwards, because of the varied and interesting nature of his adventures. He served in Mesopotamia and was one of the outstanding figures in the famous desolate march to the Caspian Sea. He was in charge of the British forces in their first stand at Baku and also of the evacuation in their getting back to Bagdad. Then he went chasing the Bolsheviks through the Ukraine and for a time he and his little expedition became lost to knowledge of the war office. He arrived, after quite a measure of success, back in England in November, 1918. Colonel Worden also served in the Siberian expedition and had quite an interesting experience with the forces there.

TO CHECK THE WATER WASTAGE

City May Install Pitometer—Used to Detect Leaks and Measure Water Flow and Pressure.

As a result of recent investigations by inspectors of the water department of the city and complaints from residents of the higher levels of the city regarding the lowering of water pressure at times during the winter, Commissioner Jones said this morning that he had ordered the installation of a water meter, or pitometer, which would measure the water passing through the pipes. "Thousands of gallons of water were wasted during the winter weather," he said, "and the only reason being fear of the service pipes freezing should the taps be entirely turned off." He said that the only remedy was by means of a pitometer survey, which the city engineer advised has been introduced in many cities in Canada and the United States. Last year Halifax tried the experiment with satisfactory results. By use of the pitometer, leaks can readily be detected and at the same time it is possible to check the velocity of water passing through the pipes.
