A Melancholy Tale.

A Vessel Picked up Adrift Containing the Skeletons of the Starved Crew.

A man giving his name as James Duzan, who arrived in New York Thursday, says he was a passenger on the schooner Lancaster, bound to Sydney, C. B., from Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island. On the night of the 18th ult. they fell in with a dismasted brig on whose bow the word "Glenalton" was faintly discernible. Splintered spars entangled in the canvas and rigging gear, and the planks of a boat torn asunder by the wind and sea were scattered below a heap of rigging and broken by the weight of a spar which had fallen. Across it lay the bones of a human being. The skull had been crushed. Shreds of canvas trousers and a Guernsey frock were found near the bones. Further search revealed five other skeletons, on one of which the skull only could be found. A slight covering of crimped flesh remained on four of the skeletons, showing that they had died more recently than the other two. Many of the utensils of the galley were found, and Capt. Marten made a strict search among them to assure himself whether there had been any food on board at the time of the death of these men. Not a single remaining pot or vessel of any kind in the cooking department of the ill-fated craft containing the least particle of food.

In the fore-cabin, which was almost filled with water, there was a most terrible stench, and only two men could be induced to enter. There were two corpses on the floor, one stretched across the bunk. The remains were taken on deck and the nine bodies were arranged in line and carried away. The fastenings of the rudder were broken; the fore-mast had been cut away to save the vessel from foundering, one of the extremest emergencies in a hurricane at sea. The jib boom had gone and the whole, in fact, was a complete wreck.

Entering the cabin the most foul odor was discovered, but not intense enough to forbid a thorough investigation. Toward the end of the steps leading to the cabin was a flat pool of water, and the men had to wade through it to reach the cabin. Between a stationary table and a couch the head of a corpse, very much decomposed, protruded from a berth in the wall. A buttoned jacket of good material covered the corpse, and blue pantaloons, a flannel shirt marked "T. T." and one boot were found.

The chronometer in the cabin pointed to half past four, and on the stationary table was an opened Bible turned downward; a revolver with two chambers loaded and a bottle containing a piece of paper, upon which was written "Jesus, guide this to some help. Merciful God, don't let us perish." The words were detached and a hiatus occurred between every two or three of them. Showing that the writer must either have been in the lowest stages of delirium or driven to madness by hunger. In the captain's stateroom a corpse was found lying bent on the floor. On the bed books and newspapers were scattered. Among them was a letter from Robert C. Hart, dated Martinique, May 30, to "Dear Kate, No. 6 Home Street, Mt. Pleasant, Liverpool," in which he tells her to "write to Harlan, St. John, N. B." The bodies were buried at sea. Capt. Marten took the vessel's books and papers, intending to give them to the authorities in Halifax.

Accounts from this Office for Subscriptions, Advertising, &c., are made out, and our friends will be called upon, when we trust they will pay them, as money is required for some improvements we are making in the office. To those who have already responded we tender our thanks.

A vote of thanks was unanimously passed to the hon. gentleman for his able and instructive lecture; which the lecturer briefly acknowledged.

REV. W. O'MALONY is conducting a "Retreat" in the R. C. Church in this place. The "Retreat" commenced on Sunday last, when at 11 o'clock service, the Rev. gentleman preached a forcible sermon on, "Why are we here." The evidences of a Creator deduced from nature, &c. The subjects were treated in a most masterly style. In the evening again, he preached from the text, "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord." This sermon is said to have touched the hearts of all; many of the audience shed tears, and all including we understand some staunch members of other denominations, were sensibly affected. If we are correctly informed, the Rev. gentleman will remain here during the present week, and will continue to give "instructions" morning and evening, commencing at 6 o'clock, a. m., and at 7 p. m.

From all we know of him we consider him a forcible speaker, and a man of more than ordinary ability. Last night he spoke on "Temperance." Those who look upon total abstinence as a cure for all the ills to which the human flesh is heir, were no doubt much pleased.

A "Retreat" in the Catholic Church, means a time especially devoted to religious exercises, with a view to making thorough preparation for partaking of the Holy Sacrament of the Eucharist. The most talented preachers are always selected to conduct these exercises.

The Rev. Mr. O'Malony will command large audiences wherever he speaks. We learn that he is to visit St. George and hold services at that place.

PROSPECTS.—We have received the Prospectus of the newspaper to be published at St. Stephen by Messrs. Daw & Wesley, to be called the ST. STEPHEN JOURNAL. We stated in our last issue that it would be the "first" time three papers were issued in this County at the same time, it should have been "second" time. The newspaper is to be edited by Mr. Daw, and conducted on the most independent principles. The Prospectus says:

All men and all parties will be treated with the strictest justice. The "Journal" will be under the control of no political party; nor under the influence of any religious sect or society.

