Here Are Four People Who Testify

That GIN PILLS Positively Cure Rheumatism

Rheumatism is a dreadful disease. Only those who have had it can appreciate the agonizing pain—the excruciating torture—that racks the body when Rheumatism sets in. No wonder those who have been cured of Rheumatism by GIN PILLS are so grateful and so enthusiastic.

"They gladly testify that GIN PILLS cured them and want all the world to try GIN PILLS."
Alex. Moore, Esq., in one of many hundreds who knew that GIN PILLS will cure Rheumatism. He writes from Newburgh, Ont.
"My father had been troubled with Rheumatism for a number of years. He tried two doctors but got no relief, when my uncle insisted on him trying GIN PILLS. He purchased a box and after taking GIN PILLS for a week, found that they were giving him much relief. He then bought three boxes, which were the means of curing him. He is now a strong man—in good health and able to attend to his daily work—and all the credit is due to GIN PILLS."

They know about GIN PILLS down in Nova Scotia too. In fact, GIN PILLS really cure Rheumatism. An old gentleman in Yarmouth, N. S., says:
"I have been bothered with Rheumatism for the past year and have taken a good many kinds of medicine, but found no relief. One day, a friend advised me to try GIN PILLS and after taking a few boxes, I felt like a new man. I want you to know how thankful I am for the relief they gave me and would advise all sufferers to take GIN PILLS."

In New Brunswick, GIN PILLS have cured hundreds of men and women of Rheumatism. Mr. Wilson of Hartland, N. B., is one of the many who owes his good health and strength to GIN PILLS. He writes: "It affords me great pleasure to convey not only to you but to all sufferers from Back Ache and Rheumatism the great relief I have obtained from the use of GIN PILLS. I am sounding the praises of GIN PILLS to everyone suffering as I did." Robert M. Wilson.
Back to Nova Scotia for the fourth letter from D. J. Lawlor of Ogden.
"I have been troubled with Rheumatism so bad that I could not work. A doctor tended me and told me to go to the hospital but all to no good until a cousin told me to try GIN PILLS. I did so, and after taking a few boxes, I am perfectly well."

These written words and timed statements from well-known people are the best possible guarantee of the values of GIN PILLS. They prove that GIN PILLS will give prompt relief—and will completely cure—every trace of Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago, Pain in the Back, Kidney Trouble, or any weakness of the kidneys or bladder. You may try GIN PILLS before you buy them. Write us for free sample box. If you can't get the regular size boxes in your neighborhood, send us enclosing the regular retail price of 50c a box or 6 for $2.50.

CONDENMATION OF RECIPROcity

at Columbus, Ohio, on February 10th that "the greatest reason for adopting this agreement is the fact that it is going to unite two countries with kindred people and lying together across a wide continent in a commercial and social union to the great advantage of both" and by his later declaration made at Atlanta that "When we entered upon the negotiations I asked the Secretary of State and his commissioners to offer free trade in everything, but Canada could not grant us this, because she has a protective system and she was afraid of the competition of our better organized industries," and his still later declaration made at New York on April 29th last, "I have said this was a critical time in the solution of the reciprocity question. It is critical because unless it is now decided favorably to reciprocity it is exceedingly probable that no such opportunity will ever again come to the United States. The forces which are at work in England and in Canada to separate her by a Chinese wall from the United States and to make her part of an imperial commercial band reaching from England around the world to England again by a system of preferential tariffs will derive an impetus from the rejection of this treaty and if we would have reciprocity with all the advantages I earnestly believe will follow its adoption, we must take it now or give it up forever." What did the report of the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives upon this agreement declare in its opening paragraph? "The bill takes a long step towards establishing for the continent of North America a policy of unrestricted trade and commerce, recognizing natural conditions that have been too long ignored." There we had a flat, clear and unambiguous declaration from Congress itself that this agreement was but a step and a long step towards unrestricted reciprocity and commercial union. A long step actually made if this agreement is ratified by the United States.

There remains but a short step to political union according to the declaration of no less an authority than Edward Blake, former leader of the Liberal party, who broke from his party when at the instigation of Mr. Laurier in 1891 that party had hoisted unrestricted reciprocity with the United States as its main slogan. Mr. Blake declared in his famous address to the electors of South Durham that he could not follow his party in that dangerous course for the reason that in his opinion, it would lead inevitably to the political absorption of Canada by the United States. In this opinion Edward Blake, the leader of the Liberal party, and Sir John Macdonald, the leader of the Conservative party, were at one. The electors of Canada will ever remember the inspiring words of Sir John Macdonald in his great address to the people of Canada upon this question: "A British subject I was born. A British subject I will die. With my latest breath will I oppose the veiled treason which attempts by sordid means and mercenary proffers to lure our people from their allegiance." Sir John found the electors of Canada responded nobly to this appeal in 1891, since which time, down to the very time when Laurier, Fielding, and Paterson, were inveigled by President Taft into the present trap, the people of Canada had considered that this question had been settled once and for all. Now in a moment of what seems little short of insanity, these guardians of the people's interests have announced that they have pledged the honor of Canada to adopt this reciprocity pact with its dangerous and far-reaching consequences and are endeavoring to force it through parliament without the people having any way about it. The Conservative party, as already stated, had determined that they would never allow it to come into operation until the people were given their unquestioned constitutional right to approve or disapprove of it, and Mr. Crockett said he had no doubt but that when the Government came to the polls, they must come to the polls with this question, the loyal and patriotic people of Canada would rise in their might as they did in 1891, and tell Laurier for the last time that neither he or his party is strong enough to break or even to weaken the bonds which bind the Dominion to the British Empire and that this country cannot be sold to the United States by trade agreement or otherwise.

