PRINCIPAL FIGURES IN THE TRIAL OF BEATTIE FOR WIFE MURDER

Here are some of the more important figures in the trial of Henry Clay Beattie, Jr. for alleged murder. In the centre of the panel will be seen Paul Beattie, a cousin of the accused, who testified that Henry told him "he had done it," referring to the murder of Beattie's wife, on the night of July 18. Miss Henrietta Pittman declared that Beattie told Beulah Binford, "the other girl" in the case, that he, Beattie, would get rid of his wife. May Stuart swore that Beattie and the Binford girl were at her house the night before the murder. The other portraits are those of L. L. Scherer, who worked up the case against young Beattie, and Hill Carter, counsel for the defence.
