And Another Perjury Charge Looms in Sight

Witness in London Election Case Tells Complicated Story of Record of Certain Purchased Votes

TORONTO, Nov. 7.—If the decision of Magistrate Denison is sustained another perjury charge loomed in sight when James McCormack stepped into the witness box to tell what he knew about the London election this afternoon.

Duvernay began asking about a certain book, which it was evident he believed had been used at election time to record the names and prices of certain purchased votes.

McCormack, divided for some time and then admitted the existence of such a book, which he said had since been stolen from him. Afterwards he alleged he had prepared the book a little over two months ago and left it around so his opponents would bring it to court.

"It was too much for the credulity of Magistrate Denison, who plainly expressed the belief that the witness was committing a deliberate perjury. James McCormack, chairman of division No. 6, Liberal committee, ward 2, gave the names of his committee, John O'Connell, Joseph Grammer and a man named Oliver.

"Did you," Duvernay asked him, "keep any records?"

"No."

"After election?"

"Yes, I admit I had."

"Now," said his worship, "tell us all about it."

"It was a small red memorandum book."

"You ever remember the color?"

"I have good reason to be sure."

"What was it kept for?"

"Nothing in particular."

"What in general?"

"Just some ideas of mine."

"Did it contain a list of the voters who were paid?"

"No."

"Did it contain a list of the names of voters who were paid and the initials of the men who paid the money?"

"No."

McCormack wanted to see the book. It was not produced.

"Why," he was asked, "did you make entries?"

"So that some one might pick up the book and take it to court."

"When did you do that?"

"Over two months ago."

Witness said Mayor Judd of London knew the investigation was coming.

"Who told you?"

"I refuse to answer."

"Do you want to go down for a while?" asked his worship.

Here Curry, who had already objected that the evidence as to who told the witness would not be material, protested that McCormack could not be committed without a trial. Then he objected that any evidence as to the book was not material.

"I overrule it," said his worship.

"Besides, I believe the name of the witness was for a purpose at election and that the witness is committing perjury in trying to cover it up. Duvernay can go on."

"And the witness," said Curry, "can refuse to answer."

"Then I'll ask for a committal," said Duvernay.

McCormack said what he put in the book was true.

"Then you were making a truthful record for the purpose of assisting the court?"

"No."

"Why then?"

"For my own purpose."

Witness went on to explain that when he said what was in the book was true, he meant it was his writing.

At this stage the book was produced and identified by the witness. The first page contained the names of the committee chairmen in ward 2. Other items in the book were just names and initials, but the witness could give little information about these. Before he left the court the crown counsel asked for his committal, but the magistrate refused and McCormack was subpoenaed again for tomorrow.

A number of witnesses told stories of ballot switching and other crooked work in Brockville.

CLAIM ACTION OF BRITISH WARSHIP'S CAPTAIN IS ILLEGAL

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Nov. 7.—A delegation of captains of American fishing vessels boarded the warship Brilliant in the Bay of Islands yesterday to learn if they could continue to hire Newfoundlanders outside the three-mile limit, the colonial government having posted notices warning coast-folk that the bait cast rendered service aboard foreign vessels illegal. The captain of the Brilliant assured the delegation that under the terms of the modus vivendi the action described by the notices could not be penalized. The captain also notified the colonial fishery inspectors that he intended to frame rules for the conduct of the herring fishery along the shores. The colonial cabinet is protesting to the imperial government that both proceedings by the warship's captain are illegal, and alleged that his action belittles the colony's authority.

FOWLER AGAIN HEARD; MORE REVELATIONS

Mr. Foster Was a Partner in the Kamloops Lumber Deal.

Fowler Paid Men Sent by the Union Trust Co. to Value Property He Had to Sell — More About that $55,000 Rakeoff — Fowler Says the Documents Wanted Are Lost.

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 7.—The Insurance Commission had today its second examination of George W. Fowler, M. P. The examination began at half-past four in the afternoon and was continued by Mr. Shepley, who reminded Fowler of the deal he had made with the Kamloops Lumber Company, in which the Fowler and the Forsters were used. The previous examinations of Mr. Fowler and other witnesses showed that Mr. Fowler had obtained from Peter Ryan two options on the Kamloops lumber property, one for $225,000 and the other for $170,000. George E. Foster, Mr. Fowler and a number of others had organized the Kamloops Lumber Company, in which the Union Trust Company was to have 45 per cent, and Fowler and the others forty-nine per cent of the stock. It was shown that the Union Trust Company put up all the money and that the Kamloops Lumber Company, with it, bought the British Columbia lumber properties. The one on which Mr. Fowler had the two options was taken over at the higher option, $225,000, by Peter Ryan, after he had been paid $225,000 by the Kamloops Lumber Company. This transaction was not the subject of direct examination, but was referred to several times in the discussion of the lumber property purchase.

