RURAL MAIL ROUTES INCREASED BY 1,000

Postal Department Now Carries Mail to Doors of 90,000 Farm Houses—Business Increases

Ottawa, Sept. 17.—There were 1,075 rural mail routes in operation in Canada on September 1, serving nearly 70,000 boxes. In addition 411 new routes were under advertisement so that there are nearly 2,400 routes either already established or about to be set up, and nearly 90,000 farm houses are receiving mail at their doors. When the present government came into power, in October 1911, only 614 routes, serving 16,000 boxes were in existence.

In addition, Hon. Mr. Pelletier since taking office has opened 1,800 new post offices, as well as 675 new money order offices, and 639 postal note offices. From October 1, 1911, to the present time the amount remitted by money orders shows an increase of $88,880,000 as compared with the previous eighteen months, or 38 per cent.

The number of money orders in this period increased by $2,708,000 or 36 per cent. The amount remitted by postal note during the same period shows an increase of $1,809,000 or 19 per cent.

A HOME STUDY COURSE IN THE COUNTY JAIL, REWARD OF IGNORANCE

Jerome Gillis not being able to give a good account of himself, Policeman Ross, who found him, sitting on the street near the depot last night, awarded him a bed in jail. This morning he was brought before Judge Ritchie.

"Where did you come from?" asked the judge.

"From—I mean New Glasgow, y' honor."

"How did you get to St. John?"

"I guess I caught my ticket."

"How much money did you have when you got here?"

"I don't know, y' honor."

"How far from the station was it you got your liquor?"

"I—I don't know y' honor."

"What did you have for breakfast?"

"I didn't have no breakfast."

"What did you have for dinner?"

"I didn't have no dinner."

"Married?"

"I don't—I mean, yes, sir. Four children," (groans).

"If you could write an exciting book on what you don't know. Suppose you go to jail for two months and try to learn something."

MANY SPORTSMEN SEEKING BIG GAME

Sportsmen are at the hotels from Maine, Quebec, New York, and a scattering from more remote places on the continent. One of them told the Times that it had been noted abroad that New Brunswick offered the greatest chances of good sport of anywhere in the dominion of Canada.

"Moose hunting is recognized as the king of all sports," he said, "and New Brunswick is said to have more moose than any other section of Canada. Therefore all the sportsmen who can afford it are coming here."

THEY GOT A MOOSE

Capt. Ed. Nettleton and his friend, Col. Jennings, of New Hampshire, have just returned to the city from a moose hunt, bringing in a fine specimen, one of the first of the season. Capt. Nettleton is a veteran of the civil war and remarked that his friends call him "an old sport." Since he was born in 1807, perhaps, he is, but he has the spirit of a youngster. Much of his time is spent in fishing and hunting, and the doctor tells him that to the outdoor life he owes his present vigor.

ST. JOHN INSTITUTION RECEIVES GENEROUS BEQUEST FROM LATE CHARLES E. PERKS

Houlton, Sept. 17.—The $40,000 estate of Charles E. Perks of Houlton, who died last month, will be divided among several Catholic institutions in Maine and New Brunswick. B., will receive $4,000; Fredericton hospital, $1,000; St. Vincent's De Paul of Fredericton, $2,000; Misericordia Home, St. John, $1,000; St. Mary's convent, Houlton, $3,000; and the Ecclesiastical Students fund of the Catholic diocese of Portland, $1,000.

The remainder will be divided between St. Mary's church of Houlton and St. Dunstan's parish of Fredericton, which are making religious legacies.

Sackville Post-Captain Rupert Anderson, commander of a large coast of South America, has come home to Sackville for a vacation. The captain is a son of the late Captain George Anderson, a grandson of Captain Titus Anderson, a nephew of Captain Tom Anderson, and a brother of Captain Jesse and Captain Ernest Anderson.

