After a most successful week's business the St. John Exhibition of 1912 was brought to a close on Saturday night. The total attendance for the fair reached the mark of 82,159.

Nearly five thousand people passed through the turnstiles on Saturday, and the exhibition was kept in full swing up till the hour for closing. The attractions continued all day and until ten o'clock in the evening, and in addition to the regular entertainment features, a protechual display from Bonnette's balloon was a special drawing card in the evening.

Children's Day. Saturday was children's day, being set aside especially for the school children of the city. Of these hundreds arrived during the morning and early afternoon, and during the day the fair grounds had the appearance of a picnic ground as the youngsters rode on the merry-go-round and enjoyed themselves at various side shows along the pike.

A Busy Time. The closing day was a busy one and well filled with events. Although the judging had been completed in most of the departments, a few entries remained and awards made in these during the day. The general offices were the rendezvous of the prize winners during the afternoon, and the staff was kept busy issuing checks for the prize money to the successful competitors in the different departments.

St. John Men COMMISSIONERS WILL HAVE MUCH TO TAKE UP TODAY. Local Capital to be Utilized to Develop Large and Valuable Fire Clay Deposits in Queens County. Ratification of Agreement re Greenhead Property Sale Will be Most Important Matter—Other Business.

The regular public meeting of the city commission will be held today. Among the matters to come up is the ratification of the agreement to sell the Greenhead property to the Partridge interests for $38,700 without any condition regarding the uses to which the property may be put.

The commissioner of public works will call attention to the fact that the I. C. R. has not yet done anything in the matter of placing rails on the overhead bridges to protect the foot passengers, and will urge that another communication be sent to the railway authorities.

The question of fixing up the sidewalk on King Square will be considered, as well as the question of discontinuing Nelson street on the West Side. It is not expected that Commissioner McLellan will have a report on the police inquiry, as he has not completed his investigations, which were discontinued during exhibition week when the police force was well occupied.

Now For Feather Pillows. F. A. Dykeman & Co. are going to have a sale of Bed Feather Pillows on Tuesday morning that will astonish the householders of St. John. ST. JOHN MEN GO TO ATTEND CONVENTION

Delegates to Canadian Labor Congress Off to Guelph.

TO INVITE BODY TO MEET HERE IN 1913. St. John Trades and Labor Council will Have Several Important Matters to Bring Before the Convention.

James Surue, president of the St. John Trades and Labor Council; John Montague, of the longshoremen's union; John Scott, of the carpenters' and Herman Campbell, of the printers, have left for Guelph, Ontario, to attend the annual meeting of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada. It is the intention of the St. John delegation to do their utmost to try to get the workingmen's parliament to hold its convention next year in this city, and they are supplied with badges and literature intended to persuade the delegates that St. John is the best city in Canada for holding a labor parliament.

The city commissioners decided to send an invitation to the congress to come here next year, and have agreed to give the delegates a meal on the river, and place one of the rinks at their disposal as a meeting place.

Among the matters which the St. John delegation will bring to the attention of the congress is that of placing a permanent organizer in the Maritime Provinces, and extending the sphere of trade unionism to the smaller towns of Eastern Canada. They will also ask the congress to support the resolution of the local Trades and Labor Council calling upon the federal government to provide for the installation of public baths in the basement of the new post office building, as is done in some other cities.

It is expected that the convention of the congress this year will be marked by interesting scenes, as it is said the delegates from British Columbia where the provincial federation of labor has recently adopted the socialist programme, will make an effort to commit the congress to a declaration in favor of socialism.

Minister of Labor May Attend. It is reported that Hon. T. W. Crothers has accepted an invitation to attend the congress and watch the proceedings and in view of the fact that the federal government is in power it is expected a good deal of attention will be given to the question of obtaining better federal labor legislation, and that the western miners have been up in arms for some time against the Lemieux Law, and will demand its repeal or that it be modified so as to give the workers a fair deal. The railway men are demanding reform legislation, and the Allen Labor Law will again receive attention. In fact most of the labor laws passed by the late government will be under fire, as they have been nearly every year, without however, convincing the Laurier government that it did not know as much about the interests of the workers as the congress did.

One matter to be brought up at the instance of the executive of the congress is that of asking for amendments to the Dominion Election Acts, providing that election days shall be public holidays and abolishing the deposits candidates are now required to put up.

Another Convention. A convention of longshoremen, coal handlers, tugboat men, and dredge workers, has been called to meet in Boston on the 20th inst. to form a North Atlantic Division of the Longshore Workers' International Union.

Some of the longshore workers have selected John Montague, and G. Langbein to represent St. John at the convention on the 20th inst. The division is formed it will be possible to put two permanent organizers in the field, one of whom will operate in American ports and the other devoting his attention to the Atlantic ports of Canada.

While on his way to Halifax, T. V. O'Connors, the grand president of the international was called to the Great Lakes on account of trouble breaking out in one of the ports there.

A WANDERING RAT FINDS LODGEMENT IN KING ST. HOTEL. A large rat walked up the King street sidewalk a quarter to ten last evening, and made quite a commotion. Shrieks of women as they displayed their hostility and abounded, marked his progress; laughter of the men and boys followed in his train. Untroubled by the excitement, the rat kept on his way. Apparently he was looking for a new boarding house. When he came to the Victoria Hotel he decided that it looked good to him, and marched into the door, passed the guests seated round the lobby and over to the clerk's desk.

As he stood looking around for a room to lodge, the start of the hotel observed him, and started to give him a warm welcome. Soon Mr. Rat was leading a procession of brooms, mops and walking sticks around the lobby while a crowd of spectators gathered without and watched with roasting amusement, the chase.

Seldom has a guest at a hotel received more attention. In the end he was given a room for the night in the baggage receptacle.
