

The celebrated Quinine Wine as prepared by Campbell is a specific in all diseases which cause debility.

CAUTION !

Gray's Syrup of Red Spruce Gum

(Registered According to Law)

The public are respectfully cautioned against the numerous infringements which are being placed on the market, bearing names as nearly like the above as possible, and which are evidently intended to be palmed off on unsuspecting customers, when Syrup of Red Spruce Gum, or as the public generally designate our preparation, Syrup of Spruce Gum, is asked for.

GRAY'S SYRUP has, by its own peculiar merit, obtained a reputation not only in Montreal and vicinity, but in all parts of the Dominion and neighboring States; and the public may rest assured that no efforts will be spared by the present proprietors to maintain its good name, both by scrupulous care in every detail of its manufacture, and by doing their utmost to protect their customers from the base imitations alluded to.

Every bottle of the Genuine bears the name of H. R. Gray, Montreal, blown in the glass; all others are counterfeit.

Some of these substitutions are manufactured by parties who are neither Physicians, Apothecaries, nor Chemists; and one of these so-called Syrups is, Pharmaceutically, not a Syrup at all, but an unskillfully prepared watery emulsion—the larger profit made by unscrupulous storekeepers being the tempting bait held out to induce them to deceive their customers.

So far, we are happy to say that no respectable Chemist has admitted these compounds into his store; and the great majority of our country merchants, of any reputation, have refused to receive them even on consignment.

In the meantime, we promise our patrons, both wholesale and retail, that every legal effort will be made to bring the parties implicated in these transactions to justice.