ST. JOHN MEN IN CAMP AT ALDERSHOT

Winning Praise From Officers in Charge—Medical Corps Members Defeated Halifax in Baseball Game

The members of the No. 8 Field Ambulance who, under command of Lieut-Colonel T. D. Walker are encamped at Aldershot, N. S., for their annual training are having a fine time besides securing some valuable practice in first aid and general hospital work on the field. The weather has been fairly good, except that there has been considerable rainfall. The St. John boys have thus far made an excellent showing in every way and have won expressions of commendation from those in charge of the camp for their general appearance, efficiency, and conduct.

One of the features of a big military encampment when several hundred men are housed together is, very naturally, a test of athletic skill and this usually takes the form of a football match, field sports, baseball or some other such contest in which endurance and skill figure prominently. Yesterday on the big camp grounds there was a baseball game in which the local boys from the Medical Corps clashed with the members of No. 1 Field Ambulance from Halifax, and won their game by a score of 7 to 3. The band of the 94th regiment was in attendance, and the match was witnessed by about 700 people, the majority being fellow soldiers in the militia. The St. John team intends playing Kentville today. The following is the line-up scores in yesterday's match:

	Catcher	St. John.
Peters	McDonald
Myers	L. S. McGowan
White	O. Colwell
Price	2nd Base	J. McNulty
Kelly	Red Base	J. McGowan
Reid	Short Stop	D. Hunter
McSweeney	Left Field	W. Scott
Shaw	Centre Field	R. Watson
Henderson	Right Field	L. Crozier
Umpires	D. March and J. Jackson.
Score by Innings:	1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
Halifax	0 1 0 0 1 0 1 0 0	3
St. John	0 0 0 1 2 0 2 1 1	7

"A Day's Life, That's Wot It Is"

Seaman's Reason For Quitting Steamer, But Captain and Bos'n Tell Different Story

"A dawg's life—that's wot it is," quoth Fred Adams, able-bodied seaman, who he blithely stepped off the deck of the Manchester Miller, careering a somewhat swollen eye, Tuesday. Up to police court went Fred and laid a complaint against the bos'n of the Miller for assault. That done, he decided to go to the Seaman's Mission to procure some books. On the way, however, he procured a package of another character, and wound up this morning in police court again, this time a prisoner, charged with absconding himself from his ship without leave.

Captain Robertson, of the Manchester Miller, read the ship's log, which contained frequent references to the proclivity of Fred for taking French leave from his duties, but said he was willing to take Adams back again when the ship sailed on Saturday. Joseph Coutts, the bos'n, was sworn and detailed how he had gone into the forecastle Tuesday morning to wake the crew and found Adams unwilling to be awakened. So he pulled him out of bed.

"Aven't you been leadin' me a dawg's life on board that ere ship?" queried Freddie, righteously indignant.

"Kindness don't seem to work with 'im, y' honor," pleaded the bos'n.

"I can understand it," said Judge Ritchie. "Remanded."

TONGUE LASHING AND JAIL TERM FOR DRUNKS

Magistrate Promises to Keep Them Prisoners Until They Tell Where They Got the Liquor

Five drunks were up before Judge Ritchie this morning. Each got a thorough tongue-lashing from the judge. "You're a pack of fools," said the justice. "You earn good clean money and you spend it for dirty poison. Dogs and little boys follow you along the street as though you were unclean things. Yesterday a friend who has just come from the west told me he saw more drunkenness on the streets of St. John than any other city of its size in Canada. I am determined to discover the names of the men who sell liquor to drunks, and when I have them before me in court they won't be dealt lightly with. You men are remanded until you tell me who sold you the poison."

Kate Hamilton was charged with being drunk on Market Square in the wee sma' hours of this morning. She was remanded in order that the police might have a chance to find out from whom she obtained the liquor.

SENTENCED TODAY

Thomas Baxter, charged with criminal assault, was brought up on remand from August 19 in the police court this morning and sentenced to pay $50 or serve four months in jail. Felix Douette, on a similar charge, was ordered to pay $50 or serve two months in jail.