Education will receive due attention; and the merits and demerits of the New School Law will be impartially and thoroughly canvassed. Considerable space will be devoted to farming, and the extension of fruit culture.

Without being unjust to employers of labour, the best interests of the "working man" will be strenuously advocated. Personalities shall never disgrace the columns of the "Journal"; and therefore any communication savouring of such will be rejected.

Terms: Subscriptions, for one year $1.25 Prov. cy. or $1.50 Am. cy. payable in advance. If not paid in advance $2 Prov. cy. will be charged at the end of the year.

We welcome the new comer with the same hearty good will that was extended to its predecessor, but which was forgotten in time by some of them.

A remarkable Balloon trip was made by Mr. King, Bronaut, and Mr. Holden, of the Boston "Journal," from Plymouth, N. H., to Sayabec, in the Province of Quebec, from the afternoon of Sep. 26, to the morning of the 27th. They travelled nearly five hundred miles in 12 hours and 42 minutes, and passed over the White Mountains, hills and rivers in Maine and Canada during a dark and stormy night at an elevation of 24 miles. This trip is said to be the most remarkable on record in any country.

Mr. RUSSELL, Agent of the British and Foreign Bible Society will deliver a lecture this evening in the Baptist Church at half-past 7 o'clock, and give a history of the Society's proceedings during the past year.

How is it that Nova Scotia Apples which are sold in St. John for $1.25 to $1.60 per bushel, are sold here for $2.25 to $2.75?

TEMPERANCE LECTURE.—On Friday evening last, the Hon. S. L. Tilley, C. B., Minister of Customs, delivered a lecture on "Temperance," under the auspices of St. Andrews Division, S. of T. Mr. James Stoop, W. P., in the Chair, in Gove's Hall. The audience was large, and most attentive. The hon. lecturer did ample justice to the subject; in the course of his address he stated the amount paid last year by the Dominion for liquor was $12,000,000, and asked if this amount was expended in the erection of manufactories, building vessels, and other enterprises, would the people not be the gainers. A new and pleasing feature in Mr. Tilley's address, was the absence of attack on the vendors of spirits or those who used them. He pleaded for sympathy for the inebriate, and that instead of casting him out, and refusing to lend a helping hand towards his reformation, every effort should be made to reclaim him. He advised the young to refrain from the use of intoxicating liquors, and pointed out the dangers which would beset their path should they indulge in the intoxicating cup. He instanced a class of young lads at a school in this Province, some years ago, all promising young men, seven of whom filled drunkards' graves, four of whom were now filling posts of honor, as professional and mercantile men, and the fifth—was then addressing them. At the conclusion of his instructive and interesting lecture, he stated that he had that day drawn up a pledge of abstinence from all intoxicating drinks for one year, and had himself signed it, although he had been for thirty-five years a total abstainer; and invited all who wished to come forward and sign that pledge. Many in the audience old and young signed it.

A vote of thanks was unanimously passed to the hon. gentleman for his able and instructive lecture; which the lecturer briefly acknowledged.

The Americans are getting rid of that most odious of taxes, the stamp tax. The stamp duty upon all documents except bank checks, drafts or orders expired on the 1st instant, in accordance with a recent action of Congress. The acting commissioner of internal revenue decides that no stamp will be required upon checks, drafts and orders, except such as are drawn at sight or on demand upon banks, bankers or trust companies. He also decides that on and after that date no stamps are necessary upon foreign bills of exchange.

SUMMARY.

LOUIS CARVELL, Esq., has been appointed General Superintendent of Government Railways in the Maritime Provinces, a position Mr. Carvell is well qualified to fill for the benefit of the Government and the people.

The Charlotte County Agricultural Society's Cattle Show & Fair, is being held to-day at Bay Side.

The Yarmouth "Herald" gives an account of an Elopement which has a touch of the romantic about it. The unfortunate woman made a poor exchange, to say the least.

The Government deposit of $60,000 in the St. John Branch Bank of British North America, was withdrawn on Friday last by orders from Ottawa.

The Customs officers at St. John seized last week 30 barrels of Oil on the S.S. "Bay Queen" from Boston, which had not been entered for duty.

A DAY OF FRANKGIVING has been appointed by Gov. Wilnot, to be observed on Thursday, 24th instant, which is also proclaimed a Public Holiday.

