The Danish scientific expedition to Greenland, under the leadership of Erikson, has arrived at the Danish colony of Vest Greenland, after much hardship and suffering. The expedition reports that it found the whaling ship, Gjesa, with Capt. Amundsen's magnetic north pole expedition on board, at Atupia Rock. All the members of the expedition are well.

According to the Church Economist, the church members of the United States now number 29,000,000, or 36 per cent. of the entire population, an increase of 29 per cent. since 1880.

VICTORIA NINE LOST THE GAME

COSTLY ERRORS WERE RESPONSIBLE FACTORS

Lacked Judgment and Spirit—There Were Some Excellent Features—Other Saturday Sports.

To those who attended the match on Saturday at Oak Bay between the Victoria and the University of Columbia nines, the exhibition was a disappointment. Although neither team put up a really first class game, credit must be given the visitors for a class of ball superior to that of the local team. The story of the game is told to a certain extent by the score—8 runs to 7 in favor of the Columbians.

What the trouble was it is hard to say, but it is a fact, nevertheless, that the style of ball put up by the local infield was at times deplorable. At the fourth it looked as if the Victoria team would be sufficiently strong to cope with any amateur nine in the Northwest.

There was a fair crowd in attendance, and the game was commenced shortly after 3 o'clock. In the first inning each team scored a run. For the next two rounds nothing of importance occurred, but in the fourth it looked as if the Victoria team would have an easy victory. Schwengers made a splendid hit, and reached second with safety. Fredway followed, but the local infield was too good for him, and not only scored Schwengers, but made the complete circuit himself. The next three to the bat, however, Burnes, Goward and Emerson, were unable to locate the opposing pitcher's elusive bowler.

The visitors had a batting streak in the opening of the fifth, which considerably dampened the ardor of local "rooters." A safe single base hit by Jennings, the first man up, opened the inning. Then Harold, the second batter, put one over the fence. The end of the first, and after one had fanned, Gleason came up and with a mighty smash sent the ball to the fence in right field, scoring two besides his own home run. Before the visitors retired they recorded another run. The locals scored nothing at their turn to bat in this inning, and the teams were tied at the end of the fifth, 5 to 5 in favor of the visitors.

In Victoria's next inning, through some first class hitting and a series of errors on the part of the visitors, four of the local players scored. The visitors evened matters in the seventh, and in the ninth won out by a very large score.

Interest was probably taken in this game because of the initial appearance of the local southpaw, W. Blackburn. It is only fair to state that he was not the fault of the game resulted in defeat. Given ordinary support there is every reason to believe that Blackburn would have been successful in any amount of curve and almost perfect control, although, perhaps, lacking some speed. In one particular he is open to criticism, and that is in the fielding of his position. Several times easy opportunities were allowed to pass without any effort being made to secure the ball. However, improvement in these and other points will come with experience. McCann was reliable behind the bat, and caught a number of the visitors in their attempts to steal bases. Fredway at first base and Schwengers at second base were both obviously off color. The latter's fielding was especially poor, and mistakes in judgment were the direct cause of more runs. Goward, Burnes and Emerson gathered in all possible flies.

For the University team the work of the pitcher and catcher deserves mention. The shining star, however, was Gleason, who fielded his position at short stop faultlessly.

A synopsis of the game follows:

NOTES.

McManus, the new catcher, again demonstrated his ability as a player. He held down his position behind the bat in admirable style. His batting was a feature of the game. The local management is to be complimented upon securing the services of such a player.

It is to be hoped Coach Tredway will remember in future that it is necessary to hold the ball at first in order to secure

A put-out. Twice on Saturday he allowed his victim to escape by thoughtlessly dropping the ball at the critical moment. One of the previous afternoon lies to the credit of Emerson, who was playing in left field. After catching a difficult fly he threw the ball into the hands of the local infield, who succeeded in catching a base-runner before he could get back to the bag.

THE OAR.

J. B. A. A. REGATTA.

On Saturday afternoon the first of a series of club regatta took place under the auspices of the James Bay Athletic Association. The regatta took place on a straight-away course in the inner harbor between Coffin Island and the club house.

There were a number of exciting features not included in the programme. One of these was the capsizing of a skiff occupied by two prominent members of the club while engaged in clearing the course of logs and other obstructions. Both were rescued without difficulty. Shortly after another accident occurred, W. Hobbs being the victim. He was precipitated in the water, but managed to reach the club house safely.

With one exception, the races went off without mishap. The occasion referred to happened in the second race, between Johnson's and King's crews. They had started off and at Brackman & Ker's Point the latter was about three-quarters of a length in the lead. In turning, however, the boats collided and it was agreed to start again. The second time Johnson's crew won out with comparative ease.

Following are the results of the heats: First—Gray's crew beat Pritchard's by two lengths. Second—Johnson's beat King's, two lengths. Third—Donaldson's beat Hobbs's by half a length. Fourth—Brown's beat Gray's by one and a half lengths. Fifth—Donaldson's beat Johnson's by half a length.

In the final the following crews met: Donaldson (stroke), Andrews (cox), Andrew (2), Johnson (bow), S. Brown (stroke), Sutherland (2), Belyea (2), Heathcote (stroke). The race was closely contested and resulted in a win for the former by only half a length.

A CHALLENGE.

Yesterday a deputation from the crew of the D.G. S. Quadra visited the local newspaper offices and registered a complaint against members of the regatta committee of the Victoria Day celebrations. They last year succeeded in winning the five-oar service whaler's race, and had intended entering on Tuesday, but were informed that they were barred, only navy crews being permitted to take part. After this explanation they submitted the following challenge:

"As the naval authorities have so very kindly 'barred' us from partaking in the usual sports, we, the crew of the Dominion government steamer Quadra's whaler, winners of the first prize last 24th of May in the whaler race, do this 20th of May, 1904, challenge the winning boat in the service whaler race, or any service whaler in the North Pacific squadron, to row for the sum of $100 per boat over the same course. Hoping to hear from the parties interested at as early a date as possible."

TO-DAY'S MATCH.

Everything is in readiness for the opening senior league match which takes place this morning between the Victoria and the University of Washington teams. Both teams have been trained faithfully for the struggle, and every player will be in the best possible condition. The opening twelve will line up at 10 o'clock promptly, and the game will commence a few minutes later. R. Cheyne, of New Westminster, has been selected to act as referee, and there is no doubt that he will give general satisfaction.
