Household Hints For Women

CONCERNING CHARITY.

Thanksgiving Day brings us the appeal of those excellent organized charities that are indispensable in modern civilization. Out of our own abundance it behooves us to aid every worthy association that benefits the poor, the orphan and the aged. We ourselves shall not receive the rich benefit we ought if we limit our alms to these sources. Out of our own basket and store, in delicate, silent and unobstrusive ways, shall we not add at this time to the joy of those who never ask help, who suffer without complaint, and who would sooner die than be assisted from the relief funds of any society. Most of us have friends or kindred of this sort, and we may not evade the precious chance Thanksgiving brings us to send them something that will brighten their lives. Each home should have other homes in mind that may be united in a chain of invisible beneficence at this season.

THANKSGIVING ALWAYS.

In 1876 12 1-2 per cent. was paid up, and in 1897 another call brought the paid-up capital to 15 per cent. In 1897 the company was thinking of entering the State of New York and required $100,000 additional capital to meet the law there.