DOMINION REVENUE.—The revenue of the Dominion of Canada for the month of September last was $1,749,567.52. The expenditure amounted to $1,320,772.06.

THAT OIL SEIZURE.—It appears that the thirty barrels of oil seized by the Customs authorities on board the schooner "Bay Queen," Morris H. master, on Thursday last, for non-entry try for duty, belonged to Mr. Alex. Gibson of New Brunswick, and it is claimed that there was no intention to smuggle, but that the duties were to be paid on the arrival of the schooner at Fredericton. The Minister of Customs will enquire into the matter to-day and take such action as he may deem proper in the premises.—[Daily News.]

THE BANK OF ENGLAND AND ITS EMPLOYEES.—A good example has been set by the Gov. -mors of the Bank of England, who, in consideration of the present high price of provisions, have added a gratuity of 5 per cent. to the salary of every officer, clerk, and porter in the establishment.

IMMIGRATION.—The New York "Herald" remarks on the fact that Canada, in the last decade received by immigration an addition of forty per cent. to her population, while the increase by the same means in the United States was only thirty five per cent. In the current decade Canada will far surpass the last in immigration.

INCREASE OF GOLD.—Mr. Thomas Hanky, the London banker, estimates the total amount of gold added to the world's stock since the years 1852-53, from all parts of the globe, to be at least $360,000,000. He adds that he believes he is correct in saying that M. de Humboldt considered the quantity of gold which was poured into the European markets in 318 years, from the discovery of Hispaniola to the Revolution in Mexico, at somewhat under $300,000,000.

The Island of St. Helena.

It is reported that the Island of St. Helena is gradually ceasing to be a rendezvous for shipping, and that the English Government regard it now as of much importance.

The falling off in the number of vessels calling at the island is due to the great diversion of the Eastern trade from the old route to the new one, via the Suez Canal. Both St. Helena and Ascension have for years been supposed to be necessary for the protection of English commerce, and as a rendezvous in the event of hostilities for British ships of war.

But if the "merchantsmen" find that they can get home without calling at St. Helena, the island must eventually be abandoned. This island was captured from the Dutch over 200 years ago by a British admiral, and handed over to the East India Company, who used it for years as a "refreshing depot."

In 1854 it was ceded to Great Britain, since which time its population have been entirely supported by the profits on their commodities sold to passing vessels. The last report of the Governor of the island sets forth "great depression on the island," due in the main to the above-mentioned causes. The internal affairs of the island, too, are far from being satisfactory. The agriculturists are described as "being adrift," some thousands of acres of grazing land being almost entirely unoccupied, while the stock that is there is of an inferior quality. Land uncared for and unmechanized will soon ruin itself; consequently, we are not surprised when it is reported that it has lost much of its reputed fertility. With these facts before us, we cannot wonder that the question "whether its expense as a dependency of the British Crown can be longer justified," is being considered by British statesmen.

BRITISH PACIFIC STEAMSHIPS.—The first steamer of the new British Pacific Mail Company will leave Hong Kong for San Francisco about the first of January. The steamers of the new line will be iron propelled, whereas the vessels of the American line are side-wheel steamers, and it is said that by the economy of compound engines, and by taking a more northern route, the British company expect to make quicker time than is now made, and thus divert a large portion of the tea trade which now goes by sailing vessels to England and New York. The company has secured American agents in both San Francisco and Hong Kong, and seems determined to make a strong effort to succeed in the Pacific carrying trade. The prospect is very good for the rapid augmentation of this commerce in the near future.

Completing the Union.

His Excellency the Governor General recently expressed in earnest and eloquent terms his hope for the speedy consummation of the Union of all the British North American Provinces. In this hope and wish every patriotic heart in British America should join.

Confederation has ceased to be mere experiment. Time has tested the foundations on which we have built, and the result is perfectly satisfactory. We do not imagine that the most enthusiastic promoters of Confederation expected greater success for it in five years than has already been obtained. All the long years conjured by the imaginations of foes or weak friends have vanished. Our taxes have been lightened instead of greatly increased. Our commerce has increased immensely. There are no feuds, no irreconcilable conflicts between rival Provinces. There is cordiality between ourselves and the parent country, and a good neighborly understanding between ourselves and the United States. Progress in all directions is the order of the day.

There can be no reasonable doubt that it would be greatly to the advantage of P. E. Island and Newfoundland to join the Dominion. They are beginning to realize this fact themselves, and the sooner they open their eyes fully to the truth, the more advantage will it be for all concerned.—[British Colonist.]