Mr. Fowler said that he had been paid $225,000 by the Kamloops Lumber Company, and that he had divided it with the others. He said that he had been paid $55,000 of this money, and that he had given it to the men sent by the Union Trust Company to value the property. He said that he had given the documents for the property to the men, and that they had taken them away. He said that he had never seen the documents since.

Mr. Shepley continued to press for an exact statement of the way the money was distributed. Mr. Fowler continued to insist that it was beyond him to give an exact statement now.

It finally developed that Mr. Fowler had shared in the distribution. The Okanagan people loaned him money. He had agreed to become a shareholder and had accepted a number of drafts, amounting to $22,000, approximately. He had no record of the drafts. He had signed no application for stock, but it was understood it would be issued for him on his application. In the distribution he was treated on the same basis as Irwin and McCormack, on the basis of two for one. That is the Okanagan people got about two dollars for each dollar they had put in.

Mr. Shepley asked Mr. Fowler if he had told the other people in the Kamloops Lumber Company at the time the proposition for a purchase was up, that he had no interest in the Okanagan Company.

Mr. Fowler—"No, I did not say anything about my interest."

Mr. Shepley asked if Mr. Fowler thought it was right that he should have concealed that interest and then shared in the distribution of the $175,000.

Mr. Fowler said he could not see that he had done wrongly. The Kamloops Lumber Company had not bought the Okanagan property on his report. They had Alexander Hamilton examine the property and make a report. It was on this report the purchase had been made.

Mr. Shepley again pressed for an exact statement of the distribution of the money. Mr. Fowler said he had no statement to make. He said he had no record of the distribution. He said he had no record of the distribution.

Mr. Shepley wanted to know how often Mr. Fowler destroyed his checks. Mr. Fowler said he had no stated time. He said he had no reason for keeping checks after a deal was closed.

Mr. Shepley wanted to know if Mr. Fowler got any payment by way of commission out of the transaction.

THE PETER RYAN DEAL.

Mr. Fowler said he had not got a cent commission. The Peter Ryan deal of Kamloops lumber property was not an agreement dated Feb. 8, '04. He had been proposed to by George W. Fowler as vendee and George E. Foster, trustee, for the formation of a company to take over the property on which Mr. Fowler held options from Peter Ryan. The company to be formed was to include Foster, Fowler, Irwin and McCormack. Mr. Fowler said the document was correct in all but some small particulars.

Mr. Fowler said he had acted in conjunction with Irwin, McCormack and Foster. When he had the idea of the deal he had proposed to the Union Trust. He had another company in view, but that sale had fallen through. He had then proposed to sell to the Union Trust, making his proposal to George E. Foster, the manager of the Kamloops Company. The Kamloops Company had accepted the offer the time had arrived for taking up the option and he had notified Peter Ryan that he would take it up. He therefore was the owner of the property and all he had to do to obtain the title was to pay for it. He therefore claimed he was acting not as the agent of the Union Trust or the Kamloops Company, but as the actual vendee of the property. He did not close being made with Ryan under instruction from the Union Trust Co., but on his own account. He took the option and the agreement of sale was not transferred to the Union Trust or the Kamloops Company until February 8.

FOWLER CONTRADICTS FOSTER.

Mr. Shepley said Mr. Foster in his evidence had testified that Fowler acted as agent for the Union Trust in this transaction.

Mr. Fowler said this was not correct. He was not the agent, but the vendee. Mr. Shepley read a letter from Messrs. Irwin and McCormack, dated January 5, stating they had inspected this Ryan property and were surprised at the amount of easily handled timber it contained.

Mr. Shepley wanted to know if Mr. Fowler knew these men were making an examination of this property for Mr. Foster.

Mr. Fowler said he could not remember. He would not have been surprised if they had. He did not know they had been instructed to report to Mr. Foster. He would not say that Irwin and McCormack had made a special report to him (Fowler). They had furnished him with information on the contents of the Ryan property on which he had made a statement of the property put in earlier in the day.

FOWLER PAID VALUATORS.

Mr. Shepley—"Why did these men who had been hired to make a report for the Union Trust make a report to you?"

Mr. Fowler—"I cannot say. I cannot recall giving them any instructions to report to me. I might have. I paid McCormack's expenses."

BISON FURNACE

Twice as much heating surface is covered by the fire in a Bison Hot Water Furnace as in any other.

The flames are drawn up through the side flues, then down and to the chimney through the middle flue.

Burns all the gas and traps all the heat against the top section.

In other furnaces the fire travel is practically a direct one to the chimney, and much valuable heat escapes, the important top section getting less than any of the others.

The Bison has more good heating points than all other heaters combined.