"Let Laurier finish his work" was the slogan of the Liberal party in 1893. Since this agreement has been concluded there was not a Liberal in Canada who dared even to mutter the words. The slogan and rallying cry to which the people will this time respond will now be "Not let Laurier finish his work, but let us finish Laurier."

Fine Celebration At Upham, Kings Co. Kinross, O. L. No. 44, of Upham held a celebration at that place on Wednesday, the 12th. There was a representation from Hampton Lodge No. 52, William N. Bentley, W. M., also a large number from Markhamville No. 90, W. A. McFarlane, W. M., and Sussex Lodge No. 124. The Hon. B. B. Bentley, W. M., James Wilson, past-master of No. 44, acted as King William, and Thomas M. Rodgers as director of ceremonies. Past master Bentley came up from St. John to take part and he and Rev. Mr. Thomas gave stirring addresses. There was a large number present.

TWO PARTICIPANTS IN EUROPEAN CIRCUIT RACE SOARING OVER PICTURESQUE LOWLAND COUNTRY

Rare in the annals of photography is the picture shown here of Mons. Garros in flight above an old windmill in the plains of Holland. It shows the ancient and modern handiwork of man in close juxtaposition.

Mons. Garros and Mons. Garros were among the leaders in the European circuit all the way from Paris to London.

Perhaps the most interesting step made by the European circuit air race in their whole international trip just ended, was at quaint and beautiful old Utrecht in Holland. In the story of their experiences there the correspondent of the London said:—"The picturesque and gaily decorated aerodrome at Soesterberg, was a centre of pilgrimage for hundreds of sportsmen from all parts of Holland, who joined the inhabitants of Utrecht in giving an enthusiastic reception to the aviators from Liege. The ground is a square patch of heather. The grand stand and sheds line two sides of it, and thick pine woods stand opposite. The trail tower of Utrecht Cathedral, six miles away, shows on the horizon, a small finger of violet gray."

The organizers had done everything to make the event a national one. All the buildings were gay with flags, but the sky was grey, and the wind, which was fairly strong gave some anxiety to the organizers whose greatest wish was that the beautiful sun wreaths and trophies which had been prepared for the victors should not wither before they had been won. However, telegrams had barely arrived from Liege to the airport, when the first departure was made. This was the beginning of one of the most superb spectacles that aviation has ever provided. First Vidart, then Garros, then Beaumont, then Weyman appeared on the horizon, all within the space of 20 minutes. Vidart whose name has been made popular by his flight to Liege took Garros' place at the writing table and signed away whilst giving an account of his journey. My luggage left my handkerchief behind me.

"It was while this ceremony was proceeding that another bomb announced the second arrival. This was the beginning of one of the most superb spectacles that aviation has ever provided. First Vidart, then Garros, then Beaumont, then Weyman appeared on the horizon, all within the space of 20 minutes. Vidart whose name has been made popular by his flight to Liege took Garros' place at the writing table and signed away whilst giving an account of his journey. My luggage left my handkerchief behind me."

THE KING AND FLAG OF ENGLAND.

Hath not the hour and sorrow passed away,
In this glad dawning of a wondrous day,
When through our Empire shouts of triumph ring
To acclaim the solemn crowning of our King?
Unfold the English Flag to every breeze,
Send forth this message o'er the Seven Seas:
"Behold one Flag, by one great nation flown
In token of one homage to one Throne."
Mark well that Flag, by God Almighty's grace,
The emblem of the glories of our race;
From tarnish of dishonor keep it free
As in the past, through all the years to be;
Splendid with ancient glories proudly worn,
Noble weight of sorrow greatly borne,
Pledge of our Trust, as all the ages run
We strongly hold what we have won,
Red for the blood of English heroes shed,
Who nurtured England for us when she bled;
White for the Faith that England shall hold true
To God whose sky is as the Flag's own blue;
Blue for the blood that marks our pride of race
Red for the blush that kindles at disgrace.

White for the purity of hope and aim
To keep undimmed the honor of our name.
King of our England, when you don your Crown,
Think of this Flag and England's high renown;
Symbol of all our joy, and all our tears,
Pointing to a large endeavor through the years,
Keep o'er it ever faithful watch and ward
For England, and the Glory of the Lord.
That England with this stainless Flag in view
May keep her faith in God, her faith in you.
